Established 1840.

IMPORTERS and MANUFACTURERS of EVERY DESCRIPTION of SADDLERY and HARNESS, &c.

Our Showrooms are replete with every description of Saddlery and Harness, Portmanteaux, Trunks, Bags, and an immense variety of other travelling requisites. Besides being large importers of ENGLISH, AMERICAN, and CONTINENTAL GOODS, we employ a large number of SKILLED WORKMEN on the premises in the manufacture of goods pertaining to our business. It is freely conceded by all that the SADDLERY and HARNESS, &c., turned out by our workmen will bear favourable comparison with the BEST WORK TURNED OUT IN ANY PART OF THE WORLD—LONDON NOT EXCEPTED—which a reputation of half a century and our numerous testimonials will fully support.

WE MAY HERE STATE that our LONDON HARNESS is the best procurable, and all made to our own specifications — price not being so much a consideration as a FIRST-CLASS ARTICLE; while at the same time all unnecessary expenditure is avoided, and it is no exaggeration to say that we can supply our English harness at as low, if not less, price than it can be bought for at any retail house in London, besides the advantage to the purchaser of having their horses properly fitted and a harness supplied adapted to the style of vehicle for which it is required.

Our Stock of Ladies and Gentlemen's Saddles is very large and extremely varied in style, including HUNTING and PARK SADDLES of the most approved shapes; also BOYS and GIRLS' PILCHES, CHILDREN'S RIDING CHAIRS, PANNIERS, &c.

STABLE REQUISITES, such as compositions, oils, brushes, chamoises, sponges, axle grease, vaseline, hoppiemuroma, we are supplying at LONDON PRICES, and in some cases less.

EASTER IS COMING.

And Easter usually brings with it cold weather. It is, therefore, good policy to speak of warm things.

WARM WEAR FOR BOYS.

A TREAT for the wearers, a TONIC for the parents, who pay such a little for such nice garments.

BLUE NAP REEFER COAT, Double-breasted, with Anchor Buttons, a strong, stylish, natty little coat for youngsters, in sizes 0 to 6, 7s 11d.

Or, in superior quality, sizes 000 to 8, 8s 3d.

BOYS' NAVAL REEFERS, made of our celebrated DREADNOUGHT SERGE, fast colour, with Anchor Buttons, sizes 000 to 9, 8s 6d; or, in superior quality, 12s 6d.

OUR BOYS' REEFERS, in a pretty shade of Brown Twilled Serge, neatly bound, best Silk Buttons, sizes 000 to 6, 10s 6d.

THEN, FOR BIGGER BOYS,

we are offering some exceptionally nice garments of Autumn character as follow:—CHESTERFIELD OVERCOAT, of Fine Melton Cloth, in Brown, Grey, Black, or Blue, with Velvet Collar to match, stylishly cut and well made. Please note, there is only a limited number of this line. All sizes, 13s 6d.

OUR BOYS' FRIEND IN NEED.—Tweed Macintosh Coat, ABSOLUTELY WATERPROOF, Scarboro' Shape, with deep Cape, Brown, Fawn, or Dark Grey. The Coat is extra long, is sewn throughout, and the prices are—Boys', 17s 6d; Youths', 21s.

OUR SHOWROOMS.

There are two of them, one on top of the other. Both are beautiful, and the one on top is reached by a convenient, easy-graded staircase, to mount which is an absolute luxury. The SHOWROOM underneath is devoted to MILLINERY, ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS, Ladies' Underclothing and Sunshades, exhibiting the most unique and perfect assortment of goods, while the SHOWROOM above is given up to MANTLES, COSTUMES, and kindred Garments for Ladies and Children. We flatter ourselves that

BOTH THESE SHOWROOMS

ARE WONDERFULLY ATTRACTIVE, BEING CRAMMED WITH THE AUTUMN FASHIONS.

Smart in the highest degree are the Novelties shown in our UPPER SHOWROOM. They make up the largest and most recherché collection of FASHION DELICACIES ever seen in Australia. There is everything that the season has brought forth worth having; all those novel designs and transportingly lovely combinations, for which the

are remarkable being present in full force. We need hardly add that our low prices are a powerful inducement to buy. Following are a few leading lines:—

THE "LILY," a charming Plush Mantelette, in novel design, for young ladies, trimmed Feather, lined Silk throughout, 31s 6d.

Same style, trimmed handsome Jet Passementerie and Ribbon, 33s; or trimmed Thibet Fur, 37s 6d and 39s 6d.

THE "NOVELETTE," a stylish "Cape," made of superior Lyons Velvet Plush, trimmed real Ostrich Feather and rich Jet Passementerie, and lined Silk throughout, 47s 6d, 55s, 62s, 80s.

THE "STELLA," in Lyons Velvet Plush, a smart matronly-looking Mantle, trimmed Japanese Fox, handsome Jet or Sequins, lined Silk throughout, 42s 6d, 51s, 63s, 72s 6d.

Same Style, in plain or rich Brocaded Silk, 42s 6d, 45s, 50s, 60s.

THE "STEPHANIE," in rich Plush, an elegant three-quarter Mantle, very dressy and effective design, trimmed Ostrich Tips, Jet Trimmings or Thibet Lamb, 65s, 72s, 82s, 92s, 105s.

THE "BEATRICE," a very useful and comfortable Mantle, of three-quarter length, in Fancy Brocaded Cloth, lined Silk throughout, and interlined for extra warmth, trimmed Fur, 50s, 55s.

NOVELTIES IN SHORT, DRESSY EVENING CLOAKS, in Cashmere, Serge, and Crepon, lined throughout with various shades of Surah Silk, trimmed Thibet Fur, Moire Silk and rich Passementerie, 19s 6d, 21s, 25s, 31s, to 105s.

FURS.

There is a strong similarity between the fashions of to-day and those of days long ago. Before the world knew aught of the arts of civilisation, and of those many methods which tend to bring comfort to humanity, the skins of animals were commonly used for purposes of dress. The animal was slain and skinned, and after a rough preparation, in which the rays of the sun played the leading part, the skin did duty as covering for "that lordly creature, man," or for "woman, lovely woman, oh." Modern methods have changed all this, the FURS OF COMMERCE of the present day being masterpieces of patient manipulation and careful treatment. The following are a few of the

SEASON'S NOVELTIES IN FURS

now displayed in our Upper Showroom:—

THE "CIRCLET," in real Sable, with Spring mouth, 10s 6d, 15s 9d, 19s 6d, 29s.

THE "CROSSOVER," in real Sable, 19s 6d, 22s 6d, 29s 6d.

THE BUTTERFLY PELERINE, in Black or Brown Fur, 8s 9d, 10s 6d, 12s 6d; same style, in Llama, beautifully tinted, 17s 6d, 21s, 2?s 6d; or Beaver, 47s 6d.

BOAS, with shaped Collars, in Black Thibet Lamb, 9s 6d, 15s 9d, 25s 6d; same style, in Beaver or Bear, 42s, 47s 6d, 67s 6d.

VICTORIA, in Beaver and Bear, 42s, 47s 6d, 67s 6d.

THE JACKET TRADE.

The present season ushers in what promises to be a remarkable one in relation to Ladies' Jackets. Our London Buyers tell us Jackets have been apparently the one thing needful at home, and have had the greatest run known for many years. Manufacturers have been besieged, the Continental centres have been largely levied upon, until every factory and every firm were beside themselves to cope with orders there was little chance of executing.

IN THE CALM AND QUIET

prior to this unparalleled demand our Buyers were at work, our orders were in hand, our goods being shipped. That they have anticipated the call upon our stocks, that they have reasonably concluded what has occupied so much prominence in London will surely reach us here, may be gathered from the comprehensive list of qualities and styles we append below, and are showing in the department.

IT SHOULD BE BORNE IN MIND

that all the JACKETS we draw attention to are either of London or Berlin manufacture, are of good materials, well-made, and elegant in cut. Black and Navy are pronounced the leading shades; but there are many Tans, Browns, Greys, and Fawn shades that are popular as well. Double-breast, tight-fitting, and open fronts are a matter of taste; we have them all, and in every necessary size, for slight, medium, and stout figures.

STYLISH WINTER JACKETS

"We consider the value of deep breathing and scientific voice production was very clearly demonstrated during the concert. All the pupils sang with an amount of culture and evenness very rarely found in even finished students, while the evenness of tone, delicate modulations, and general freedom from effort in singing, spoke eloquently of the excellence of the Italian school of voice production adopted by Madame Trevelli."—Vide Auckland Star, 4th September, 1894.

"MRS. HARLE IS LOST."

This is the cry of many who tell us they have tramped for days trying to find her New Residence.

Yet she isn't so very far away. You could shoot her with a rifle if you stood at the old Dispensary in Hunter-street and she stood in front of her new Central Dispensary at

219 ELIZABETH-STREET,
Hyde Park, between Park and Bathurst streets.

Country Patients in Scores will wish to know where she is during the Holidays, therefore we issue this notice for their special benefit.

All the World knows the wonderful virtues of her Medicines; and as half New South Wales and his wife will want to get them sooner or later (if it's only Corn Cure or Toothache Cure, or Cough Balsam this winter) don't forget that Mrs. HARLE and her REMEDIES are at the above address, also at Anthony Hordern's, Washington Soul's, all Pattinson's shops, Grace Bros., and all leading Medicine Vendors, whilst Newtown and Parramatta each have their Branches, and Newcastle its magnificent Show of our own and everybody's.

Now, then, whether it's a pain in your toe or a pain in your tooth, or anywhere between toes and teeth, you need not suffer.

ALL ADVICE IS FREE,
and if Mrs. HARLE can't cure you

A RARE TREAT.

It is quite a treat in these times, when all the city is filled with cheap goods (which are dear at any price), to see a Tip-top Photographer like EDEN, opposite Railway, offer 6 Enamelled Cabinets and a Large Opal for 6s 6d; and it is a further treat to know that EDEN does not intend to make up a good price by charging extras for Enamelling or Resitting. There is no elevator for ladies or children to ascend; and although the price is the cheapest in Sydney for such high-class Photos., the whole work will display the most cultured taste, while the Cabinets will not be put on mounts of a gaudy scolloped-edge pattern, such as usually stamps the photo. of cheap studios. EDEN will not raise his prices in a month. Appointments are now being made for the Easter Holidays. Studios in George-street, opposite Railway.

PROSPECTUS of the NEW SOUTH WALES DISTILLERY COMPANY (LIMITED).

To be incorporated under the Companies Acts, 1874 and 1888, whereby the Liability of the Shareholders is limited to the amount of their Shares.

CAPITAL—£50,000, in 50,000 SHARES OF £1 EACH.

The Shares are now offered for subscription as follows:—2s on Application, 2s on Allotment; Calls of not more than 2s per Share at intervals of not less than three months, if required; but it is fully anticipated that not more than 6s per share will be called up.

Provisional Directors:
THOMAS SAYWELL, Esq., Merchant, Sydney.
THOMAS BARLOW, Esq., Merchant, Sydney.
W. M. M. ARNOLD, Esq., Member of the Sydney Stock Exchange.
CAPTAIN BENNETT, Roseville, North Sydney.
JAMES MOUNTFORD, Esq., Retired English Merchant (now of Manly).

Bankers: UNION BANK OF AUSTRALIA, Limited, George and King streets Branch.

Solicitor: M. J. BROWN, Esq., 44 Elizabeth-street, Sydney.

Engineer: FRANZ VOLK, Marion-street, Leichhardt.

Secretary pro tem.: E. VILES, Esq., Accountant, 8 Bridge-street.

This Company is being formed for the purpose of establishing, as one of the staple industries of this colony, the manufacture of pure grape brandy and genuine malt whisky, and for carrying on the general business of a distiller.

The experience afforded by similar undertakings in England, Scotland, and America proves that, under good management and favourable conditions, a distillery is a certain source of wealth. In Great Britain and America, despite the keen competition that is ever to be found in great industrial centres, the distilling of spirits has always proved a highly profitable commercial investment. Distillers have founded great families, have lavished their unbounded wealth upon schemes for the benefit of their fellow-men, and as employers of labour have secured and retained the confidence of their employees.

Such being the condition of this great branch of national commerce in the older countries of the Northern Hemisphere, what reason is there why a similar success should not be attained in the Australasian Colonies? The population is small by comparison, but the field is virgin soil. The raw material is to be purchased in this colony at a lower price than in Great Britain, France, or America, skilled management and efficient labour are at hand, the spirit will be purer than is possible where competition is keen, and the market is open. Our Victorian neighbours have not been slow to grasp the possibilities of this branch of commerce, and in the sister colony distilleries have already been established with such a measure of success that the future of the trade is well assured, whilst the cost of manufacture is so small that a profitable avenue for the sale of the spirit has been found by its exportation to England, where it successfully competes with its rivals in a market hitherto wedded to certain well-known brands.

What has been carried out in Victoria may be emulated in this colony, and it is confidently anticipated that this Company will be able to secure, not only the major portion of the trade in N.S.W., but, from the superior advantages possessed by Sydney as a port of shipment, to extend its business into other colonies, and to find a place in the markets of the world.

The importation of spirits into this colony for the past eight years averages over 1,000,000 gallons per annum. Of this quantity it may be estimated that 227,000 gallons consist of brandy and 478,000 gallons of whisky. In a distillery there are many sources of revenue; but if this Company can secure only one-fourth of the total above mentioned the success of the undertaking will be assured, and the shareholders will reap a rich return for their investments.

DISTILLATION OF GRAPE BRANDY.

In placing before the public the true position of this Company, account must be taken of the extent of the raw materials required for the manufacture. In all parts of the world the bulk of the brandy manufactured is distilled from grain. In plain terms, it is only a grain spirit coloured and flavoured. This Company will make no attempt to foist upon an unwitting public any such spirit. In the distillation of brandy nothing will be employed but grapes and wine, the spirit from which will possess the natural flavour and be infinitely purer than what may be not inaptly termed an "artificial" product. There are in the colony nearly 2800 vinegrowers, who collectively grow over 6000 tons of grapes besides manufacturing over 1,000,000 gallons of wine annually. It is a fact needing no proof that a large proportion of the grapes grown never reaches the market. Prices are reduced to such a minimum that profit cannot be realised. Thousands of gallons of wine are annually manufactured which are wholly unsaleable, and unsuited for export. This Company provides an outlet for both grape and wine, at prices which, in bulk quantities, would both prove remunerative and offer an incentive to further production. Thus fresh avenues for the employment of labour would be opened, and a national benefit result. As has been already stated, it is proposed to distil the brandy from wine products only, a fact which will, under proper management, secure a class of spirit hitherto attainable in this colony only at an expense quite beyond the means of the ordinary consumer. The distillation of a pure, unadulterated, wholesome brandy from products grown in this colony is a great desideratum. It will tend to decrease drunkenness, will advance the cause of morality, will open wide fields for grape-growing, and provide work for a large percentage of the unemployed.

MALT WHISKY.

A large proportion of the whisky now imported into this colony is merely a grain product as distinguished from a pure malt spirit. There has been found some difficulty in N.S.W. in properly malting the barley required, but the site selected for the operations of the Company is admirably adapted for this purpose, and advantage will be taken of this opportunity to distil a high-class whisky, superior in all respects to the bulk of imported spirits. At the present time there are only 9000 acres under cultivation for barley, producing 92,000 bushels of grain. But, in addition, there is a large area sown with barley for feed purposes alone. The establishment of this distillery will therefore afford an excellent market for the grain, and lead to the permanent cultivation of large areas at present unproductive.

PROSPECTS OF THE COMPANY.

Having in view the foregoing facts this Company is offered to the public as a sound commercial investment. The shareholders, bearing in mind the genuine success which has been attained in Victoria, may, with the utmost confidence, anticipate a like measure of prosperity, and the promoters have no hesitation in affirming that this will prove one of the most remunerative investments for capital.

It is anticipated that in view of the undoubted industrial advantages of this Company as a means for the employment of labour, and the production of a spirit pure and unadulterated, and of such a character as not to inflict injury upon the consumers, a proposition for a differential excise will be placed before the Legislature. The encouragement of local industries is a legitimate function of the Government, and the promoters have every reason to believe that a substantial concession will be made.

SITE.

It is proposed to erect the Distillery Works on the Nepean River, where excellent water is obtainable, and some 24 acres of land have been secured.

MACHINERY.

Most of the machinery will be constructed in Sydney, under the immediate supervision of the Manager, who is conversant with its construction in all details, with the latest patented improvements. The cost will be much less, by some hundreds of pounds, than if a complete plant were imported.

The Company's works will contain every acknowledged improvement known to science for the production of the purest spirits at a minimum cost.

MANAGEMENT.

The services of Mr. A. Greenwald, a practical manager of long experience and high reputation, have been secured. His report is annexed, and he gives it as his opinion that the site selected is eminently suitable, being well supplied with permanent water, easily accessible by rail, and otherwise well adapted for the purpose.

MR. ADOLPH GREENWALD'S REPORT.

As to my experience as a practical distiller, I may state that I joined Messrs. Fratelli, Branca, and Cie., of Milan, Italy, a year subsequent to the formation of that Company, when the daily output was only 400 gallons. By economical management and careful treatment in the distillation, the production was increased in a brief period to 1600 gallons a day. The firm was successfully floated into a limited liability company, with a capital of £1,000,000, and most profitable returns to the shareholders.

One of the most important improvements introduced by me was the use of patent machinery, which eliminated the fusil oil and higher alcohols during the process of distillation. No chemicals were at any time used in the manufacture of the spirit, which was thus essentially pure and unadulterated.

From my personal experience of many years, I am confident I can produce from the machinery which I agree to erect—a facsimile of that employed by me in Italy—a high class of spirit, equal to any now imported.

I am of opinion that the establishment of this Company will prove a great boon to wine and barley growers, and will provide fresh avenues for the employment of labour. So satisfied am I with the future prospects of the industry in the colony, that I have taken shares in the Company equal to a liability of £1000 sterling.

(Signed) A. GREENWALD.

The only contracts that have been made on behalf of this Company are the following, viz.:—Agreements: Promoters of the one part, and Adolph Greenwald of the other part; and the Promoters of the one part, and Casson Shackell of the other part.

A copy of the abovementioned contracts may be inspected at the office of the Company's Solicitor, M. J. Brown, Esq., 44 Elizabeth-street, Sydney.

The only expenses to be deducted will be the promoters' fees, covering the usual brokerage and expenses out of pocket.

Forms of application for Shares may be obtained from the Secretary pro tem., 8 Bridge-street, Sydney.

ERRORS OF DIET.

Sydney Smith says:—The longer I live the more I am convinced that the apothecary is of more importance than Seneca, and that half the unhappiness of the world proceeds from little stoppages, from a duct choked up, from food pressing in the wrong place, from a vexed duodenum, or an agitated pylorus.

The deception as practised upon human creatures is curious and entertaining. My friend sups late, he eats some strong soup, then a lobster, then some tart, and he dilutes these esculent varieties with wine. The next day I call upon him. He is going to sell his house in London and to retire into the country. He is alarmed for his eldest daughter's health. His expenses are hourly increasing, and nothing but a timely retreat can save him from ruin.

All this is lobster; and when over-excited nature has had time to manage this testaceous encumbrance, the daughter recovers, the finances are in good order, and every rural idea effectually excluded from the mind.

In the same manner old friendships are destroyed by toasted cheese, and hard salt meat has led to suicide. Unpleasant feelings of the body produce correspondent sensations in the mind, and a great scene of wretchedness is caused by a morsel of indigestible and misguided food. Is it not strange that thousands will go on through life with dyspeptic troubles when we have a simple and safe remedy in

ABRAHAM'S PILLS?

All that is necessary is a little ATTENTION TO DIET and perseverance in these celebrated Pills to completely CORRECT ALL THESE TROUBLES.

LITERARY GOSSIP.

Australian readers will welcome Messrs. Melville, Mullen, and Slade's announcement that a complete collection of Miss Jennings Carmichael's poetry is now in course of publication. The edition, we may add, is to be a limited one.

Mr. Nat Gould has received an intimation from his London publishers, Messrs. George Routledge and Sons, that they will accept his two next novels, "Only a Commoner" and "A Golden Land." This well-known firm has already issued seven novels for Mr. Gould, all of which have had a large sale. The author has received a lucrative offer from the firm, and he sails for London in the Orizaba to-day to fulfil the engagement.

The Trilby fad in America has reached the length of having a Trilby entertainment. The Trilby Evening was the invention of the Quiet Toilers, an organisation of Haywards society girls, who work for charity. The studio where Trilby appears was charmingly fitted up. The paintings were lent by San Francisco artists, and several of them were European productions of value. Everything was as close to the detail of Trilby as possible. The songs included "Ben Bolt" and the now celebrated "Bon jour-Suzanne." The readings were scattered through the book, commencing with Trilby's first appearance in the studio, and concluding with her death. The programmes were on grey paper—grey being the colour of the club—and on the back of them was the quotation:—

A little work, a little play,
To keep us going, and so good day!
A little warmth, a little light
Of love's bestowing, and so good-night!
A little fun to match the sorrow
Of each day's growing, and so good-morrow!
A little trust that when we die
We reap our sowing! and so, good-bye!

The programme was finished with a sketch of the Trilby book and a candle burned out in the socket.

The Bookbuyer, published by Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons, of New York, contains a complete reprint of the "Trudeau Dedications" of Robert Louis Stevenson. Dr. E. L. Trudeau was the physician at whose home Stevenson lived at Saranac Lake, in the Adirondack Mountains, during parts of 1887 and 1888. When he left he asked Messrs. Scribner's Sons, his American publishers, to have a complete set of his works bound in uniform style, 15 volumes, in half white vellum, each volume lettered at the top of the back in black ink, "Dr. Trudeau's set." The literary interest, however, for the public consists of the fact that in each volume Stevenson wrote a short impromptu dedication in verse. We take the following examples from the Bookbuyer:—

"A CHILD'S GARDEN OF VERSES."
—To win your lady (if, alas! it may be)
Let's couple this one with the name of Baby!

"TREASURE ISLAND."
I could not choose a patron for each one;
But this perhaps is chiefly for your son.

"KIDNAPPED."
—Here is the one sound page of all my writing,
The one I'm proud of, and that I delight in.

"DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE."
Trudeau was all the winter at my side;
I never spied the nose of Mr. Hyde.

"UNDERWOODS."
Some day or other ('tis a general curse)
The wisest author stumbles into verse.

"THE DYNAMITER."
As both my wife and I composed the thing,
Let's place it under Mrs. Trudeau's wing.

"MEMORIES AND PORTRAITS."
Greeting to all your household, small and big,
In this one instance, not forgetting—Nig!

"THE MERRY MEN."
If just to read the tale you should be able,
I would not bother to make out the fable.

"TRAVELS WITH A DONKEY."
It blew, it rained, it thawed, it snowed, it thundered—
Which was the Donkey? I have often wondered!

"PRINCE OTTO."
This is my only love tale, this Prince Otto,
Which some folks like to read and others not to.

"MEMOIR OF FLEEMING JENKIN."
The preface mighty happy to get back
To its inclement birthplace, Saranac!

"FAMILIAR STUDIES OF MEN AND BOOKS."
My other works are of a slighter kind;
Here is the party to improve your MIND!

"VIRGINIBUS PUERISQUE."
I have no art to please a lady's mind.
Here's the least acid spot,
Miss Trudeau, of the lot.
If you'd just try this volume, 'twould be kind!

Mr. David Nutt is projecting yet another series. It is to be called the Northern Library, and the first volume will be "The Saga of King Olaf Tryggwason," translated by the Rev. John Sephton. Volumes to appear later are "The Ambales Saga," edited and translated by Mr. Israel Gollancz, and "The Faereyinga Saga," translated by Mr. F. York Powell.

Four volumes have been definitely arranged for in the Century Science Series which Sir Henry Roscoe is to edit for Messrs. Cassell. Sir Henry himself will write on Dalton and the rise of modern chemistry, Mr. Clements R. Markham on Rennell and English geography, Mr. W. A. Shenstone on Liebig, and Miss Agnes M. Clerke on the Herschels. The idea of the series is to deal concurrently with the great scientific advances of the century, and the personalities most intimately connected with these. Professor Poulton will probably contribute a volume on Darwin and the origin of species, Dr. Armand Ruffer another on Pasteur and his work, and Professor Sylvanus Thompson a third on Michael Faraday.

Mr. John C. Nimmo will publish shortly an important illustrated work on "Early Venetian Printing." It will contain more than 200 pages of facsimiles of the finest books printed at Venice during the Italian renaissance. These plates, in black and red and colours, illustrate the type, the initials, the fine woodcuts, printers' badges, and watermarks which make the books of this period unique as works of art. A note on the beautiful bindings of the Italian renaissance has been added, and is illustrated with reproductions of the more notable and elaborate specimens. The work will have an introduction by the Prefect of the Marciana Library at Venice.

The splendid library of the late Canon Cook, which is one of the finest collections of patristic and liturgical literature in England, was bequeathed by him to Selwyn College, Cambridge, and it is intended to place the books (about 5000 volumes) in the building which is now used as a temporary chapel, as it is hoped that the new chapel will be completed early in the autumn.

It is stated that the Queen is considering the possibility of inaugurating a literary order of merit for the recognition of the services of those who, as journalists or writers of books, may be considered to have done good work. The idea (says the London correspondent of the Birmingham Post) is not a new one, as, shortly prior to his decease, the Prince Consort favourably entertained it, and had he lived it might have been put into execution. The scheme now suggested, it is said, provides for the institution of three grades, the first having 24, the second 100, and the third 250 members, and the order would be exclusively British.

At the principal Probate Registry the will of Sir John Robert Seeley, K.C.M.G., Professor of Modern History at Cambridge University, has been proved by Dame Mary Agnes Seeley, testator's widow and sole executrix, by whom the personalty is sworn at £2340.

Of Lord Acton, who has been chosen by the Prime Minister to fill the vacant chair of Regius Professor of Modern History in the University of Cambridge, the Times writes as follows:—The new Professor is by birth and education a Roman Catholic, and he is probably the first member of that faith who has held high office in either of our national universities since the reign of James II. His opinions, at the same time, are generally believed to be of a kind which do not commend themselves to the authorities of his Church, or even to the great majority of its lay members in these islands. He is a pupil of Dr. Dollinger; he strenuously defended the views of his old teacher during the Vatican Council, and, in the controversy over Mr. Gladstone's attacks upon "Vaticanism," he contributed several letters to our columns which were regarded with suspicion in Roman Catholic quarters. Lord Acton enjoys a high reputation for learning both in this country and in Germany amongst those best able to judge. But, while his conversation reveals at every turn an intimate acquaintance with works the very existence of which is unknown to the great body of instructed Englishmen, his acknowledged contributions to literature are singularly few. Perhaps the best known amongst them are his "Letter to a German Bishop, a member of the Vatican Council," which provoked a reply of characteristic vigour from Dr. Ketteler, the pugnacious Bishop of Mainz, and a pamphlet on the same subject. An article in the Quarterly on "Wolsey and the Divorce of Henry VIII.;" a couple of letters on Liberty; an essay on modern German historical science in the English Historical Review, which won the approbation of erudite Teutons, while it perplexed some simple Saxons, may be named amongst the rest. It would not, indeed, be easy to name very many more, but, on the other hand, a considerable number of anonymous writings have been attributed, rightly or wrongly, to Lord Acton from time to time. Perhaps the most important of these was a series of articles on the proceedings of the Vatican Council, which appeared while that body was in session in the Allgemeine Zeitung and attracted great attention both in Germany and in other countries.

The intimation, conveyed by an advertisement in the Herald, that a biography of the late Rev. William Branthwaite Clarke, M.A., F.R.S., F.L.S., &c., is in preparation is of interest. The advertisement invites persons who may be possessed of letters or documents written by Mr. Clarke to communicate with Mr. M. W. S. Clarke, at the offices of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, Sydney.

A final disposition of the Tilden trust fund has been decided upon, and an announcement of the plan, which involves the creation of a great public library, was made in New York on 4th March. This plan, the details of which are now practically completed, provides for the consolidation of the Astor and Lenox libraries, the Tilden fund, and the private library of the late Samuel J. Tilden into one great organisation, comprising a collection of more than 450,000 bound volumes, an immense number of rare and valuable pamphlets, and including property and endowments amounting to more than 8,000,000 dollars. The new library will be known as the "Public Library of the City of New York, Astor, Lenox, and Tilden foundations." The completion of the plan now needs only the formal consent of the boards of trustees of the three institutions, and these, it is said, are practically certain to be gained as soon as the plan of consolidation is officially brought before them for final action. The union of two of the most important libraries in the city of New York and the alliance with them of the Tilden trust and the funds of this library under its control, will complete, perhaps, the greatest educational movement ever attempted in the interest of the citizens of New York. The work was done by these committees appointed from the boards of trustees some time ago:—For the Astor Library: Dr. Thomas L. Markoe, Edward King, president of the Union Trust Company, and John L. Cadwalader; for the Lenox Library, John S. Kennedy, president of the board of trustees, George L. Ives and Alexander Maitland; for the Tilden trust, Andrew H. Green, Alexander E. Orr, and Lewis Cass Ledyard.

CURRENT LITERATURE.

The first part of Mr. Maiden's Flowering Plants and Ferns of New South Wales is issued by the Government Printer, and bears the promise of a beautiful and interesting series. The present number illustrates with much delicacy and success the waratah, the flannel-flower, a gum, and an acacia. It is intended that each part shall include the plates and descriptions of two forest trees (of economic value) and of two flowering shrubs or smaller plants without any utilitarian considerations. The letterpress is accurate without being botanically rigid, and fairly full. The artists associated in this work are Mr. Minchen and Mr. Baron, and Mr. Baker has given assistance. Mr. W. S. Campbell takes part in the editorial duties.

The Tableau Œconomique of François Quesnay has been published in fac-simile for the British Economic Association by Messrs. Macmillan and Co., and is likely to be found interesting by those students of economics who know Quesnay's important place in French finance.

Two works of classical antiquities are issued by Messrs. Macmillan and Co. One is Select Passages from Ancient Writers Illustrative of the History of Greek Sculpture, edited with a translation and notes by Mr. H. Stuart Jones, M.A. This is a work chiefly intended for the candidates at the classical school in Oxford, and is based upon Overbeck's German treatise. The other volume is Schreiber's Atlas of Classical Antiquities, edited by Professor Anderson, of Sheffield. Professor Gardner, in an interesting preface, notices the changed methods of studying the classics which are in harmony with the spirit of the present age, demanding that these writings be no longer pursued as literature solely, but as part of history. We shall seek, he says, from the monuments of the past and the relics that we have for new light into the peoples of antiquity. Just as the Bayeux tapestry brings down from cloudland the Normans of the Conquest, or as the Roman Column revivifies the Dacian war of Trajan, so a faithful series of pictures from classical remains will assist the student to understand his authors and with interest the learner. There are a hundred pages of engravings on plate paper, and there are 192 pages of notes and explanations, very full and not too erudite. It would be a long catalogue to sum up the subjects of these many pages, but they seem, upon a careful inspection, to leave no branch of ancient life without illustration from contemporary art in any form.

Another work of learning, also from the German, but in this case translated by an American professor, is Nernst's Theoretical Chemistry, translated by Professor C. S. Palmer, Ph.D., of Colorado (Macmillan). This work is a survey of the recent great branch of pure chemistry—namely, the new physical chemistry.

In the region of applied science we have from Crosby, Lockwood, and Co. (through Angus and Robertson) Mr. M. Eissler's Cyanide Process for the Extraction of Gold. The object is to obtain the gold by dissolving it in cyanide of potassium. Mr. Eissler asserts that this method has been remarkably successful at the Witwatersrand field in South Africa. It has also been introduced into Western Australia. Metallurgists and gold-seekers will find in Mr. Eissler's book a complete account of the process, with numerous drawings and plans of the plant in the Transvaal. Also from Angus and Robertson comes Strikes, Labour Questions, and other Economic Difficulties, by Alexander W. Johnston, M.A. (Bliss, Sands, and Foster). This is a review of current political questions by a local writer from the standpoint of unimproved land value taxation.

In a little handbook called Varied Occupations in Weaving, published by Messrs. Macmillan, a London headmistress of a Board school, Louisa Walker, aims at explaining a number of simple operations suited to the capacity of children in weaving plain stuff. The basis is Froebelian, and the children may be, in the author's case were, of quite tender years.

From Messrs. Hutchinson and Co. we have an advance copy of a new novel they are publishing by an author unnamed. It is called Passion's Puppets. The story is the infatuation of a new squire, a married man, with the daughter of a strong personality on the estate. They escape danger, but the young lady makes a deplorable match, and disposes of her husband with chloral. It is neither a likable nor a strong book, and on internal evidence would seem to be a woman's.

Mr. James Platt, jun., is the author of Tales of the Supernatural (Simkin, Marshall, and Co.).

The new volume of the Eversley series of Messrs. Macmillan and Co. is Selections from Thoreau, edited with an introduction by Mr. H. S. Salt. It is very unusual in the publications of this house to find a defective book; but the binder has left out of our copy all of Mr. Salt's introductory memoir after page 14. However, one reconciles oneself to this, for Mr. Stevenson has given in "Familiar Studies of Men and Books," one of the truest and most intimate portraits of the New Englander. The selections are not amiss, but, to be candid, the personality of Thoreau is non-magnetic. One feels towards him as a relative did who said she should as soon think of taking the branch of a tree as dear David's arm. To dip into here and there, the "Week" and a few other of Thoreau's books are brave, and bring into one's mind the life of all out of doors; but his philosophy is to be taken homoeopathically.

Messrs. G. P. Putnam's Sons, in New York and London, publish the twelfth of their series, the "Heroes of the Nations." It is devoted to the impulse given to geographical expansion under Henry of Portugal in the fifteenth century. Like most of its predecessors, this book is rather a study of what is known as an epoch of history than a personal biography. The author, Mr. C. Raymond Beazley, has in its first part given a tolerable survey of the state of geographical knowledge, or rather geographical ignorance, down to the crusades. Afterwards clear light begins to show, and the rest of the book is occupied with the Atlantic and West African expeditions of Henry's admirals and the executions of his plans. Henry was the son of John, King of Portugal, by his English wife Philippa. So that the nation afterwards to derive so much from the Portuguese conquests by sea and land had share in beginning the great era of Portuguese expansion.

ART NOTES.

The ceremony of declaring the Queensland National Art Gallery open to the public was performed last week by his Excellency the Governor, in presence of a large gathering of ladies and gentlemen. Sir S. W. Griffith said that, in inviting his Excellency to declare the nucleus of a National Art Gallery for Queensland open, he would take the opportunity of saying a few words as to its history, not so much as to its future. About two years ago the late Mr. Murray-Prior, whom they all knew, left by will to the Government 11 pictures of considerable value, all of which were now in the gallery, there being an understanding that the Government should find a suitable place in which to exhibit them to the public. Before that time some pictures and other works of art had been acquired by the Government. The first of these pictures—the Manora leaving Gravesend with the Coldstream Guards (by Wyllie)—was presented by the British India Steamship Company in 1885, on the condition that it was to form part of a national gallery when established. The next was a picture of her Majesty the Queen, a copy by Belli of the picture by Angeli which hangs on the walls of Windsor Castle, and which was said to be her Majesty's favourite portrait of recent years. Her Majesty saw the one now in the gallery, and expressed her approval of it as an admirable copy of the original. Shortly after that an opportunity occurred of purchasing a very valuable collection of engravings, said to form a tolerably complete history of the art of engraving in Europe from the earliest time to the present day. A collection of these engravings had found a place on the walls of the gallery, and to them had been added, by Mr. Hutchison, specimens of the latest engravings of Doré's pictures. Then came Mr. Murray-Prior's bequest, and, although he was not in the secrets of the Government, he supposed that the general interest in art which was being revived in Queensland had induced them to come to the conclusion that now they should do something. The beginning of the gallery was small and humble. Besides the pictures which were the property of the Government, many had been lent by private persons, and these, he believed, would be available for the services of the public for a considerable time to come. He was told that art galleries in Australia and elsewhere had had a beginning as humble as the one in Queensland. He did not think the trustees of the gallery had any reason to be ashamed of the pictures now on view in the gallery. He hoped these pictures would form the nucleus of a gallery creditable to Queensland, and be an attraction to its capital.

It was announced by cable a few days ago that Mr. William M'Culloch, of Victoria, had purchased the picture of "St. Cecilia," by A. Waterhouse, R.A., which, it is believed, will be the success of the next Royal Academy Exhibition, and that he had also bought a landscape by J. Macwhirter, R.A., and a group of figures by David Murray, A.R.A.

A number of gentlemen belonging to the literary, artistic, and musical profession met at the Café Continentale in Wynyard-square last Saturday evening, the occasion being a farewell dinner to Mr. Percy Spence prior to his departure for Europe. M. Kowalski presided, and he was supported by Mr. Lister, Mr. J. L. Hopkins, Mr. Daplyn, Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. Batchen, Mr. Streeton, and others.

A bust of the late Dr. Aubrey Bowen, executed to the order of Mrs. Bowen by Mr. E. Bertram Mackennal, and destined for presentation to the Medical Society of Victoria, is at present on view in Melbourne, at the studio of Mr. J. S. Mackennal. Though executed under conditions somewhat unfavourable to the production of a work of art, the bust is described as in every respect worthy of Mr. Mackennal's talent.

The death was announced in the Herald a few days ago of Mr. John Bell, the English sculptor, at the advanced age of 84 years. Among his works may be mentioned "The Babes in the Wood," in marble, now in the South Kensington Museum, an "Andromeda" (a bronze), purchased by the Queen, and "Sir Robert Walpole," in St. Stephen's Hall; also "Miranda," "Imogen," "The Last Kiss," "The Dove's Refuge," "Herod Stricken on his Throne," "Lalage," "The Cross of Prayer," "The Octoroon," "Una and the Lion," "Cromwell," "James Montgomery," the poet, at Sheffield, and various busts and statuettes. He executed the Wellington Monument at Guildhall, with colossal figures of Peace and War, and the marble statue of Armed Science at Woolwich. Among his public works are the "Guards' Memorial" in Waterloo-place, Pall Mall, and the Crimean Artillery Memorial on the Parade at Woolwich.

Mr. Whistler's name has figured in a recent Herald cablegram. Mr. Whistler's high artistic talent is well known, and the following eulogy of him by Mr. Joseph Pennell appears in a recent number of the London Daily Chronicle. The writer says:—"Mr. Whistler's plate 'Black Lion Wharf,' or 'The Black Lion,' is one of the greatest engraved plates that has been produced in modern times. I would even say that it is the greatest etching of modern times were it not for the fact that it is but one of a set known as 'The Thames Series,' etched by the master some 35 years ago. This 'Thames Series,' although not, as I propose to point out, the first etched work of Mr. Whistler, is, however, the first of that long succession of series which he has been issuing from that time until the present. In the Thames plates, it was Mr. Whistler's aim to show the river as it was in 1859, and each one of them is a little portrait of a place, a perfect work of art. For the rendering, as Mr. Whistler has rendered them, of these old houses, in which every brick and every tile has been studied, every window frame rightly drawn, every bit of colour truly suggested, is as much portraiture, and as difficult to accomplish, as to give the portrait of the old lighterman sitting in his barge. So difficult is it, indeed, that but two men in the whole history of the world have done such a thing. The one a Dutchman of the seventeenth century, the other an American happily living and working to-day. The one, Rembrandt, died virtually uncared for, and ignored by his contemporaries; if the other lives and still works, it is only because he has the courage of a great artist, which has enabled him, during a whole lifetime, to fight through the insults and abuse that have been hurled at him unceasingly from the highest critical authority in England, as John Ruskin was considered at one time, to the veriest halfpenny a liner; none was too high or too low to revile this artist, the man who certainly—we all know it now—will carry on the traditions of art to future generations. Now everything that he has produced is perfect, he is told, but, as he himself has said, if it has been found good to-day, why was it not also good at the time it was brought forth?

"As I have said," continues Mr. Pennell, "these etchings are perfect portraits of the London that we of the younger generation have never seen, but Mr. Whistler has made it so real for us that it will live for ever. We may talk of Hollar, of Canaletto, of Piranesi, of Hogarth, but not even that master makes us feel the reality of London as Mr. Whistler does. And though etchings in London have been made and are being made to-day, each one of which costs more than the whole of the Thames series—you can go into the Fine Art Society at once and buy them—the day is coming when these Thames prints will be valued like Rembrandt's, though you can get them to-day as you could Rembrandt's in his time, for a mere song."

Speaking of frozen London the St. James's Gazette says:—The snowscapes on the reaches of the river have tempted a few hardy enthusiasts to take out their sketch-books and endeavour to perpetuate the novelty; but it has been a case of water and brushes freezing, except where an admixture of spirits of wine had been used. More fortunate have been the well-to-do painters who have maintained their studios at a temperature which admitted of ladies sitting in low-necked dresses, or of models without any at all.

The name of Mr. James Brooks has been submitted to her Majesty as a proper recipient of the Royal Gold Medal of the Institute of British Architects for this year. Those (says the St. James's Gazette) who know his work—of which there is, unfortunately, too little in London—will not hesitate to congratulate him on the well-deserved honour. Mr. Brooks is almost entirely known as a church architect, and he has been unfortunate in many of his designs being unfinished owing to their costliness. Such is the case with the two churches built after his plans in West London—one in Addison-road and the other to the Holy Innocents, at Hammersmith.

At the Dudley Gallery's thirty-first exhibition there are several water-colours (writes London Truth) which, according to an explanatory note in the catalogue, are the work of an "artist without arms." They were, it seems, "painted with his mouth." This fact will, in the eyes of some people, no doubt invest the works in question with a special pathetic interest. Upon others it will have a directly contrary effect. But, at any rate, the announcement suggests a candour which is certainly not, as a rule, displayed by artists either at the Dudley Gallery or anywhere else. For, if it were, how frequently we should read in brackets after the name of a picture, "Painted by an artist without eyes," and how still more often the explanation, "Painted by an artist without a head." It may be urged, however, that this information is in many cases too plainly conveyed by the exhibits themselves for any catalogue notes to be necessary. At the Dudley Gallery the general average of merit amongst the water-colours is, I think, higher than usual. It is a pity, perhaps, that the walls are so profusely covered. A considerable proportion of the 327 drawings might, with advantage, be spared. One is naturally a little tired of the wrinkled old grannies knitting stockings, and the smock-frocked old husbandmen reading newspapers—to say nothing of the "three-peaches-on-a-plate" style of drawings—which are so much in evidence at such exhibitions as this. There is, however, a satisfactory leaven of excellence amongst much which is banal and commonplace. The president, Mr. Walter Severn, sends further proofs of his love of the "Lochs and Bens" he is so fond of painting; and he is well supported by Mr. D. Green, Mr. C. Dussaut, Mr. Fred Burgess, and others. Especially to be noted are the Cashmere and Indian drawings by Sir William Eden.

There are now (says the Times of the 19th February) three exhibitions for the visitor to the Fine Art Society's galleries in New Bond-street. The most important of these consists of the 95 pictures, the work of the last few years, in which Mr. Alfred East illustrates English landscape effects from dawn to moonrise. Mr. East's pictures almost always show that, besides the ordinary love of natural beauty which every landscape artist ought to have, he has an extremely keen eye for the various phases of the day, the growing and the fading light, for mist, cloud, snow, moonlight, and sunshine. It is, therefore, not the place so much as the effect that he renders, and he seems to ask himself, not "Can I paint this river, or this lane, or this village?" but "Can I paint this frost, this twilight, this moonrise, this grey day?" It is the ambition of a true artist, and one in which Mr. East has a great degree of success. His little picture called "Full Moonlight" is evidently truthful. The moon is not seen, but its peculiar light is apparent on every inch of canvas. In the same way the "Road from the Ferry" is a complete evening effect, with just the exact value given to the solitary evening star and the distant lights across the river. The "Gray Day in Spring," again, is excellent for its cold air and gold plum-blossom; and here, by the way, Mr. East's grass, the green of which is none too pleasant as a rule, is much helped by the splashes of yellow daffodils in the foreground.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES.

When that altogether charming play "The Case of Rebellious Susan" has run its course at the Lyceum, "An Ideal Husband" will be produced (Saturday next). This is the comedy with which Mr. Lewis Waller so fortunately opened his management of the Haymarket last autumn during Mr. Tree's tour in America. Three strong parts are divided between Mr. Titheradge, Mr. Ward, and Mr. Boucicault, with Miss Olliffe as Mrs. Chevely the adventuress, and Miss Faber as Lady Chiltern. The plot of the new piece is founded upon the one criminal act committed in his youth by Sir Robert Chiltern, Under-Secretary at the Foreign Office. He entered upon his diplomatic career in the service of a foreign Government, and whilst in a position of trust sold for an immense sum his knowledge that England was about to purchase a preponderating interest in the Suez Canal. When the action of the play begins Sir Robert has risen high, and all speak well of the clever Under-Secretary. But the disgraceful secret is still remembered by the man who originally made money by it, and this man at his death divulges it to Mrs. Chevely, whom he has made his heir. The great scene of the play is that in which Mrs. Chevely endeavours to again force Sir Robert from the right path by threatening him with ruin if he fail to obey her instructions. The way in which Mr. Oscar Wilde untangles the skein is sufficiently adroit to ensure the attention of the audience till the curtain falls.

Under the pseudonym of "Sydney Blackburn," a leading physician and consultant of this city has forwarded to London a three-act comedy entitled "Up to Date." Since then the new author has completed a four-act play under the title of "A Comedy." This society piece is highly thought of, and reads so well that it should come out unscathed from that one and only convincing test—actual representation. The chief character in "A Comedy" is that of a skilful and humane oculist, who is entrapped into a proposal of marriage by Ada Frail, a blind girl, who, on the restoration of her sight, reveals herself as a "Becky Sharp," of more than common heartlessness and enterprise. When illness (apparently) overtakes Dr. Thornbyn, who feigns blindness, she deserts him; but the disaster proves a blessing in disguise, for it brings to his side Ernard, a charming girl of boyish manners and sympathies, who, feeling the woman strong within her at his distress, offers him the devotion of a life. This beautiful scene of emotion and sentiment is expressed with a delicacy of touch which is almost feminine in the chaste reserve of its passion. Another capitally-drawn character in the new piece is that of old Frail, a bombastic poet and playwright, whose fine words are made to do duty for fine principles—of which, to do him justice, he has none. "A Comedy," in which the interest is sustained with animation, will shortly be placed in the hands of Mr. Dion G. Boucicault, who has expressed his willingness to scrutinise it with the severe regard of an experienced dramatist and stage manager.

The Rev. H. R. Haweis, who will arrive in Australia by the Miowera next Tuesday, besides being a popular London preacher and lecturer, enjoys a very high reputation as a musical critic. He filled this position during some years on London Truth and the Pall Mall Gazette. Mr. Haweis had the advantage of knowing intimately Wagner, Liszt, and Rubinstein, and on the works of the former especially he is a recognised authority. Indeed, when in 1887 he was selected as Lowell lecturer in Boston, he chose Wagner as the subject, and the lecture was such a success that he was engaged to repeat it at a fee which worked out to a guinea per minute of delivery. Mr. Haweis is a first-class amateur violinist, and in some of his lectures uses the violin to illustrate his points. His best-known work is entitled "Music and Morals," which is now in its seventeenth edition. During his Australian tour, which is under the management of Mr. R. S. Smythe, Mr. Haweis will lecture on general subjects "understanded of the people," and will make his first appearance on an antipodean platform next Thursday in the School of Arts.

Mrs. Helen Harrison Davis, whose four-act melodrama, "A Life Policy," was produced at Terry's Theatre last July, has had an offer for the rights for Palmer's Theatre, New York, which she will probably accept. Mrs. Davis originally made name and fame as an Australian novelist by the publication in 1890 of "For So Little," and upon this novel—dealing with a notorious Australian poison trial—"A Life's Policy" was founded. The author was chiefly educated in Geelong and Melbourne. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. Samuel Bradley Corrigan, and was born at Altamont, Jerusalem, Tasmania. This was the estate of her grandfather, Lieutenant Corrigan, an officer who fought through the Peninsula War under the Iron Duke and gained a medal at Toulouse. Mrs. Davis's maternal grandfather fought under the Duke throughout the same campaign, and was also aide-de-camp to the Governor of Tasmania. Mrs. Davis, up to the publication of "For So Little," wrote regularly for the New Zealand press, but latterly has resided in London.

The interesting reminiscences of appearances before the Royal Family indulged in by Mr. T. H. Rainford at his benefit concert on Thursday might have been extended with advantage. The veteran basso has had an honourable and withal adventurous career. Mr. Christy's Minstrels became so popular in England on their introduction from America that the founder's name added a new word to the English language. About 40 years ago the Christy Minstrels appeared at St. James's (smaller) Hall, and under the management of Moore and Burgess, and possibly others, have continued to sing there without interruption ever since. Mr. Rainford, who is a native of Leicester, England, was engaged as solo bass in 1858, and conceived the idea of touring the world with some others of the company. Eventually he was joined by Messrs. Stewart, Steele, Nish, Melvyn, Norton, and Brown, and this accomplished band of vocalists enjoyed an unprecedented success at the Sydney School of Arts during 1862, and made a considerable fortune by appearing in other parts of Australia. Mr. Rainford relates that his first "colonial experience" in connection with this tour was that of shipwreck on the dreaded Magullis Reef, off Simon's Bay, South Africa—the pointed pinnacle rock upon which the Birkenhead had foundered in 1852. Mr. Rainford, then in the height of his athletic powers, was a noted swimmer, and after battling with the waves for two hours reached the shore with a belt and a pair of trousers as the sum total of his worldly possessions. At the Cape he joined the Coonanbarran on the first voyage of that vessel to Australia, which was reached in February, 1862. Mr. Rainford made his reputation here as the primo basso of Lyster's Opera Company, in which he remained seven years. Since that time he has only made one short absence from Australia—namely, during the Indian tour of Miss Alice May's English Opera Company. Since his last appearance on the regular stage as the original Dick Dead-Eye in "Pinafore," Mr. Rainford has confined himself to professional work, and to appearances on the platform—chiefly on charitable occasions.

Miss Laila Miranda, the Victorian soprano who sang here under Mr. W. J. Turner's management, and who was one of the mainstays of his Exhibition Building concerts in Melbourne, has just completed a short tour in Scotland with Henschel's famous orchestra. Mr. Henschel, who is a fine judge and a musician and singer of the intellectual German school, is very pleased with the young singer. In February Miss Miranda was offered an engagement as prima donna of Turner's English Opera Company, but declined in order to make her début in Paris. After the Henschel tour she accordingly returned there to study Delibes "Lakmé," under Mme. Richard's direction, and she hopes to make her début through M. Massenet's influence at the Grand Opera next June.

The close of Lent and Easter week is always fruitful of events in the concert-room, and whilst in Sydney there will be the "Stabat Mater," "Creation," and Newbury-Spada concerts, in Melbourne there will be the interpretation of Spohr's "Calvary" at the Town Hall, and a series of concerts at the Exhibition Building. For these Mr. W. J. Turner has secured M. Henri Kowalski as star pianist, and the entrepreneur has also engaged Miss Constance Evelyn of this city. This promising young contralto, who has hitherto appeared only at Miss Pedley's Pupils' Concerts, and at other invitation gatherings, will in this way make her professional début in the sister capital before appearing in public in Sydney.

At the end of January Mr. Alfred Dampier was staying en pension at the Rue Boissy-Anglais, Paris, whence he writes that he is full of hope as to the future. Mr. Dampier must have sold the provincial rights of "Robbery Under Arms," as the London papers state that Mr. Leonard Boyne will tour with the play as Starlight. Mr. Dampier writes that on the conclusion of the Continental holiday tour with his family he will set about securing novelties for Australia.

Mr. Charles J. H. Hemsley has been visiting New York to arrange a tour for John Hare, the actor-manager of London Garrick, and has cabled to Mr. Hare that the outlook is most encouraging. The tour will begin in December and last until May, when an Australian tour will follow. Mr. Hare will take with him the whole of his London company. "A Pair of Spectacles" will be the opening piece, followed by "Caste" (Hare as Eccles) and "School."

Mr. A. Bonamier is importing a first-class Italian opera company at Cape Town, with Signora Ancarani (famous in Rome and Milan as La Gioconda) as dramatic soprano, and Signor Maina (who sang at La Scala with Adelina Patti last year) as principal tenor. Of the entire double company, the only artist known in Australia is David Beneferrari, the buffo comico.

Miss Maud M'Carthy, who since she left Australia has studied constantly under star violinists of European reputation, is still making rapid progress under Senor Arbos, the Spanish virtuoso and teacher. The child artiste will give another concert in London during the present season.

Palmer's stock company, which has existed for 20 years, has been disbanded, as Mr. Palmer has found it impossible of late years to conduct a season of genuine stock productions in New York.

The Japanese are going in for music, and are establishing a conservatoire at Tokio. An opera house there is also contemplated, in which the most celebrated works are to be given in the native tongue.

Herr Goldmark's new opera, "The Cricket on the Hearth," is officially quoted in German theatres as by Boz-Dickens.

WOMEN AND WOMANHOOD SUFFRAGE.

A PAPER READ BEFORE THE ECONOMIC ASSOCIATION BY MISS E. A. BADHAM.

We learn from certain theosophical volumes which profess to set before us the esoteric doctrines of various creeds that woman was once the most exalted part of creation; the represented "mind," and man "matter." All that was intellectual and spiritual was derived from her; but in an evil hour for herself she consented to step down from her lofty height and share the baser life of man; and from being our guiding spirit she became his companion, his tool, and slave. But in the time to come, through much tribulation, she shall regain her lawful supremacy, and then will come that glorious righting of the wrongs of all ages which mortals call the millennium. Some such doctrine seems to underlie the hopes and aspirations of the most ardent supporters of female suffrage. We are told that the 20th century will be the "Century of woman," which is by no means to be confounded with a century of women, and that those evils which men for so many ages have been taxing heart and brain to overcome will disappear, as though under the operation of some magic soap, when once women have put their hand to the work. Drunkenness, immorality, and gambling will be almost voted out of the land when the suffrage has been granted to both sexes.

I have nothing to urge against such a charming picture, nor do I desire to challenge, on their own ground, the various arguments which are put forward in support of the clause. An encounter of this kind is simply a question of skill in dialectics. With such skill it is quite possible to prove to the satisfaction of all hearers that 2 and 2 make 5. Without it it is difficult to demonstrate either to one's own or anyone else's satisfaction that 2 and 2 make 4. I have no such skill, and I should in attacking the league have the further disadvantage of fighting on the negative side against all the enthusiasm and sanguine confidence which distinguishes that body. My aim is a very humble one. I have been asked by some of my friends to act as a mouthpiece and to explain to those who care to hear why a very large number of women feel themselves utterly averse to this movement. There seems to be an opinion abroad that most women want the power of voting, but that they prefer to sit still and let the more valiant members of their sex fight for it, and that when the latter have secured the prize their slothful sisters will come forward and claim their share of the booty. I am here to-night to represent those who do not want the suffrage, and would not use it if they had it. There are certain stock arguments which the rank and file of the upholders of womanhood suffrage have picked up from the leaders and which they repeat somewhat in parrot fashion to all and sundry. First, justice demands that women should have the suffrage, they are the intellectual equals of man, and they have to obey the laws, therefore, it is monstrous not to let them have some voice in making them. Again, so long as women are unrepresented in Parliament so long will women's work be paid at a lower rate in proportion to its excellence than men's work, because men are jealous of women competing with them in any branch of remunerative work. Lastly, until women have a voice in the legislature there is no chance of abolishing those crying moral evils with which men have vainly endeavoured to cope, when they have not actually encouraged them.

Now, the argument that women ought to help to make the laws because they have to obey them is, of course, absurd when taken by itself, and would apply equally to aboriginals and children. It can only be seriously considered in connection with its rider, that women are the intellectual equals of men. What we have, therefore, to inquire is whether or no women, are actually on an intellectual equality with the other sex, or would be so if subjected to the same mental discipline. The affirmative side of this question is frequently supported by enthusiastic women who invite us to contemplate the achievements of the brilliant Mrs. Jones or the learned Miss Brown, and compare them with the intellectual attainments of Messrs. Smith and Robinson, who have laboriously assimilated just so much of mental culture as is represented by the Civil Service examination. Now this might be a just view if it were proposed to grant the suffrage to such women as should prove themselves in a competitive trial to have more brain convolution than their fellows, though I must admit that it would be difficult to carry out such a scheme so as to give general satisfaction. But the suffrage is claimed for all women, not for a few, and it is scarcely fair to look at our own achievements through a microscope, and at those of men through diminishing glasses. The question is not whether some women are better endowed with brains than some men, but whether the average woman is or is not on a par with the average man. The wisdom of Mrs. Garth in Middlemarch puts the matter in a nutshell. I am afraid I have often quoted this excellent lady before, but I may surely venture to quote her once again on such an occasion as this. To her anxious little daughter inquiring which are the better, boys or girls, she answers that both are alike naughty, but that boys can run faster and climb taller trees. Nowadays we not only stoutly deny the equal naughtiness of both sexes, and give but a grudging consent to the greater speed of man in the race, but we have a convenient way of watching the process of tree-climbing, which gives us results eminently satisfactory to our own sex. Provided you get to the top of your own tree, it matters not at all whether it is a shrub such as that described in the Book of Nonsense, as containing a young bird or a full-grown cabbage tree palm. We stand close by to measure the bush, and put ourselves at the top of a hill to observe the cabbage-tree in the plain below, and by this simple process we find that they are equally tall. But surely commonsense and common honesty require that we should measure the attainments of women alongside of the attainments of men, and produce our female Phidias, Raphael, Shakespeare, and Beethoven.

I suppose the answer to this is that women have enjoyed the advantage of the higher education for so short a time that the results are already sufficiently astonishing, and it is impossible to say what they may not do in the future. Now the words "higher education" are a kind of sacred formula, with which one may not meddle without incurring the penalties of sacrilege, but I would fain ask if it is really supposed that women have been kept by men in a state of ignorance from the beginning of civilisation to the latter end of the nineteenth century? The last two generations were no doubt brought up on Child's Guide and Mangnall's Questions, rather than on algebra and physiology, but at least the women of that time were encouraged to read the old English authors, who have in the present day made place for ephemeral philosophies and muddy metaphysics. But in the Middle Ages both sexes enjoyed an equal state of ignorance, and when the dawn of the renaissance broke over Europe the women followed the new learning along with the men. If they afterwards chose to forego their privileges no one can be blamed but themselves. But even supposing that men have been in a conspiracy to keep women from walking in the paths of wisdom, at any rate both sexes alike had to work their way up to knowledge from their troglodyte days, and it is remarkable that in every case and under all circumstances it is man that has found out the way, and woman who has or has not tried to follow him. If women have equal capabilities it is strange that they have never taken the initiative with any branch of learning. We hear a great deal nowadays about clever women, and the phrase is applied alike to a successful novelist, a woman with a competent knowledge of classics or mathematics, one who is notable with her needle, or one who has the cunning eye and hand of the artist. Now, whether we take cleverness in its more limited sense of surface quickness, which need not denote a very high order of intellect, or whether we extend it to mean technical skill, artistic perception, and literary attainment, those who say that men are more intellectual do not thereby mean to say that men are cleverer than women. In the more limited sense of the word women are much cleverer than men, they have more surface quickness and sensitiveness, they adapt themselves quicker to circumstances, they take a polish more readily—in short, they are more receptive, and up to a certain point they can compete with men on equal ground in literature and art and technical skill. But only up to a certain point, for by force of this receptive power, which is peculiarly their own, they are incapable of originating; they have not the creative faculty. Cookery is an art which has been in all ages appropriated by women, yet they have never produced a Vatel, with whom cookery was an exquisite art to be followed with all the powers of mind and body. For generations all girls have diligently studied music, and it is only of late years that it has been admitted to form any part of an ordinary boy's education in modern Europe. And with what results? There are very few female composers whose work rises at all above the commonplace, and as far as mere technical skill goes a man's playing is better than a woman's. It is men who have invented the thousand and one mechanical contrivances by which a woman's household labours are lightened; and wherever there is the demand for originating power, whether to contrive a mangle or to write an epic poem, then the man always has and always will take precedence of the woman, even were she educated to be an Admirable Crichton in petticoats. One is tempted to wonder, when one hears women pluming themselves on their mental equality with men, what sort of men they can have associated with?

But it may be said that skill in the arts and sciences has nothing to do with any human being's fitness to take a share in the government in the country. The arts and sciences may have nothing to do with government, but surely the creative faculty by which men rise to excellence in the arts and sciences has a very great deal to do with the prosperity and progress of a nation. China has apparently existed for centuries without that faculty, and the effect on the civilised world has been that of a nation which went to sleep in a barbarous age and is only just beginning to waken. A stronger argument is that women merely wish to record their votes at times of general election, and do not desire to take an active share in the government. But, if women really wish to record intelligent votes, they must keep themselves well informed on all public topics, and be able to form a reasonable opinion on them; they must not merely work themselves into a state of white heat over some topic which happens to be specially interesting to them; that is to say they must show themselves capable of forming and calmly supporting an opinion which may be quite adverse to that of their male belongings, otherwise their vote will be, what they assure us it will not be, a mere echo of the view of father, husband, or brother. And as for the assertion that women will be contented with the vote and desire to go no further, most of us, I think, listen to that assurance with a good deal of mistrust. Some members of the league say quite plainly that it will not do to ask for anything more just yet, and others tell of the refining influence that women will have on the Parliamentary debates. Women who are landed proprietors have already a municipal vote, and we have very near our own doors the example of a lady who has aspired and attained to civic honours. Some of the women of our own colony find the spectacle an admirable and edifying one, and I really cannot see what should deter women when they have got the vote and still find that the man they have returned will not do the work they want or in the way they want, from trying to be returned themselves, that they may govern the country to their own satisfaction.

But women desire to have the suffrage that they may secure the proper recognition of women's work in the market. Surely women's work is subject to the ordinary conditions of supply and demand like any other commodity; and if it is less well paid than that of men it is because it is not worth so much. Men have sometimes asserted that women have not the artistic conscience, the feeling which prompts the workman of every grade to put his best possible work into everything he does, not with a view to any reward or from any extraneous motive whatever, but simply because scamped work is an abomination to him. I do not think that the charge is altogether just, but I am very much afraid that if any change in this respect is taking place among us it is a change for the worse. We repeat readily enough that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well, but our practice is often to do things ill rather than to leave them undone. Our grandmothers followed few arts, but in those few, they strove to attain to a high degree of excellence. Their cookery books are marvels of elaborate preparation and detail; their needlework is treasured as relics of a lost art; their letters, both in style and penmanship afford a curious contrast to the slangy, free-and-easy productions of our own day, which look as if they had been written with the kitchen poker. Not everybody nowadays can hem and sew, but everybody does fancy work, and much of it should be treated as a fresco painting, and be looked at from a respectful distance. And in spite of all our professors of torrefaction—to borrow a phrase from Grant Allen—and our demonstrations of cookery, not one woman in 50 can boil rice, or be trusted to grill a chop when it is easier to fry it. It was once the fashion for women to do a few things, and to do them well. We now prefer to do a great many things, and to do some of them very ill. We can scarcely then complain when men reproach us with a want of finish and exactness in our work, and refuse to allow it the same market value as their own. That the result presses heavily on many individuals, whose work, judged by itself, is worthy of the highest market price, is unfortunate no doubt, but it can only be remedied by a marked improvement in women's work in general. It is impossible to legislate for individuals, but in any art or science where the work of men and women collectively is on the same plane of excellence, and represents the same amount of training, both sexes receive the same wages.

The accusation that one hears so often, that men are jealous of women entering the same fields of labour as themselves, contains, of course, a profound truth; but the reason assigned for this jealousy, that they are afraid lest the women should surpass them, is absurd on the face of it. Men generally do not take such a humble view of their own powers as to think that their pre-eminence is in any danger. The true reason of their attitude towards women who wish to enter the various professions and trades which have hitherto been open only to men is not far to seek. We are too much in the habit of talking as though men and women formed two separate self-existing camps, and we ignore the fact that the wages which a man earns are rarely devoted to his personal subsistence alone; he has, besides children, a wife or sisters or grown-up daughters dependent on him. This is not the time to discuss the question whether or no all these except the children ought to be self-supporting. It is quite enough for our present view that they do not support themselves, and under the existing order of things cannot possibly do so. There is simply not work enough for those who are driven to seek for it. Consequently, a man who fights to keep out women from any already overcrowded trade or calling feels that he is fighting not only for his own livelihood, but for that of the women who depend on him. On the other hand a large number of the women against whom he contends have not entered the ranks of the workers from any choice, but from stern necessity, and it is but natural that they should feel somewhat bitter against the men who seem to be using their superior strength to take the bread out of the weaker creature's mouth. It is a disastrous state of things, and peculiarly intolerable in a new country, but many causes have combined to bring it about, and at present no one can foretell what the result will be. What remedy womanhood suffrage can bring to it which will not rather aggravate the evil I am at a loss to imagine. If the promoters of the league have really any practical plan in their minds let them put it forward, and so silence their opponents once and for all.

But whatever female politicians may do in this or any other direction they are not likely to err in the way of showing exaggerated reverence for the liberty of the subject. It is a significant fact that the Suffrage League has so far identified itself with all the so-called temperance societies in the place, that it is, in fact, pledged to support them, and a common plea in favour of extending the franchise to women is that they will succeed in bringing in first "local option," and then "prohibition." I am perfectly aware that with some people this attitude of the league towards the Licensing Act and the sale of alcoholic beverages is the very strongest point in its favour. So long as men alone govern the country these people despair of forcing us all, whether we will or no, to become teetotallers, and they count on the number of female votes to carry the day against their opponents. I do not desire to enter into the great question of the use and abuse of alcohol. I merely desire to point out that whilst men, even if they are inclined to favour a certain reform, shrink, unless they are absolutely under the dominion of a craze, from interfering with a man's inherent right to order his private life as he pleases, the mere notion that some moral end is to be effected is quite enough to justify any such interference in the eyes of most women. Just as many of us, unless we have ourselves become too enlightened to walk in the old paths, will do all in our power to compel our male belongings to go to church against their will, as though they could derive any possible benefit from such a reluctant attendance, so we shall cheerfully flood all the cellars and shut up all the distilleries, satisfied that we have made men sober by depriving them of the evident means of being otherwise. And so if the male population of New South Wales desire to see "prohibition" the law of the land, by all means let them extend the vote to women without further delay.

The subject of gambling, which is surely almost as serious an evil as the other, and far more widely spread, has not yet, I believe, been seriously handled by women. At present we are resting satisfied with such humble efforts as the legislative body can put forth to hamper the proceedings of the far-famed Mr. Adams and to abolish tote shops. The feminine mind, meanwhile, is riveted on that particular form of immorality which it is the special province of some modern lady novelists to lay bare to the public gaze. I will not dwell on this topic further than humbly to offer one or two small suggestions to those of my own sex who are inclined to act as moral scavengers. When typhoid is rife in any district, and it is necessary to see to the drainage, the utmost care has to be taken in setting about the work, lest by suddenly uncovering too much filth we increase by tenfold the evil that we designed to cure. It is also well known that societies of men and women devoted to the preaching and practice of any special virtue and wearing its favours, whether red, white, or blue, are apt to degenerate into mutual admiration societies; and mutual admiration societies rarely excite any higher emotion than mirth or disgust in the minds of the profane outside world, and when they are built up on a strictly moral basis the members are apt to become either fanatics or hypocrites. Further, when very young women join with young men in lifting up their testimony in our highways and byways for the conversion of sinners, the spectacle is neither edifying to the public nor improving to the young women themselves. If, as it would appear, women intend to set about the reformation of the world on these lines, they will probably leave it considerably worse than they found it.

If, however, men in their wisdom are inclined to let women try their hands at a little tinkering of all the moral laches of the world, they will have a serious danger to reckon with—serious, that is, to all who are not so far won over by the new gospel of Socialism as to think the "many" the embodiment of wisdom, and Bellamy's "Looking Backward" a valuable guide to politics.

It would be a grotesque impertinence were I, in a paper intended to show why women should abstain from meddling in politics, to discuss the merits or demerits of Socialism or any other political scheme, but I may be permitted to say, what we can all gather from the daily papers, that mob rule is not quite a visionary danger in this country and that the whole spirit of Australian politics does not err in the way of a shrinking timidity towards new experiments. Many years ago a very excellent officer in the employ of a learned body objected to the manner in which his employers managed alterations in their building. "I don't know what they mean," he said, "and I don't think they know themselves. They put down good wooden floors, and then they go and rip 'em all up again and put down mud ones; then they don't like the mud ones, and they break 'em up and make a mess all round." To the unenlightened mind it would sometimes seem that the same spirit of alteration inspires our public men, and brings with it much the same results. Now, we women are supposed to be strongly conservative, but there is conspicuous evidence that when we cease to be conservative we are eager to run as far as we possibly can in the other direction, to upset all the old landmarks and to try every variety of experiment. If tentative legislation is attractive to the Australian male mind, it is still more so to the female.

There is something in Socialism which appeals to one of the highest instincts of a woman's nature; I mean the desire to help the weak and suffering, which is, I suppose, an offshoot of the maternal instinct. So strongly is this desire to help others implanted in a woman's heart that in the presence of any kind of distress she is impelled to do something for the sufferers; and it is only a few of those who are by nature strong-minded, in the proper use of the word, or who have learned by some special training that there are many distressing occasions in life when we can do nothing but sit still and wait, who do not rush forward to help without first asking whether the proffered help is likely to do any kind of good. That notable prayer of the Scotch divine, for the lords of Convention, that they might be so guided as not to do any harm, does not appeal to the majority of women. We see instances of this ill-advised rushing to the rescue in the commonest affairs of life as well as in the greatest. A kind-hearted woman will hold open an omnibus door from the wrong side of the omnibus, so that an unfortunate passenger, with a baby in her arms, and two children stumbling after her, has to pass the intervening barrier of an arm, as well as to get out of the door. Or the same sympathetic person will lay hold of an urchin who has already scrambled in, and by suddenly arresting his progress will make his mother, who is following behind, tumble over him. Of course, this sort of thing, though sufficiently absurd, does not do any harm unless the parent happens to be hurt in the process; but there are much more serious cases where women, urged by the overweening desire to give help and sympathy, and forgetting all the excellent copybook maxims about minding one's own business, interfere when they should not, and in their desire to regulate the affairs—whether religious, social, or pecuniary—of their misguided neighbours, gain for themselves the reputation of busybodies, and sometimes bring themselves into very grave difficulties.

It is therefore easy to see how socialism may attract women, for socialism, in whatever way we may regard it, is after all nothing but a gigantic scheme of State interference with people's private affairs. It is evident that there is in the world a great deal of poverty and distress on the one hand, and of grasping covetousness on the other; the good things of Fortune seem to be very unequally distributed, and socialism undertakes to cure these evils once and for all. There is some truth in the sarcasm of Walter Besant, who tells us in his "Revolt of Man" that women, being in power, and horrified at railway accidents, simply abolished railway travelling. The beauty of the promised results of socialism will prevent most women from inquiring too closely into how those results are to be brought about, or if there are any factors which the promoters of the scheme have forgotten to reckon with. And so we find that some of the most distinguished supporters of the league are already pronounced socialists, and are every day winning more and more of their followers to their opinions. It must also be considered that women who belong to that class which looks upon socialism as a means whereby they will be raised above want or the need of continuous effort will naturally record their votes on the side of those who wish to overturn the existing fabric of society, or, should they refuse to do so, their male belongings, despite all modern theories, will probably not shrink from exerting a little brute force in a worthy cause. We must also remember that a very large number of women belonging to the more educated classes, and whose votes would probably preserve the balance, will not vote at all, and that in their case no compulsion will be possible. It has indeed, I believe, been suggested that in the case of the suffrage being granted to women, their voting should be made compulsory by Act of Parliament. The suggestion is scarcely worth noticing; it was probably originally intended for a joke; such a law could not possibly be enforced, and if it were it would defeat the schemes of the only people who would be likely to try and enforce it. But already labour leagues are pledging themselves to support female suffrage. They would scarcely do so if they did not expect that the majority of women's votes would be secured to what they fondly consider the cause of labour. I am perfectly aware that some of my opponents will consider that by making these admissions I am playing into their hands. I can only say in reply that if men wish to try to realise the dreams of the Fabian Society, to stamp out individual effort and aspiration, to live under prohibitory laws, and to establish a general inquisition into morals, they will apparently be considerably assisted in their worthy efforts by granting the suffrage to women. But it may be an unpleasant shock to some women who think they have been helping to shape a glorious work to find that they have, after all, only been tools in the hands of a few fanatics.

There is another point to be considered in connection with the disinclination of many women to exercise the voting power. There are, no doubt, several married women in the front of the suffrage movement. There are also several unmarried women opposed to it; but I think if a census were taken we should find that the number of unmarried women who support the league—counting, let us say, none 25 years of age—is much in excess of the married; and there is reason to suppose that, if the suffrage is granted, as time goes on this disproportion will increase. I once provoked some criticism by asserting that a woman's highest duty and privilege was to be a wife and mother. I had merely repeated it as a kind of axiom, having, of course, no personal knowledge on the subject, but not supposing that anyone would think of contradicting it, and in spite of much that I have since heard advanced against this opinion I still venture to hold it as at least a probable one. And surely it may be permitted to an unmarried woman to extol the condition of a matron. At any rate we may fairly suppose that a large proportion of married women share my view so far as to place the ruling of their households for the happiness and comfort of their husbands and children beyond all other considerations. Now, while the wives of mechanics in New South Wales enjoy for the most part more luxuries than the wives of mechanics in England, the wives of Civil servants, of men in business or in any one of the professions have distinctly less ease and leisure than women of the same class at home. They have to do so much more of their own work that their domestic concerns leave them little leisure for study or recreation. They are also physically weaker, for there is something enervating in our climate which gives rise to all sorts of nervous complaints. Such women will rarely have the time or opportunity to follow intelligently the great public questions of the day; their votes, supposing they record them, will naturally be but the echo of the husband, and they will often be absolutely prevented from going to the polling-booth. Is it likely, even supposing they begin with a little political enthusiasm, that they will not grow more and more indifferent as time goes on, and find these domestic fatigues sufficiently wearing without having to sit in judgment on Mr. A.'s land law or Mr. B.'s fiscal policy? But the women who have no home work, who go out of doors to earn their living with hand and brain, who mix with their fellow men and women and hear discussion perpetually going on around them, who have acquired a distaste for domestic duties, and have no particular hobby to occupy their leisure time, may conceivably derive some intellectual pleasure from this gentleman's speech to his constituents, or that one's philippics against the Opposition. To attend political meetings, to listen to debates, and to follow the sessions of Parliament will be a recreation, and fill up what would otherwise be dull evenings spent in lodgings, or amidst uncongenial relations of whom we hear so much nowadays. There will, of course, be a constant migration from the single to the married camp, and it would certainly be invidious to lay down any precise age after which a woman could not reasonably expect to marry, but statistics show us that there will always be a large surplus of unmarried women. And so it would practically come to pass that Australian matrons would obey the laws which the maids, young and old, helped to make for them; that is to say, that the more useful and important part of the female community would be subordinated to the more useless and unimportant. And if it be answered that the married women could always assert themselves by taking up their neglected privileges, I can only say that the remedy would be worse than the disease, for they would then be sacrificing just what constitutes their claim to importance—that is to say, their children and households. Already around us we hear the complaint that home life in Australia is becoming an empty phrase, that families disintegrate and scatter, and that there is scarcely any feeling of sanctity of blood ties. Young women calmly assert that they cannot get on with their parents or brothers and sisters; mothers complain that they have neither authority nor influence over their children; we hear a great deal about natural rights, but very little about natural duties; and that sense of decency and reticence which required that family disputes should be settled within the walls of the home, without the intervention of any outsider, seems to be as extinct as the age of chivalry. And if the Australian women are content to throw away their natural sovereignty in order to grasp at some rags of political power, nothing will remain but for the State to take possession of the children and bring them up on Herbert Spencer and scientific principles. A very respectable mechanic earning a good livelihood complained the other day to a friend of mine that his wife was always wanting to go out and do a day's work here and there, much to his own personal discomfort. "I like to keep my wife myself," he said, "but women nowadays have grown so independent that they want to earn money instead of looking after their homes." An unusually large percentage of women are at present forced to earn their own living, and it is only just and right that the conditions should be made as easy for them as possible, and that they should be properly equipped for the fray. We cannot wonder when parents of small means and large families bring up their daughters so that they may be able to support themselves if they do not marry. But I cannot see what object is to be gained by pretending that this is the best possible condition of things, and that the single woman who supports herself is a superior being to the married woman who attends to her domestic duties. I have sometimes heard it said lately that there is an inclination amongst the best women to look with dislike on the married state. I cannot pretend to have much faith in this dictum, but it is a dangerous idea to get abroad. Women remain unmarried for a variety of reasons, but setting aside religious vows, which do not come under this discussion, it is not likely that the best women will despise that calling for which they are especially designed by nature. If it be meant that the most intellectual women are averse to matrimony it can only be because their intellect is an abnormal growth, and has choked other and more important qualities.

Those who look forward to seeing women not only voting, but sitting in Parliament, tell us that their presence there will have a refining influence on the men. No one ventures to suggest that some of the scenes they will be compelled to witness may have anything but a refining influence on the women. Possibly also the presence of women at the hustings will have a refining effect on the crowd gathered there, though personally I should not care to try the experiment. A writer in a magazine some months ago tried to prove that woman's influence with man does not exist, save in woman's imagination. I fancy he was provoked by the attitude of some modern women to say more than he really meant, for many of his remarks are perfectly true and just. But I do not see how anyone looking at facts can deny that women do influence men to a very large extent, and that like other influence it is valuable in proportion as it is unconscious. Women influence men by beauty, grace, gentleness, wit, and their higher moral qualities—that is to say, they influence them through their emotions. Here and there where the woman has the stronger brain and will she may possibly dominate the man if she cares to try, but I do not believe that women ever have or ever will influence men by trying to chop logic with them. What some advanced women nowadays seem to require of men is that on the one hand they shall pay us all the chivalrous respect due to creatures as valuable in their way but weaker than themselves, and on the other that they shall recognise us as competent to fight them on their own ground and with their own weapons. Let us take up one position or the other; we cannot hold both, and we should do well to remember the wit and wisdom of Æsop: "A dog crossing a stream with a piece of flesh in his mouth saw its reflection in the stream, and fancied he had discovered a larger and richer booty," &c. Whether or no the end of the fable shall apply to us I suppose lies mainly with ourselves.

THE USURY LIMITATION BILL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I was scarcely surprised at the attitude you took up in your leader of Saturday last relating to the above measure, as it is quite in keeping with the conservative policy of the Herald. The action taken by your various correspondents was only to be expected, as they are evidently interested in the money-lending business, and it is only natural to expect that when their pockets are affected they will complain. Like yourself, they are loud in their professions to prevent the public from suffering. Under cover of this very superficial sympathy it is sought to arouse hostility to the measure, but up to the present these efforts have not been successful, as there has not been the slightest response from the borrowing public. I am charged with not giving good arguments in its support when introducing it. To a person possessing even a rudimentary knowledge of Parliamentary practice, it would not be necessary to mention that motions for leave to introduce private bills are invariably treated as formal, and at most all that is required is to state their objects. This I did, and at the proper time—the second reading—I shall be prepared to furnish ample and substantial reasons which I feel convinced will ensure its passage. I can cite scores of cases where from 80 to 120 per cent. have been extorted. Where money lenders have by misrepresentations induced people to sign documents committing them to pay exorbitant rates of interest, and many of the unfortunates who have been duped in this manner are mercilessly bled from week to week, and eventually ruthlessly sold off at a sacrifice under a bill of sale, the holder of which arranges the sale to suit his convenience, and frequently becomes the purchaser at a nominal cost. The victim in the first place is plundered of every shilling he has, and then whatever goods or chattels he possessed. To prevent this state of things is one of my reasons for bringing in the bill, and I think the majority of unprejudiced persons, having some knowledge of the circumstances I have pointed out, will acknowledge that legislation is necessary. Your reference to fixing the limit at 15 per cent. is extremely weak. There is no particular reason why I should stick hard and fast at that figure, and it would make no more material difference if it were fixed at either 14 or 16 than altering a penalty of £50 in any Act of Parliament to £49 or £51. There is no particular virtue in either amount, but some limit must be fixed. As I have on several occasions pointed out, my object is not to in any way interfere with respectable money lenders, who carry on a legitimate business—and there are many of such—but I want to weed out those who are at present living on legalised plunder. My bill provides almost absolute security to holders of bills of sale, and in view of this money can be advanced at lower rates, and it is quite a reasonable contention that it will induce many to go into the business, who under existing circumstances refuse to associate themselves with the trade. This will mean increased competition, with the natural result—cheaper money. It is perfect nonsense to assert that 15 per cent. will not pay expenses, and it is only put forward by interested persons, who are apprehensive that extortionate rates will be prohibited. It is somewhat peculiar the credence you give to the prejudiced assertions of several of your correspondents, who from selfish motives are hostile to the bill. The two clauses you refer to do not in any way weaken the position of holders of bills of sale. They certainly give the owner of the property the privilege of determining in cases of foreclosure how and by whom sales are to be conducted. It is to the advantage of any owner to see that his property is disposed of at marketable value. Surely this is not an unreasonable provision. It will do something towards stopping the present practice of holding sham auction sales without due publicity being given to enable the party interested to purchase at his own price.

April 2. I am, &c., J. M'FARLANE.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.—Sterling honesty of purpose; without it life is a sham. A new invention is brought before the public and commands success. A score of abominable imitations are immediately introduced by the unscrupulous, who, in copying the original closely enough to deceive the public, and yet not so closely as to infringe upon legal rights, exercise an ingenuity that, employed in an original channel, could not fail to secure reputation and profit. Eno's "Fruit Salt" is the simplest and best remedy yet introduced. It is a pleasant beverage that supplies the want of ripe fruit, so essential to the animal economy, and can be taken with perfect safety at any time. Caution: Examine each bottle and see that the capsule is marked "Eno's Fruit Salt." Without it you have been imposed on by worthless imitations. Sold by all chemists. Prepared only at Eno's "Fruit Salt" Works, Pomeroy-street, New Cross-road, London, England.—[ADVT.]

Machinery.

THE PIONEER LEATHER BELTING UNEQUALLED for GRIPPING POWER and DURABILITY.
MUCH CHEAPER THAN COMPOSITION BELTING.
Will not stretch or fray out like Balata or Composition Belts. Stands greater heat or cold than any others. For driving machinery there is nothing like Leather or raw Hide. It will stand more friction, grip better, last longer, and come far cheaper in the end than ANY OTHER BELT.
We invite users of Belting to call and examine our stocks and facilities for manufacturing, or send a trial order.

OUR AMERICAN LETTER.

NEW YORK, March 3.

The quarrel between the President and Congress about silver has cost the country nine millions of dollars at a stroke, and each disputant now throws the blame on the other. In hope that Congress would take definite action about the currency, the President let the gold reserve dwindle down in the Treasury until only a few hours separated us from national bankruptcy. Then, in order to coerce Congress, he made a private contract with Mr. Pierpont Morgan and the Rothschilds to buy 62,000,000dol. of gold at 3¾ per cent. interest for coin bonds, with an option to borrow the same sum at 3 per cent. for bonds payable only in gold. But Congress refused to be coerced, and would not even let the bill to accept the option go to a third reading. As long as gold and silver remain at parity, the bonds now sold are as good as previous issues, but if we ever come to a silver basis they will certainly sell far lower. Other bonds, for the sake of good faith, will probably be paid, principal and interest, in gold—which can always be secured, as it was during the war, by making Customs duties payable in gold only; but this new issue has been purchased in the teeth of a warning that they are mere silver obligations. It is quite possible, however, that the Rothschilds are right in believing that there is at least a fair chance that before the bonds expire, 30 years hence, gold and silver will be more nearly on a level than now. Meanwhile, in a week the price of the new issue has risen from the purchase price, 104½, to 119, a profit not to be picked up every day even in the realms of high finance.

The probability that there will be another International Bi-Metallic Conference gives the silver men new courage, but at the same time makes them more moderate and conciliatory in their language. Their grievance has been from the beginning founded not only on material but also on moral grounds, and the refusal of the monometallists to look at the question except from an economic standpoint has been proportionately irritating. Rather than let the "gold-bugs" win, many of them would prefer to throw down the gauntlet to Europe and put the currency upon a silver basis. Gold contracts could then still be made, no doubt, but their obligations would rest simply upon honour, and could not be enforced in the courts. If some fair international agreement were offered, however—such as the exclusive use of silver for coins of less value than 10dol., or free coinage of both metals at a reasonable ratio up to a stipulated relative volume—only the most fanatical of extremists would refuse to accept it as a finality. It is significant that Colorado, which is the mining region that suffered most by the decline in silver, has recouped herself by the extraordinary increase in the output of gold from 7,802,000dol. in 1893, to 12,499,000dol. in 1894. In all other parts of the country, too, the high purchasing value of gold is stimulating its production, and a year or two hence the effects of this may be very marked. It is a great mistake to suppose that all the gold-bearing area in America has been exhausted. In Minnesota, which is still largely an untrodden wilderness—some of her 10,000 lakes having never yet been fished by white men—the country along the Rainy and the Seine rivers is rapidly being overrun with gold-hunters. There have been scores of deaths from exposure during the present winter, but the richness of the finds neutralises these warnings. The great goldfield of the future, however, as most people think—and this view is confirmed very strongly by the just-published reports and survey of the Government experts—is the valley of the Alaskan River Yukon. The Treadwell mine, near its mouth, has now for several years yielded very satisfactory returns, but, as might have been guessed, the deposits found in these lower reaches are of low grade. Up higher the richer grounds are accessible only with extreme difficulty. Navigation is at present possible only for a couple of hundred miles, and in the 800 or 1000 miles beyond that the fortune-hunter must carry his pack on his back, for the current is too swift to make canoe travelling either safe or expeditious. At the approach of winter there must be a timely retreat to the coast, and the miner must take great risks in order to work for six months in prospecting. Pick and pan are the usual tools; a man who has a cradle besides is looked upon as more ambitious than prudent. Yet many of these men are said to get from 1000dol. to 3000dol. in the season; hardly any fail to bring back enough for a new outfit. A sudden development of this region on a vast scale might have the same vivifying effect upon the world's prosperity as the gold era in Australia and California. Of course, there is but a bare chance that anything of the kind will happen; but, then, until 10 years ago it would have seemed absurd to suppose that a great river like the Yukon—the peer of the mighty St. Lawrence and more than the peer of the Mississipi—could flow majestically on from year to year without our having even a suspicion of its existence. Even now it is only mentioned in the very latest geographies, and then only in terms of qualified respect. What impudence that an upstart, parvenu flood such as this should presume to rank third or fourth among the great rivers of the continent! But rivers, like men, in America are painfully irreverent towards established traditions and inherited importance; it is the one great vice of the soil!

The present Congress dies to-morrow, and all men, regardless of party, are giving it a parting kick. In some places its death at high noon will be celebrated with the jubilant boom of cannon; and it was at one time seriously proposed that its exit should be emphasized by a general illumination of the great cities, and an exultant escape to the sky of rockets. It has been, beyond any doubt, the very worst of all the legislatures in our history—bad in what it has done, worse in what it has failed to do, and beneath contempt in its abject impotence to come together upon any one question and take positive action. It has talked and talked and talked as though air vibrations were an assimilable food. Mr. Cleveland no doubt has great faults, but if Congress had shown a fair degree of governing capacity, we should have at least zig-zagged forward instead of simply lying in the doldrums with the sails flapping and rotting on the masts. The Republican Congress-elect will have vices, but they will be of a totally different character; it will surely know its own mind, and will do what it wishes with an unflinching purpose. It will be at odds with the President, of course, for their views of things are irreconcileable, but the President will be forced to keep within his own proper sphere as an executive servant of the people, vetoing such laws as he deems unwise but not meddling with them while they are a-making.

It is in our foreign policy, probably, that the change in affairs will be most manifest. The next Congress is before all things, unfortunately, Jingo. Hawaii and the Rothschild loan are to be rigidly investigated, and the ordeal is not a pleasant one for the President to contemplate. He will have not a single defender of ability left on the floor of the House; and even in the Senate, his friends are already deserting him, Senator Mills having, among others, during the past week bitterly assailed him for his course in the bond business. In every direction his hands will be tied, and he will be often directed to do what his very soul loathes. In any other country—France, for example, or Greece or Spain—the President or King would in such a dilemma hand in his resignation, but this is in America a non-supposable resource, for it would violate what even the Tweeds and Crokers look upon as the one great principle of political honour—that a man shall never resign under fire. So, no doubt, the President will stay on to the end of his term, vilified, insulted, pelted with stones; but, as the ward-heelers say, when one of their number has been sent to prison for election frauds, "taking his medicine like a man." A sorry ending, though, it must be confessed, to a career which only two short years ago seemed to promise the triumphal march of a conqueror. Yet it is worth noting that this tremendous change—which rests, of course, upon the conversion of a Democratic majority of 120 into a Republican majority of 140, in a House of only 356 members—is an absurdly exaggerated result of the vote from which it follows. Analysis shows that the Republicans represent less than a majority of the votes cast—46·48 per cent., the Democrats 37·89 per cent., the Populists 13·03 per cent., and the Prohibitionists 1·93 per cent. As between 1892 and 1894 the Republicans gained only 3·68 and the Populists 4·41 per cent., and the Democrats lost 8·05 per cent., is not it obvious that the mere possibility that such radical changes should flow from such an evidently inadequate cause reveals one of the fatal flaws in representative government—that is, in the American form of it, which insists upon separate elections in every election district? It is conceivable that a majority of 356 votes in a total vote of 12,000,000 would deprive the minority, 5,999,614 strong, of even a single voice on the floor of the House!

Congress has rejected the sum agreed upon by the President to be paid as indemnity under the decision of the Paris Conference to owners of ships flying the British flag, and illegally seized by American cruisers, and the whole Behring Sea trouble will perhaps be re-opened. These owners, though flying the British flag, are for the most part Americans—by actual count, more than three-fifths. To smooth the matter over, Great Britain consented to put the damages down at about one-eighth of the sum supposed to be claimed—425,000 dollars in the place of about 3,000,000 dollars—but it sorely pinches the patriotic soul to pay one penny to men who abuse the hospitality of a foreign flag in order to violate the law of their own country. And besides, as is claimed, the police work during the past season in Behring Sea has been thrown almost entirely upon American vessels, while the Canadians have sailed as close to the law as possible. One fiery Senator proposed yesterday to settle the whole matter by killing off all the seals on the Pribyloff islands, for this would make poaching impossible, and it would also at least put an end to the hideous cruelty of wounding, without killing, the seals on the open sea. Mr. Hitt, who will be the chairman of the next Foreign Affairs Committee of the House, read the Riot Act by proposing "That, unless a change occurred, the right should be denied to Canadian cars to pass through American territory." Canadian railroads, however, carry freight for American shippers at less than cost, and this extreme measure is therefore hardly likely to be adopted. It would be effective, no doubt, but at a cost ten times greater than the seals are worth. Such a policy, too, would be tantamount practically to a declaration of war; for it would lead to mutual proclamations of non-intercourse, and this in its turn would surely soon bring on an open rupture. No sane person wishes to run the risk of so great a disaster about so trifling a matter. The capitalised value of the entire seal fishery could hardly be put higher than 5,000,000dol. Russia sold it, with all Alaska thrown into the scale to boot, for 7,000,000dol.

In spite of low prices, and not a few threatening clouds, the temper of the people is cheerful, and there seems to be a general belief that we are on the eve of much better times. A bad harvest would, of course, be very discouraging, but a good one would count far more for prosperity than a bad one would count the other way. Men have got hardened to adversity, and it is astonishing, in a country of such various resources, to see how easy it is to weather even severe storms. Thus, the railroads, in spite of very shrunken receipts, have managed, on the whole, to show fairly good net earnings by bringing expenses down to the most severely economical basis. A saving of 25,000dol. a year was made, for example, on the Milwaukee system by forcing workmen to draw bolts instead of knocking their heads off with a hammer and punching them through. Nothing now is thrown away that can be used over again or sold, and it is probable, since these economies will be permanent, that the loss from bad business will after all prove to be a blessing in disguise. The same lesson in another form is taught by the conversion into a permanent business at Boston of what originally was started for charity—a five cent meal of meat stew, bread and coffee. The managers find that they can make 30dol. a week profit, and so they have enlarged their bill of fare and otherwise put the enterprise upon a lasting basis. They feed more than a thousand guests a day.

Brooklyn has now an institution of which no other American city can boast—a circulating library for the blind. It comprises only 800 volumes, but then a blind's man book is at least 10 times as bulky as its counterpart in letterpress, and far more than 10 times as costly. The most condensed edition of the Bible is in 11 volumes, and the bare cost of producing it is 20dol. Other books, which have a more restricted sale, come much higher. A plainly-bound "Robinson Crusoe" costs 10dol. and "Ben Hur" 14dol. So, both in shelfroom and in outlay, the demands of such a library are quite heavy; and it was perhaps more sad than strange that the Mispah Circle of Blind Men, after agreeing to pool their literary treasures, sought in vain for shelter and assistance in any of the many free circulating libraries. But the Episcopal Church of the Messiah not only came to their rescue, but speedily transformed a humble effort at self-help into a charity of noble and of ever-growing proportions. No doubt, some wealthy person will soon die and earn the gratitude of the blind men of the future by making this an absolutely complete collection of blind men's literature. Most of the books are in the New York "point" character, which is rapidly superseding the old Boston "line letter," and which has but one disadvantage—that it must be read by the educated touch of a single finger. The diligent student therefore sometimes literally wears away the sensitive skin, and no other finger can be substituted. Some of the subscribers can read not only the New York and the Boston systems, but also the character used in England, which is a sort of shorthand—something like the easiest of Sir Isaac Pitman's three styles of phonography. And what do blind people like to read? Least of all, fiction; most of all, poetry, with religious works a good second choice. Perhaps, psychologists may find the real meaning, too, of one very marked trait of the blind reader—that, if the book he wants is not in, he will not take any other, but will wait, reading nothing at all, until he can get it. Quite a good percentage of the library consists of music scores, but before a piece can be played by a blind musician it must be memorised—not a simple process by any means. First, the treble is read with the left hand while it is played with the right, and then the bass is read with the right hand and played with the left. When he knows both, he combines them, and in nearly all cases with extraordinary success. Of course, also, the experience of the library has simply confirmed what has often been before remarked—that what once gets into a blind man's head stays there with wonderful tenacity. With ideas, it is the same as with gold-pieces—easy come, easy go; a blind man earns his intellectual bread so hardly that he cannot afford to lose a single crumb.

The missionary ships which ply from island to island in the South Pacific made a good man think some years ago that something of the same sort ought to be done on the land, and he gave of his substance to build and equip a travelling railway Gospel saloon-car. It had a pulpit and about 50 seats, and the railroads gladly gave it free passage in the sparsely-settled regions on the border. Services were held en route, and stops were made of a day or a week in promising sites. The work was so successful that another similar car was soon built; then Mr. Rockefeller put on a third for the especial benefit of the settlers on the Northern Pacific Railroad; and now the Episcopal Bishop of the new diocese of North Dakota has adopted a very spacious saloon car as his cathedral church. That is the inscription on each of its side panels, "Cathedral Church of North Dakota." It is 60ft. long, and in the centre, on the outside, the roof is broken by a Gothic transept in tastefully-carved dark wood. Inside, one end is a chancel, with an altar, lectern, and font; at the side there is a good cabinet organ; and there is seating space for 80 worshippers. The windows are in stained glass, and the furniture, both of the altar and of the body of the church, is tasteful and costly, and represents the offerings of more than a score of churches. Episcopalians in the Dakotas are few and far between, consisting mainly of Canadian and English settlers, but the services are eagerly attended by every local variety of saint and sinner. Conversions are numerous, and so also are backslidings; but when this is alluded to the good Bishop always retorts with the old but never stale story of the Scotch grandam, who, being asked why she went regularly to church when she never could remember either text or sermon, pointed in reply to the linen line in the garden. "Isn't it better for the washing," said she, "even though there are no marks left on it of the soap and the water?" The cowboys and the miners will perhaps be "tough citizens" to the end of the chapter, but even an occasional glimpse into the nobler and purer possibilities of life may have a wholesome influence.

The usual mid-winter shows and public balls are all well patronised. The horse show was a great success, but the dog show was a greater. Perhaps, indeed, it was the best exhibition of the kind ever held anywhere. There were thousands of dog candidates—emigrants from all the European countries and from China, Siam, Japan, and many other outlandish countries as well. There was intense feeling in the competition, for a man (and yet more a woman) who loves a dog insists upon everyone else loving him too; and the judges, no matter how just their decisions, were abused roundly. Everything went well until the last day, and then some miscreant—probably the owner of unsuccessful rivals—poisoned eight prize Japanese lap dogs. The exhibitors were dealers, and their loss 1500dol., was at once made up to them, but the incident threw a general gloom over the exhibition, and every pen during the last day was jealously guarded by anxious owners. A similar occurrence took place once at Birmingham, so Americans are simply neither better nor worse than their neighbours; but it is not pleasant to find latent savagery thus cropping out in unexpected places. Worse still, the poisoner has so far eluded discovery, so we lack the satisfaction enjoyed by the Birmingham people of seeing him—though, alas! it is most probably a her—sent for a good round term to the State prison.

FUGITIVE NOTES.

Many signs seem to point to the conclusion that our society is returning to earlier and simpler methods of life, with corresponding benefit to the whole of humanity. Nothing among these pleasing manifestations strikes one more forcibly than the efforts that are taking place to substitute "conciliation" for the effete, cumbrous, and cruel forms of law and equity. If it can only be carried out in its entirety, as proposed by its single-hearted advocates, why, the millennium is at hand, and there is an end at once of strikes, lockouts, poverty, misery, and all the other crushing maladies of our, at present, somewhat faulty system. Moreover, "conciliation," as now proposed, has the virtue without which no really great patent medicine or any reform is genuine. It is so delightfully simple and the principle is so easily mastered that, so to speak, a child can work it. It brings us back at a bound to the grandly direct methods of our forefathers, before civilisation, with all its vitiating considerations of mutual rights, had laid its blasting hand upon the world; to the times when people "conciliated" each other with clubs or "arbitrated" with tomahawks; to the golden era when the bloated capitalist was taken by the throat and shaken by the heels and otherwise persuaded; and when everyone was supremely happy in consequence. The industrial future is to be all roseate and peaceful, because never a dispute nor a disturbance can arise to mar the even tenor of happiness. The employer who tries it on will be promptly "conciliated," no capitalistic serpent shall show his head in the workers' Eden that is to be, but he shall be crushed by the ready heel of "arbitration." On the whole, perhaps, it is even more effective than the eight-hour idea. The latter merely proposes to make the employer a criminal every now and then, which is good, but does not go far enough. By "conciliation" you simply cause the wretched creature to grovel with the standing rod of "open books" and "public opinion" held over his recreant head.

How deeply the late cricketing "boom" laid hold of the great heart of the people is constantly being evidenced during the course of trials at the criminal courts. One hears constant allusions to the late midsummer night's madness, and how one touch of nature—especially if nature takes the form in a cricket match—makes the whole world kin is curiously illustrated. Judges, juries, Crown prosecutors, and prisoners all remember these epic struggles, and prisoners especially have them in their minds. In alibis they are found to be extremely useful, and in this class of eternally popular defence the late cricket matches have been for ever cropping up. "Where was I, your Honor, at the time of the assault?" says Mr. Sikes, the oft-convicted, "well I'll tell you. I was looking at the scores of the last test match outside the Herald office." "And I was there myself," naively owns the Judge, and he will go on to put a question or two about the scores at the particular moment Mr. Sikes was there, with the result that that unfortunate gets hopelessly involved about Giffen's innings or Richardson's bowling, and secures himself the customary five years. In nearly every defence of an alibi lately the prisoner has been watching the cricket scores, but has not on that plea escaped sentence. The reason is plain. Every detail of those mighty contests, even down to the exact time when M'Laren hit his wicket or Trott bowled a wide, is indelibly impressed on the public mind, and with the best intentions there is really no outlet for ingenious lying in this direction. It really seems as if the long-suffering criminal class will have to fall back on the time-worn and totally unoriginal alibi in which the mother, sisters, sweetheart, and female friends of the accused all swear that he was at a "party" on the night of the crime.

What a characteristic instance of what Carlyle called the "preternatural suspicion" of the French character under the influence of excitement is afforded by that incident of some Parisian newspapers seeing another example of the well-known perfidiousness of Englishmen in the collision between the Brinkburn and the Alvah. It was already bad enough when faithless England undertook the job of transporting the French river gunboats to Madagascar at half the price tendered for by any French shipowner. The case became still more irritating when it became known that the French shipowners who tendered for the work, having no transport vessels of their own adequate to its performance, contemplated passing it on at a reduced rate to some English firm. Now on the top of these enormities comes this collision with a ship—another British ship, aha!—in the Straits of Messina. How came this second British ship at the precise moment at the exact spot in front of the bows of the Brinkburn unless the whole matter had been arranged by the faithless and envious insulars to impede the avenging expedition of the French nation to an island which it is notorious that the British filibusters want for themselves? All of which, although we have known it so frequently and so long, on each time of its occurrence fills the phlegmatic Englishman with amazement.

"Tricks that are vain" are unfortunately not to be witnessed only in the wicked world of politics. But it is to be hoped that they are not so common in the world of philanthropy as might seem to be suggested by experience in the affairs of the Sydney Hospital. It all comes of having "one man one vote." When a vote has once been made a fetish, people are not satisfied unless it is worshipped, even under the most unpromising conditions. The Chinaman who was admitted to the hospital in October, died the next day, and voted five months afterwards at the election of a director, would have been a treasure to a Parliamentary candidate if he had been naturalised. But one would like to know how the business was managed. Perhaps it was an astral body that officiated. But how, when, and by whom was it canvassed? There has been some talk about proxy-voting in the election of members of the University Senate. Remembering that there are already graduates walking and talking, and doing credit to the establishment, after undergoing a post mortem, how many votes might be recorded under the proxy system by interested watchers in another sphere!

Validity of validities, all is validity! Members of Parliament may well claim to be paid when they have so frequently to exhaust their energies in patching up or rectifying or validating the omissions, the errors, or the transgressions of their predecessors, or the Government, or of other people. When was there a session without a validating bill? But what shady transactions have been going on in the thriving town of Cowra to necessitate the validation of the street awnings? Everyone knows what a long programme the Government has to go through this session. It is also clear that something must be crowded out if everything that is to happen on the 1st July is to be prepared for by the close of June next. And yet, in the midst of all this pressure, the House managed to have a nice little chat for a few minutes the other day about a bill to deal with the Cowra street awnings. In this case it was explained that the Legislature would have to interpose because of "want of knowledge" shown in the early life of the municipality, and so momentous were the questions arising out of the Cowra posts and kerbstones and guttering that it was even suggested that a select committee might be required to investigate them. But in the attempt to cure one set of mistakes another had been committed. The Speaker must needs interfere with his fussy Standing Orders, that are always getting in the way of somebody. The bill had been introduced as a public measure. It was only a private one. Like the misguided awning posts, it was in the wrong place. Yet, why could not the House have gone on with the bill, and at last, finding out the lapse, have passed another validating bill to cure it? These premature checks have a tendency to engender irritation.

The "First of April" has been with us and is gone. Did anyone notice its passing? This merry First of April, has it, too, joined the misty host of departed joys, gone with Valentine's Day and the rest? I suppose we must recognise with regret that this time-honoured day has been crowded out. It was a happy safety-valve that perhaps can ill be spared. "We have all," says Charles Lamb in his delightful "All Fools' Day," "a touch of that same—you understand me—a speck of the motley. Beshrew the man who on a day such as this, the general festival, should affect to stand aloof." Yet to what pains are we moderns to hide our "speck of the motley," to "stand aloof," and how little do we recognise the witty profundity of the saying that "a man who is not sometimes a fool is always a fool." Happy exceptions are University students, who the world over, at certain times indulge in a traditional license. The festivals of the Quartier Latin are historical, though there are grim, sense-blunted folk who would check this effervescence of youth. The First of April has always been the occasion for the repetition of harmless jokes and fooleries that as often as repeated have found ready victims. It is a splendid touchstone for the credulity and gullibility of human nature. How the day brings back our school-time, when pranks were freely played and as freely returned! Now all seems grey and serious. The "general festival," as Elia calls it, has passed, and we have had no attempts to hoodwink the newspapers, no political squibs, no "authentic rumours," such as that Sir Henry Parkes and Sir George Dibbs had after all agreed to a coalition, no snake stories or whale yarns. When will come a change? When will the carnival of nonsense begin to reign? When will the almost inevitable reaction set in?

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

C. A. Woolforde: You see your suggestion is already acted on. J. W. Ford: Problem to hand, with thanks. W. H. Nicholls: Although we intend publishing only two movers for the present in the Solution Tourney, three movers will appear from time to time as extras. Yours will be among the first. J. Harvey: Key move sufficient. B. H. Longmuir: A sound problem can have but one key move. In problem 1, R to R 2 can baffle White's key move B to Kt 3. "P. A. W. N.:" Thanks for good wishes; after we have decided the relative strength of solvers, we may consider your suggestion, which, in the abstract, is excellent. C. W. Rock: Happy to have you as a correspondent; key move is sufficient. "I. O. K. S:" Bishop to Kt's sq, covering and discovering check, is the reply. The utmost care is taken to prevent misprints in diagrams. A. Hopkins: Your request is noted, and we will refer to it in an article very shortly. A. Hackett: Information noted with thanks. The stamping apparatus you speak of would be expensive. Mr. Sands, at our suggestion, will shortly issue diagram books, 25 forms for 6d, which should meet your case. We appreciate your offers of assistance. R. A. Thomas: Key move only. Thanks for good wishes. Always open to consider suggestions. We can probably find you opponent for match by correspondence, if you like. If you intend starting club we may be able to help you. G. Collis: "O—O" means "castles." J. J. Glynn: Problem to hand with thanks; delighted with your congratulations, knowing the weight you rightly carry in problem matters. We dare not entertain the idea you put forward. If, however, "a goodly number tie in the Solution Tourney," we will offer the leaders a division of the spoil and the loan of a microscope, or, as an alternative, a few three-movers to settle precedency. F. G. Patten: Glad to hear you intend competing. If you will forward problems on diagram forms, with solution, we shall be obliged. "Nita:" Congratulate you on correct solution. Some people—male creatures, of course—think women cannot play chess. We shall shortly publish a game and a problem by ladies, which will open their eyes. (Many replies held over.)

PROBLEM No. 3.
BLACK (8 pieces).

WHITE (8 pieces).
White mates in two moves.

(The injustice to unknown composers is so obvious, when names are published at the same time as problems, that we intend to furnish this information in a later issue, with the solution.)

Critiques on Problems.—Correspondents in forwarding solutions of problems are invited to give opinions on their merits, such as "simple," "excellent," counting 10 points as a maximum. Thus praise acts on the composer as an incentive to greater effort.

Correspondents are requested to note the following suggestions, as considerably lightening the editor's work:—Diagrams should in all cases accompany problems. White pieces should be in red ink, black in black. N (noble) for Knight (the similarity between K and Kt causing many errors). Tally letters with figures denoting intervening blank squares make an effective check.

Team and Telegraph Matches for Country Players.—Players resident in the country often experience a difficulty in finding opponents of their precise degree of skill. Country clubs, in the like manner, desirous of testing their powers in telegraphic or team matches, feel it hopeless to challenge the "A" team of strong city clubs, while they do not care to play the "B" team. They would, however, gladly compete with other country clubs on equal terms, were there only a medium of communication. We propose to supply the long-felt want by publishing from time to time lists of the clubs that avail themselves of our invitation and register. Furthermore, after possible rivals have thus made each other's acquaintance, we shall be happy to put ourselves at their service and furnish them with full instructions for telegraphic matches, and if desired, adjudicate on unfinished games.

Unpublished Games and Problems.—Correspondents are invited to furnish unpublished games and problems, with a view to publication if of sufficient merit. The latter, for the present, will be confined to two movers.

NOTES.

The Team Match advertised in our last issue took place last Wednesday. It was an unqualified success, from the numbers present, the interest taken, and cordiality manifested, and quite justifies the promoters—the School of Arts Chess Club—in making it a quarterly fixture; no less than 40 boards were in play at once. The managing committee are to be heartily congratulated on the results attained. This is the largest Team Match held in the colonies, and the number of country visitors testifies to the general popularity of chess. We were glad to see an old intercolonial player, Mr. Delohery, found time to be present. Mr. Carane's team won from Mr. Wallace's by 22 points to 18.

SOCIAL.

Lady Duff has taken drives during the week with her daughters, and has received visits from friends. The arrival of Mrs. Lyons, sister of the late Sir Robert Duff, and who was a passenger by the unfortunate Oroya, is awaited with some anxiety, as it is not certain whether she transferred to the Massilia at the Orient.

His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir F. M. Darley, and Lady Darley have given their patronage to, and intimated their intention of attending, the Fresh Air League ball on Thursday, 4th June.

Major-General Hutton and Mrs. Hutton have also given their patronage, and promised if possible to be present on the same occasion.

The decision of the stewards of the Hawkesbury Race Club to repeat the experiment of holding their autumn meeting at Rosehill apparently found much favour with Sydney residents, who were largely represented at the opening on Saturday last. The course is very pretty, and the luncheon and tea rooms, which look out on the lawn gay with flowers, gave quite a picnic air to the refreshment portion, whilst in the shaded arbours beyond the casualty-room parties of ladies and gentlemen who had taken their hampers made a veritable picnic. Amongst the well-known visitors on Saturday last were the Hon. C. E. Pilcher, the Hon. C. A. Goodchap, Hon. H. Dangar, Mr. Walter Hall, Mr. E. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris, Miss N. Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Cyprian Stanton, Captain A. M. Fisher, Mrs. and Miss Fisher, Mr. Slattery, Mr. Adrain Knox, Mr. T. J. Marks, Captain Dangar, Major Rennie, Mr. Hamilton Osborne, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Allan, Miss Belle Levi, Mr. S. H. Harris, the Misses Isaacs, the Misses V. and E. Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bull, Mrs. Broughton, Miss Riley, Dr. Kenna, Mr. W. Morgan, M.L.A., Mr. Macgeorge, Mr. Hale, Mrs. R. R. Levien, Miss Holdsworth, Mr. C. Pell, Mr. Lewison, Mr. W. J. Lyne, Mr. Walford, and Mr. Waldron, &c. Mr. Colin Stephen and Mr. W. H. Manning were in the number of amateur riders, but were not so fortunate as to carry their colours first past the winning-post. To-day the visitors will have an opportunity of helping the needy, as Mrs. Henry Harris (Darling Point) has agreed to urge the claims of Hospital Saturday on the racecourse, and will have her table conveniently near the grand stand.

The departure of one of the Royal Mail steamers has a permanent attraction for the public which seems to strengthen rather than wane by familiarity and repetition. The decks of the Peninsular and Oriental Company's liner Oceana were crowded on Saturday last with relatives and friends of the passengers and spectators. Amongst those leaving Australia for a time were Dr. and Mrs. Brady and family, with Mrs. Brady's sister, Miss Campbell, who were surrounded with floral baskets and bouquets. Mrs. and Miss Monson Paul, who, like Dr. and Mrs. Brady, are gone for a nine months' trip, received many floral offerings, and their absence from social functions will also be felt. Mrs. Morris Cohen and her son, Mr. Vivian Cohen, have terminated their visit, and though England is now their home, the parting from relatives here saddened the "good-bye." Mr. E. H. and Miss Blomfield, Mrs. and Miss Stayton and Mr. F. Stayton, Miss Tapsin (the popular matron of the Infants' Home, Ashfield), and Miss von der Heyde, each had their special aster. The visitors included Colonel Douglas Mackenzie, whose trip to India has wonderfully benefited his health, and Mrs. Mackenzie, M. and Mme. Biard d'Aunet, Mr. E. Monson Paul, Mrs. E. L. Samuel, and Mr. S. Cohen, Mrs. and Misses Wilkinson, Mrs. Walter Hall, Mrs. Schwarzbach, Mrs. and Miss Airey, M. and Mme. Beane, Captain Clarke (R.M.S. Orizaba), Miss M. Lamb, Mr. B. W. Levy, Mr. Septimus Levy, the Misses Moffitt, Mr. and Miss Monson Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. E. S. Bowker, Mr. T. J. Marks, Mme. Gough, Mrs. C. J. and Miss Roberts, Miss Fowler, Miss Grace Noble, Miss Turner, Mr. Reginald Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, Mr. W. J. Johnstone, Mr. Bauer, the Misses Trevor Jones, Miss M'Crae, Mr. Mani, Mr. L. Marks (Queensland), Mr. Milson, Miss Dowdell, Miss Marks (Eiystan).

At the invitation of Miss Snowdon Smith about 20 ladies met at Greenknowe on Thursday afternoon to consider the best arrangement for carrying out the tea and social gathering in connection with a diocesan festival to be held at the annual meeting of the Church Society on 30th May. It is intended to arrange this festival on the lines which have made similar gatherings so successful in Melbourne, and which it is hoped will widen the bonds of fellowship with church members here. The gathering was numerically too large for the drawing-room, and through the thoughtful arrangement of the hostess, the visitors had seats round the lawn fronting the bay window, and enjoyed the delightful view as the questions were discussed. The Rev. W. E. Langley, addressing the ladies from the centre of the raised lawn, was the spokesman, and in explaining the scheme said that as the object of the tea was to bring the members of the church together it was calculated that by making the charge of admission very moderate (1s) all classes would be represented, and in the 40 parishes of the city and suburbs at least 2000 persons might be expected. This would require 100 tables, each to accommodate 20 persons. That the proposal had the approval of those assembled, who represented nearly all the parishes, was quickly seen in the volunteers, and counting those given individually as well as by the several parishes, 60 tables were promised; and it was announced that Mr. Scholefield, on behalf of his firm (Messrs. Griffiths and Co.), had promised to supply the tea required for the whole. Whilst the names of the givers were being taken afternoon tea was being served in the drawing-room, and the gathering took the form of a charming garden party. Apologies were read from Lady Darley, Lady Innes, Lady Dibbs, Mrs. Mackenzie (Hendri), Mrs. H. C. Dangar, Miss Edith Walker (Yaralla), Mrs. Cecil Darley, Mrs. Metcalfe, Mrs. Gunther, Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Douglas Mackenzie, and Mrs. E. W. Johnson for non-attendance, coupled with promises of help. The ladies present included Lady Charles Paulet and Mrs. Edward Hutton, Lady Windeyer, Lady Abbott, Mrs. G. B. Simpson, Mrs. Knox and Miss Knox, Mrs. Henry Mort and Miss Mort, Mrs. Arch. Cox, Mrs. and Miss Cecil Stephen, Mrs. Corlette, Mrs. Gatewick, Mrs. H. C. Russell, Mrs. J. T. Ford, Mrs. Deller, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Moreton, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. and Miss H. E. Russell, Mrs. Samme, Mrs. Wengall, Mrs. Cotton, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Walter Hall, Mrs. Cowlishaw, Mrs. Alan J. Riley, Mrs. Minter, Mrs. Gillett, Mrs. Tovey, Mrs. Buckley, Mrs. Mullens, Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. Bramwell, Mrs. W. Martin, Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. M'Kenzie, Mrs. Mailler Kendall, Mrs. Langridge, Mrs. Rankin, Mrs. Airey, Mrs. Paxon, Mrs. Hutter, Mrs. W. Lamb, Mrs. Whiting, Mrs. Wallace Mort, Mrs. Eldred, Mrs. W. Orr, Mrs. A. W. Pain, Mrs. Selby, Mrs. Hough, Mrs. Yarnold, Mrs. Read, Mrs. F. Jones, Misses Wilkinson, Mrs. Whitton, Mrs. Macfarland, Miss Greville, Miss Buck, Miss Burdett-Smith, Miss Knapp, Miss Ieston, Mrs. Dibbery, Mrs. Sams, &c., &c. Nearly all the parishes were represented by one or more ladies, and considerable interest was manifested in the proceedings. Miss French greatly assisted Miss Snowdon Smith, and Mr. Wilfrid Docker and Mr. Este took an active part in the business.

Captain Clarke, commander of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company's Orient R.M.S. Orizaba, on Thursday last entertained a number of ladies and gentlemen at a launch party in the harbour. The Orizaba was alongside the Orient Company's Wharf, and at 2.30 p.m. the host was in readiness to welcome his guests. The Orizaba band was on board, and their melodious strains added to the pleasant greeting and accompaniment to the proceedings of the afternoon. Shortly before 3 o'clock the launch left the wharf with the following visitors:—Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Greene and the Misses Greene, Colonel Roberts, Commander Douglas, R.N., and Mrs. Douglas, Mr. Alex. Osborne and Miss Osborne, Miss Forbes and the Misses Watson, Mrs. Ross, Miss Ross, and Miss Morehead, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Baer, Mr. and Mrs. Prosper Williams, Mrs. H. Inskip, the Misses H. E. Russell, Mr. Murray, the Misses Macmillan, Miss Binnie and Miss Macks, Captain Dangar and Miss Dangar, the Misses Austin, Miss Clibborn, Miss Thomas, the Misses Mason, Miss Fowler, Mr. A. G. Milson, Mr. Cohen, the Messrs. Kater, several officers of the Royal Navy and of the R.M.S. Orizaba, &c. Steaming slowly down the harbour to Middle Harbour, a landing was made; on returning to the launch afternoon tea was served, the tables laden with substantial and dainty appendages, all of which were much appreciated.

The military ball given by the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men of the Camden Mounted Rifle Company, which took place on Friday, 29th ultimo, and which had been anticipated with keen interest in the district, proved the most successful and brilliant entertainment which has been held in Camden. The ball was given in the Drill Hall, a large building recently erected by Captain J. Macarthur Onslow—who, having obtained leave, has, after passing through a course of study in India, proceeded to join the Chitral expedition. Under the able superintendence of Lieut. A. J. Onslow Thompson, the hall was handsomely decorated with flags and devices of arms belonging to the company, which as the brilliant light flashed over the bright steel were singularly effective. The stage was arranged as a drawing-room, with easy chairs and lounges, backed by fine pot plants, and including a trophy formed of the cap, epaulettes, presentation sword, belt, and medals of the late Captain Onslow, father of the captain of the Camden Rifle Company. This necessarily attracted much admiring attention, as also did the rugs made from the skins of animals shot by Captain Macarthur Onslow during a former visit to India. The guests, on arriving, were received by Lieutenant Onslow Thompson, Sergeant-major Percival, and Private Grigg, and when at 9 o'clock the ball was opened over 400 guests were present. The majority of the male members being in uniform added much to the picturesque effect of the assembly. Signor Gotello's band supplied the music, which was quite satisfactory, and with the exception of the supper interval dancing was kept up until 3.30 with great vigour, the programme containing 24 dances. The guests included Mrs. and Miss Macarthur Onslow, the former handsomely dressed in black, the latter in white silk with chiffon and pearls. Mrs. James White, of Wickham, took a large party. She wore black lighted by diamond ornaments. Mr. and Mrs. St. George (the latter wearing pink and grey), Mrs. and Miss Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Downes, Mr. John Kidd (member for Camden), Mr. and Mrs. Reeves, the Mayor and aldermen of Camden, Mr. and Mrs. Grant (lately arrived from England, the lady wearing a handsome yellow gown and numerous diamonds). Conspicuous in the military men were Colonel Blomfield, Major Dodds, Captain Antill, Captain Leigh, Lieutenant G. Macarthur Onslow, Lieutenant King, Lieutenants Scott and Forster. There were also present Dr. and Mrs. Smyth (the lady in white satin), Lieutenant Gubbins, R.N., Miss Hume, Miss Bowman (in pink), Miss Fosbery (in red), the Misses Chisholm, Dr. Bell, Mr. and the Misses Antill, Dr. and Mrs. Mueller, Mr. and Mrs. Levien, the matron of the Carrington Hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Lakeman, Miss Lakeman (in pink), Mrs. Ferguson (in black), Mr. Fort Onslow, Staff-sergeant Wasson, &c., &c. The supper was provided by Messrs. Abel (Sydney), and gave great satisfaction. It was laid in a huge marquee erected adjoining the hall, and was announced as ready by the company's bugler sounding the call at 12 o'clock. Sergeant Daly efficiently carried out the duties of M.C., with able assistance from Sergeant A. Liggins. The dresses of the ladies generally were pretty and becoming, and there was a genial spirit evident which made the gathering very enjoyable. The officers and men worked heartily to ensure success, and the highly gratifying result which rewarded their efforts will long be remembered by those present.

Amongst the present visitors at the Hotel Metropole is Major-General Mann, C.M.G., Royal Engineers, a recent arrival in town.

Lady Abbott on Friday, 29th, entertained a number of friends at her residence, Tarella, North Sydney, the occasion of the gathering—which was arranged at very short notice—being the visit of Mrs. Craik (Maitland), sister of Lady Abbott. The reception-rooms were decorated with very handsome pot plants and flowers, and the arrangements of the hostess for the enjoyment of her guests were perfect. Mrs. Craik, who is an accomplished musician, exerted her powers as pianist and vocalist, and contributed greatly to the pleasure of the visitors, as also did Miss Abbott by her charming singing of "Mignon," by Guy d'Hardelot. Miss Gurney and Miss Pedley in instrumental and vocal music respectively contributed attractive selections, and Mr. Allard, who has a sweet tenor voice sang two songs. Supper was served in the dining-room, and soon afterwards, owing to the departure of the Sydney visitors, the company separated, much indebted to their hostess for so pleasant an evening. Amongst the guests in addition to those already named were Mr. and Mrs. Whitton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Teece, Mr. and Mrs. Willsallen, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Russell and Miss Russell, Dr. and Mrs. Roth, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carey, Mr. and Miss Harriott, Miss Nellie Abbott, Mr. Abbott, Mr. Vindin, and a large number of young people who had a separate programme of games, &c., for their own amusement. Sir Joseph and Lady Abbott were assiduously attentive to their friends.

The committee and friends of St. Joseph's Sanatorium at Auburn have been for some time engaged in selling tickets for an art union, by which means the debt of £2500 may be liquidated or at least greatly reduced. By some error the drawing for prizes was fixed for April 14, Easter Sunday. Attention is drawn to this error in our advertising columns, and the hope further expressed that all who have had the sale of tickets will at the earliest date forward the butts to the committee, who are anxious to distribute the handsome prizes during Easter week.

Letters from Europe bring accounts of influenza sufferers and of divers novelties through the exceptional weather. Mrs. MacLeod Smith, who is travelling with Miss Karslake, writing from Mentone, says "Cannes is full of influenza;" she had just recovered from a sharp attack of the epidemic. The Misses Stephen were at Mentone, complaining of the cold after the heat of November in Sydney. Mrs. Wrench and her daughters had two nurses in attendance on them in London, and Mrs. Vandervoor Green is also suffering severely.

In reference to the recent sale of work at the Infants' Home, Ashfield, held on 9th February, some confusion has arisen as regards the financial result. The sale profits amounted to £33. The sum of £125 is required to build the new playroom, and towards this amount Miss Tapsin has collected £114. The funds for the Home's general expenses need constant supplies, and by way of helping the Misses Marks (Cambrian Villa) have been busily working for some months, and intend very soon to hold a small fair at Cambrian Villa for the joint benefit of the Infants' Home and Children's Hospital, two institutions which appeal very powerfully to women and children for sympathy and support.

Mrs. Lewis H. Hyman, of Tamworth, has taken, during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. M'Millan in Europe, the pretty house, St. Alban's, Allison-road, Randwick, and is now residing there. Her return to town is much approved by her many friends, who have taken the earliest opportunity of visiting her.

We are informed that Mrs. Atock and Miss Adkins originated and carried out most of the arrangements connected with the very successful entertainment at Bowral in aid of the Berrima District Cottage Hospital.

In our advertising columns particulars will be found of the sale to be held at Government House stables on Tuesday.

A meeting of the Lewisham Hospital Ball Committee was held in the Town Hall, Sydney, on Thursday morning, Mr. F. B. Freehill presiding. The following ladies of the committee were present:—Mesdames R. Prendergast, C. E. R. Murray, V. Heaton, F. Bacon, M'Lennan, E. J. Hollingdale, R. T. Allen, F. Holmes, T. Dowling, G. Whitfeld, G. Lane Mullins, P. J. Collins, the Misses M'Girr, Guy, Daley, the hon. treasurers (Mrs. John Hughes, Mrs. L. C. Russell Jones), and the hon. secretaries (Mrs. MacGuire and Mrs. Wynn Roberts). Apologies for non-attendance were received from Mrs. W. F. Brennan and Mrs. Fairfax Ross. Business in reference to the catering, band, &c., was dealt with.

Miss Eadith Walker returned from her visit to Hobart during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Flood have returned to Sydney much earlier than was expected, and have been staying at the Grosvenor until removing to Woodside, the charming house of the Hon. C. E. Pilcher, which they have taken for a term.

There was a large and fashionable gathering at the Athenæum Hall, Waverley, last evening, assembled at the invitation of Signor Lardelli, to hear his comic opera "Catherine." Madame Lardelli, Mrs. C. A. Edwards, and Mr. H. T. Brewer sang the solo portions, which are very taking, and Herr Gerard Vollmar played the 'cello obligato to the tenor air. Signor Lardelli made his share very entertaining. Between the two acts the Hon. W. J. Trickett asked those present to join by acclamation in thanks to Signor Lardelli and those who so kindly assisted him in the delightful treat he had given, and spoke eulogistically of the opera and libretto, at the same time reminding the company that the work would be heard at much greater advantage next month. After the second part Mr. Hewlett (Mayor of Waverley), and Mr. Magney (Mayor of Woollahra) followed in similar strain, and invited the co-operation of all present in ensuring the talented composer a worthy "send-off." The audience included Mrs. and the Misses Trickett, Mrs. Neville Griffiths and Miss Griffiths, Miss Gurney, Mrs. and Miss Kemmis, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil White, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Griffiths, Mdlle. Soubeiran, Mrs. Brown (author of the libretto), Mrs. Kingsmill Shaw, Mr. W. Beattie, Mrs. Alban Riley, Mrs. Sands, Mr. Arthur Sands, Mrs. Robert Sands, and a crowd of well-dressed ladies quite filling the hall.

The Hon. Boyd Morehead and Miss Seymour were married on Wednesday last at Brisbane. Details of the wedding have not yet reached us.

EASTER RAILWAY ARRANGEMENTS.

In addition to the special cheap excursions previously mentioned, the Railway Commissioners have arranged for the issue of cheap excursion tickets by various specified trains during the holidays, from Sydney to Mittagong, Moss Vale, Bundanoon, Goulburn, Cooma, Nowra, Wyong, Newcastle, Mount Victoria, Esbank, Orange, and Mudgee, thus bringing the leading pleasure resorts within reach of metropolitan holiday-makers. These tickets, together with the ordinary cheap tickets issued this day (Saturday), Good Friday, and Easter Saturday, will be available for return until the 24th instant. The customary holiday excursion tickets from all stations to all stations, except locally, for short distances on the Sydney and Newcastle suburban lines, will be issued until Easter Monday, that day included, and be available for return until the 19th instant. There will be cheap combined railway and steamer trips from Sydney to the Hawkesbury on Easter Saturday and Monday, and to the Cowan Creek fishing grounds on Good Friday. On Good Friday, Easter Saturday and Monday, excursion trains will be run between Sydney, the National Park, and Illawarra suburban stations, the train service between Sydney and Waterfall being considerably increased. For the convenience of visitors to the Kurrajong Heights, special trains will be run on the Richmond line, and in the country there will be additional trains between Singleton, West Maitland, and Newcastle, and between the latter place and Toronto, on Lake Macquarie.

A correspondent writes in Nature:—"A puffing adder, Heterodon platyrhinus, caught by the writer in May, 1894, exhibited a most curious instance of feigned death which may be worthy of record. The snake when discovered at first tried to escape, but on being captured it turned on itself with mouth wide open, head thrown back sharply, and tongue limp and protruding. The mouth remained open thus to its fullest extent, while the head and upper part of the body thrashed violently from side to side for a few times, and then his snakeship rolled over on his back, and after a few convulsive movements became apparently lifeless. The body was then quite limp, and remained in whatever position it was placed, providing the snake was on his back, but when turned over in the proper position, he immediately rolled back by an almost imperceptible muscular contraction. When struck lightly, pinched, or held up by the tail, there was very slight resistance. He continued in this state for about half an hour, when, no attention having been paid to him, he resumed his normal position. A little teasing caused a repetition of this performance a number of times afterwards, and it did not vary in any essential particular. It would be interesting to know whether this is a ruse peculiar to individuals of this species."

POPULARITY.

"Daisy Bell" has been deposed,
And "Sweet Marie" is reigning,
But ere the present year has closed
Her glory will be waning.
And so, no doubt, 'twill ever be,
They bloom and wither early,
So different from "MY FAVOURITE" TEA,
Whose fame increases yearly.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, APRIL 5.

In Chambers.—(Before the CHIEF JUSTICE.)

EX PARTE WILLIAM HENRY GREASLEY.

Dr. Patterson appeared for William Henry Greasley and moved for a rule nisi for a writ of habeas corpus directing his wife, Mary Ann Greasley, to deliver up to him their infant son, William Greasley, aged 7 years. Mr. C. Bull appeared for the respondent, who, he stated, was at present in Newcastle, but would return to Sydney with the child upon receiving the rule nisi.

Rule granted, returnable on Monday next.

In Equity.—(Before Mr. Justice OWEN, Chief Judge in Equity.)

RE SYDNEY PERMANENT FREEHOLD, LAND, AND BUILDING SOCIETY.

Mr. Rich, instructed by Messrs. Stephen, Jaques, and Stephen, appeared for the above society, and applied for an order sanctioning an amended arrangement between the company and its creditors agreed to at the meeting on the 25th March last, namely, that interest at the rate of 2½ per cent. per annum should be paid from the 25th March, 1895, but should only become payable when the depositors' principal claims upon the society had been liquidated. There was no appearance in opposition to the motion.

Order as asked.

(Before Mr. Justice MANNING.)

TERRY V. THOMSON AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Gregory Walker and Mr. G. E. Campbell, instructed by Messrs. Street and Patterson, appeared for the plaintiff; and Sir Julian Salomons, Q.C., Dr. Donovan, Q.C., and Mr. Thomson, instructed by Mr. Elliott Meyer, for defendants.

The case has already been stated. The plaintiff prayed for an account of all moneys received by the late Alexander Thomson and himself, and all moneys paid by him since the death of Thomson in connection with the Mulgoa Irrigation Company; that the defendants might be ordered to pay to the credit of the bank such sums as might be found to be due to them, and to pay to the plaintiff the amount found to be due to him by such account, such amount to be a first charge. Specific performance of the agreement by Thomson to lodge with the bank the securities which he held from the company was also asked for, and an injunction to restrain defendants from selling, assigning, or encumbering the mortgaged property.

The evidence having been concluded, the further hearing of the case was adjourned till Wednesday next with a view to a possible settlement.

In Bankruptcy.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice MANNING.)

MOTION UNDER SECTION 130 (PART HEARD).

Re Alexander Burns. This was a motion on behalf of the official assignee for an order directing the Kauri Timber Company, Limited (respondents), to pay to the official assignee the sum of £181 received from the bankrupt by the company on or about the 4th November, 1893, principally upon the ground that the payment was made in pursuance of an alleged agreement for composition with Burns's creditors, and such agreement was void as against his creditors. Mr. Gordon and Mr. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Co., appeared on behalf of the official assignee in support of the motion; and Mr. Scholes, instructed by Messrs. Cope and King, appeared on behalf of the respondent company.

Argument was continued, and the case stands part heard.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. ARTHUR HENRY.)

JUDGMENT.

Re J. F. Armstrong and others v. William M'William, adjourned hearing of creditors' petition. Mr. H. E. Cohen for petitioners, Mr. H. A. Lyons for respondent. The Registrar said he stated on Monday that he would allow the matter to stand over to permit the respondent to proceed with his action, but reserved his decision as to any conditions. He did not think the estate represented by the petitioners could be prejudiced by the delay. The date of the act of bankruptcy would be the 4th March last, whether the order was made now or two months hence. There was no property of any kind, so far as he was aware, which would deteriorate in the meantime. And after the action had been determined and respondent failed to make payment in full to all his creditors, petitioners would not be prevented from proceeding with the petition. Whether there was any ground for believing the result of the action might place the debtor in the position of being able to pay all his creditors he could not say; but, the petitioners having now the right to ask for the sequestration order, he did not think they should be placed in jeopardy of having to pay their own costs in the event of the respondent action failing. He would therefore allow this petition to stand over on the respondent undertaking to bring on his case against the petitioners as early as possible, and on his paying to the petitioners their costs awarded to them by the order of the Judge in Bankruptcy of the 5th March last, within 14 days after taxation, and on his finding security to the amount of £100 towards any costs which might be incurred by the petitioners in defending the action of the respondent, to be paid should the respondent fail to obtain a verdict in his favour. The security to be by bond, with two securities whose names should be submitted to the petitioners' solicitor, and approved by him. Should the respondent fail to pay the costs within the 14 days, and to find the security within the like time, or should the respondent fail to bring on his action at the earliest possible time, then the petitioners to be at liberty to re-enter the petition, when the sequestration order would be made as of course.

EXAMINATION UNDER SECTION 30.

Re J. M'Culloch Gillies. This was an examination under section 30. Arthur Gibson was sworn and examined by the official assignee, and the bankrupt was examined, and denied that he had hidden any property. The examination was closed.

PUBLIC EXAMINATION.

Re Richard Stout. This was an adjourned public examination. The bankrupt was examined by Mr. J. L. Campbell for the official assignee. The bankrupt was ordered to file accounts by the 20th instant, and the examination was adjourned to 3rd May.

HEARING OF CREDITORS' PETITION.

Re G. E. Wise and Co. v. James Joseph Gooley. Adjourned hearing of creditors' petition. An affidavit had been filed as to the terms of settlement in this matter, and leave was given to withdraw the petition.

SEQUESTRATION ORDERS.

Thomas Fletcher, of Narrabri, bootmaker. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

James Hayes, of East Kangaloon, labourer. Mr. N. F. Gibbin, official assignee.

Jane Luxton, of No. 27 Clarence-street, Sydney, widow, boardinghouse-keeper. Mr. A. Morris, official assignee.

Michael Daisy, of Horseshoe Bend, West Maitland, carrier. Mr. A. Morris, official assignee.

Edward Davenport Allen, of Lismore, chemist. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

Alexander Ross, of Taree, dealer. Mr. A. Morris, official assignee.

William Wallace Stewart, of Wingham, farmer. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

(Probate Jurisdiction.—Before the REGISTRAR.)

The following were granted:—Probates: Robert Kendall, Ann Naughton, Reginald John Whitchurch, Humphrey Leary, Oswald Rowland Cunynghame, Edward John Alaric Harvey, Christian Scherf. Administrations: Isabella Ruane, Louis M'Crohon, Harriette Joanston, Joseph Henry Hartwell, George M'Guiness Cotteroft, William Clark, Edward Ogilvie Bundock, Joseph Frederick Lee, William Edward Lewis, Archibald Upton Telfer, Mary Davis, Herbert Theophilus Hughes, William John Burnett, James Anthony Lefroy Kay.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.—FRIDAY.

(Before Mr. Justice WINDEYER and a jury.)

The Attorney-General, Mr. J. H. Want, Q.C., with Mr. C. G. Wade, prosecuted on behalf of the Crown.

ALLEGED WIFE POISONING AT NORTH SYDNEY.

The hearing of the charge against George Dean of having, at North Sydney, on 4th March, 1895, feloniously administered poison to his wife Mary Dean with intent to murder, and on a second count with feloniously causing poison to be taken by Mary Dean, was continued. As on the previous day Mr. R. D. Meagher appeared for the accused.

Evidence showing the effect of poisons such as arsenic and strychnine on the human body was given, then

Caroline Seymour, the mother of Mary Dean, was examined. She said she was present when her daughter's baby was born on 26th December, and remained in the house until about a month later. On 13th January she mixed some groats for her daughter, and left them on the dining-room table to cool. At this time the accused, witness, and Mrs. Dean were the only persons in the house, and Dean was having his breakfast while the groats were cooling on the table. Witness took the groats up to her daughter, who partook of half a cup of the food, and she ate the rest. About 20 minutes later both witness and her daughter began vomiting, and became very ill. Accused attended to both of them. At this time Dr. Newmarch was in attendance on Mrs. Dean, but, as he did not call that day to see her, accused next day went and told the doctor that witness and her daughter were ill, and he got them some medicine. Some days later witness made some beef tea for her daughter, and left it in the kitchen while she ironed in the dining-room. When she took the stuff up to her daughter the latter, after tasting the beef tea, said she could not eat it, it was so bitter. Witness tasted it, and found this was so, although when she had tasted it while it was in the kitchen it was not at all bitter. Mrs. Dean asked her husband to taste the beef tea. He said it was all right, although she (witness) could not say that he put the spoon to his mouth. Soon after this Dean told witness to leave his house, and she went to service to Mrs. Lees. On Monday, 4th March, Mrs. Gail told her that her daughter was ill, and she went to see her, reaching Dean's place about 10 minutes past midnight. She found Mrs. Dean very ill, vomiting and purging, and sat up with her until 4 o'clock giving her limewater, soda and milk, and gruel. At 4 o'clock she went to give her daughter her medicine, when she said there was a powder to go in it. Witness did not put the powder in as she could not find one. That day she went away to do her work and returned to Dean's house between 5 and 6 o'clock the same night. Accused was then with his wife, who was vomiting continuously. Witness asked Dean what was the matter. He replied, "I don't know," and she remained at the house all the next day. From something her daughter said witness looked under the chest of drawers and observed a tumbler with some black liquid in it, containing a sediment of white powder. When Dr. Newmarch called on Mrs. Dean on Wednesday she asked him if he had told her husband to put a powder in her medicine. The doctor said he had not. Mrs. Dean then asked her husband about the matter declaring that a couple of days before he had put powder in the medicine. This he denied. Next day witness told accused that Dr. Newmarch had found poison in the medicine, and he said he knew nothing about it.

Cross-examined by Mr. Meagher witness said that she did not call at her daughter's house from the time Dean told her to leave until the 4th March when she heard she was ill. She called at Gail's several times, but did not ask after her daughter's health. She left her son-in-law's house after a quarrel with him. He said that it was time that his wife was down to attend to her household duties. Witness replied that Dr. Newmarch had stated that she must not get up for a week, as she was so weak. Accused told her that the quicker she cleared out the better, and three days later she left. She did not during the quarrel say to Dean, "You will remember this, you scoundrel;" but her daughter did faint. Dean picked up a chair to strike her (witness), and her daughter threw her arms around his neck, and as he pushed her away she fainted. On February 29 she took her daughter to the circus, and sent her home, as she complained of pains in the back. Gail did not know that there was any unpleasantness between witness and her son-in-law, although he did remove her furniture when she left his house.

Mr. Meagher: Have you been in Melbourne? Yes.

Have you been connected with the police there?

Witness (to his Honor): Must I answer this?

His HONOR: Yes.

Mr. Meagher: Have you been convicted and served a sentence there? Yes.

His HONOR: How long ago was that? Some 28 or 30 years ago.

Mr. Meagher: After you served that sentence, did you go by the name of Asprey? That was my husband's name.

Did you give information to Detective Foster that led to his conviction? No.

After his conviction did you take up with a man named Jones? No; I did not.

Jones visited you at Surry Hills? He did.

You knew him in Melbourne? Yes.

Did he come to this colony the same time as you? Yes.

Is there any truth in the statement that you and Jones kept an improper house in Melbourne? I never did such a thing in my life.

Did you know a place at Surry Hills kept by a Madame Rose? I did.

Did you know that it was a notorious house? Yes. She lived there nine years, and I lived opposite for 13 years.

Did you take charge of the house during the absence of the proprietress? Yes.

Do you remember, when cabs came, going messages to houses in the neighbourhood? I went messages with notes, but I don't remember if they were after cabs came. When I took charge of the house there were no ladies there.

Do you know the people you took the notes to? I do not.

Were you paid for taking these notes? I don't remember.

Did you say at the police court that you were paid? Yes, I remember now I was paid.

Re-examined by Mr. Wade, witness said she lived with her son-in-law and his wife at Mosman's Bay after they were married. Her daughter told her her husband said she would have to go, and she went. She did not have any words with accused. (At this stage witness said her daughter was the only one she had in the world, and burst out crying.) She denied that she had ever in any way charged accused with administering poison to his wife, and she had never in any way suggested to her daughter that she should take poison to get Dean out of the way. She was put in gaol in Melbourne because she received something from a gentleman. She would not tell who gave it to her, and she was convicted of stealing.

W. M. Hamlet, the Government Analyst, gave evidence as to finding arsenic and strychnine in various articles that came out of Dean's house.

William James Guise, chemist, said he had made up prescriptions for accused, but they contained neither arsenic nor strychnine. Another chemist named Thomas Edmund M'Donald said he made up a prescription for Dean which contained about two-sevenths of a grain of strychnine. There were 16 doses in the bottle, and all the strychnine would not have hurt anyone. There was no arsenic in the tonic. Other witnesses gave unimportant evidence for the Crown, and the case for the prosecution was closed a few minutes past 2 o'clock.

Accused elected to give evidence on his own behalf. He said he was a master mariner holding a certificate from the Marine Board of New South Wales. He was 27 years of age, and had been in the employ of the North Shore Steam Ferry Company for 11 years. He had saved life off the Millie on two occasions, and off the Opossum he saved a man. In 1891 he saved the lives of two females and was publicly presented with a watch. He was married to his wife on the 8th March, 1894, after an eight months' acquaintanceship. He first heard about Madame Rose, Jones, and the Melbourne theft during the police court proceedings on 23rd March. While he was visiting Surry Hills he saw nothing in his wife's nor her mother's conduct to lead him to think that the latter was not respectable. Never during his married life had he insulted his wife by references to herself and family. He had never accused his wife of having a child of which he was not the father, but on several occasions his wife, to whom he gave £4 every fortnight, asked him what he did with the money. He received £5 every fortnight, and was paying off his land and timber. She said, "I suppose you want some of that to keep your illegitimate children." He denied that he had any, and his wife said a woman had told her he had; she, however, would never confront him with the woman. After the mother-in-law came to his house he and his wife began to disagree. This was in April, 1894, when he was living at Mosman. Mrs. Seymour on that occasion stayed at his house six weeks, and after she had gone he and his wife lived on happy terms. While his mother-in-law was in the house his wife was disagreeable. He insisted on his mother-in-law leaving his house both at Mosman and North Shore after quarrels. He knew a Miss Cassin, but since he had been married he had not seen her three times, and had not in any way kept company with her. He had never told his wife that Miss Cassin was the girl he ought to have married and would marry when he got free from his wife. His duties kept him on the boat from 11.30 p.m. until 6 or 7 next morning. On Friday, 1st March, he left home about a quarter past 11 o'clock. His wife then appeared in her usual state and there was no unpleasantness between them. He returned home the next morning at half-past 7 o'clock, and found his wife up and at the door. He went to bed at 9 o'clock, and remained there until 6 o'clock, when his wife awoke him. She was pleasant and jolly, and there was no trouble. They had tea together, then his wife said, "I don't feel well." He asked her if she would have some brandy or porter, and on her replying in the affirmative he went and got some brandy and a bottle of porter. When he returned with this about 9 o'clock his wife was in bed, and said she would have the porter, and he gave her some in a glass, and afterwards took some himself. He kept his wife company until 11 o'clock, and before leaving for his work he gave her some milk and a few drops of brandy. It was 9 o'clock when he got home on Sunday morning, and the first thing he did was to go upstairs to see her. When he asked his wife how she felt, she said she had slept well, and would have some porter. He put this in a glass which he took off the little table, after rinsing it out, and as there was no head on the liquor he advised her not to take it, as it was flat and sour. She asked him to put some sugar in it, but he thought it would make her sick, and he drank the porter himself. There was no white powder in the tumbler, and when he took it into the bedroom he was draining the water out of the glass. He afterwards made a cup of tea and some toast for his wife. She had said her head was aching, and that was why he would not give her the porter. At her request he went for Mrs. Adey, who went up to his wife while he had his breakfast. His wife during the morning complained that she could not keep anything on her stomach, and he urged her to have a doctor, but she declined, saying she would be all right in the morning. He gave her some milk, and spent the morning nursing the child. At 2 o'clock, at his wife's request, he went to bed, and she called him at 6 o'clock, and by her desire he made her a cup of tea and gave her some bread and butter and jam. He left home at a quarter to 10 for his work, and returned next morning at half-past 7 o'clock. He went straight up to his wife, who was in bed, and again he attended to her wants, but as she complained of her head and began retching, he in the afternoon said, "I'll stand this no longer; you must and will have the doctor," and he then went for Dr. Newmarch, who arrived at his place about 8 o'clock. He emphatically denied putting any powder in the medicine, or that he had ever told his wife that Dr. Newmarch had ordered a powder. When he left for work that night his wife kissed him affectionately, and he left her food and a stick with which to attract the attention of a neighbour if she wanted anything. Next morning when he returned home a neighbour asked him what it was that his wife had been drinking out of a bottle containing a white powder—poison. Accused said he knew nothing about the matter, and went straight up and interrogated his wife. She replied, "Never mind about that; the doctor has got the bottle," and made a similar reply when asked why she had not spoken to the doctor in reference to the matter on the previous evening. As soon as he heard about the bottle he wanted to go for the doctor, but his wife asked him not to leave her, and he sent a neighbour named Thompson for the doctor. When Dr. Newmarch arrived he (accused) was lying on the bed crying because he heard his wife had taken poison. After the doctor had finished talking to his wife, he told her to tell him all about the bottle out of which she had been drinking poison. Dr. Newmarch said, "I'll look after that; I'll look out for the bottle." On the Thursday the doctor asked him if he gave his wife a powder in her medicine on the Monday. Accused denied it, and said he had never had powders like some the doctor had in his hand. He also denied this in front of his wife, and she said, "You did, George." He emphatically swore that he had never put any poison in anything for his wife, and he had not been in possession of arsenic nor strychnine. The police made a rigid search in his house for poison, but found nothing, and he never knew of any being in the house. When his wife refused to drink the beef tea on the ground that it was bitter, he told Mrs. Seymour not to throw it away, and he would drink it for his supper, but Mrs. Seymour did throw it away.

Cross-examined by the Attorney-General, accused said he had always been on friendly terms with his wife, and the poisoning business was a mystery to him, for he knew of no reason for her attempting to poison herself. He did not offer any explanation to Dr. Newmarch to account for the medicine turning white and looking curdled. This was accounted for by the fact that he poured the medicine into a tumbler which contained a little lime and milk which the doctor had prescribed as a beverage for his wife. He had never suggested to his wife that she should have allowed him to take the bottle with the white powder in it to the doctor. When he heard from Dr. Newmarch that the bottle had been sent to the Government Analyst, accused asked him to find out all about it and the stuff that had been placed in the bottle. He (Dean) was the only person who had the handling of the food of which his wife had partaken prior to the fits of vomiting. He had only recently learnt that it was the police who had laid the information against him, and that Mrs. Seymour had positively refused to do so.

Dean was in the box three and a half hours, and the next witness called was Margaret Cassin, who said since his marriage Dean had avoided her. She had seen him twice since he was married—once in the company of his wife, and on the second occasion casually.

Captain Thomas Summerbelle, manager of the North Shore Ferry Company, said he thought everything that was good of accused, after 11 years' supervision of him.

This was the case for the defence. In reply, Dr. Newmarch denied that when he went to Dean's on the Tuesday Dean was lying on the bed crying. He was not in the room during this visit to Mrs. Dean. Witness did not say a word to accused about the bottle until Wednesday night. Then he let Dean know he was accused of the crime, but Dean denied all knowledge of it. That night he was lying on the bed crying.

Mrs. Dean, recalled, denied having accused her husband of having to support illegitimate children.

Mr. Meagher, in addressing the jury, said that the Attorney-General had opened the case in a characteristically fair manner, but the evidence had not supported his opening. The only motive alleged as inspiring the crime was that Dean lived unhappily with his wife, but what tittle of evidence had been adduced indicating that accused had not acted in a true husband-like way during the whole of the union? Mr. Meagher occupied more than three hours in the delivery of his address, and the Attorney-General replied in a speech occupying nearly an hour and a half. At 10 minutes to 12 his Honor intimated that he would sum up on Saturday morning, and the case therefore remains unfinished.

METROPOLITAN QUARTER SESSIONS.

FRIDAY.

(Before his Honor Judge BACKHOUSE and a jury.)

Mr. Merewether prosecuted for the Crown.

STEALING FROM A DWELLING.

Walter Montague, George Harris, and Thomas Hare were charged with having on 15th March at Newcastle stolen jewellery and money from the house of John Sample. The case for the Crown was that the accused lived at the house of the prosecutor, who keeps an hotel at Newcastle, during the race week. On the evening of the date mentioned in the indictment the prosecutor heard noises in his bedroom and immediately went there, when he discovered that his watch and chain and some money were missing. Hare had disappeared, and though the other prisoners were questioned they were not detained. Soon after this the prosecutor received a letter saying that if he sent £10 to the Park-street post-office, Sydney, he would receive his watch back. Sample at once communicated with the police, who sent a letter to the post-office, and a few days afterwards the accused, Montague, called for it, signed a receipt, and was arrested by the police officer, who was waiting. Harris, who was waiting outside, was arrested, as was also Hare a few days later. The jury, having retired, brought back a verdict of guilty. Harris was sentenced to five years' penal servitude, and Hare and Montague to three years'.

CHARGE OF PERJURY.

Sarah Fennell, a married woman, was charged with having committed perjury in connection with evidence given in a civil action tried at the District Court. Mr. Gannon, instructed by Mr. R. S. Lambton, defended. In summing up his Honor said that there was a case to go to the jury, but that was all. The jury retired and brought back a verdict of not guilty, and the foreman expressed their unanimous regret that Mrs. Fennell should have been brought before the Court on so serious a charge. His Honor said that this expression might possibly be some compensation to Mrs. Fennell for the pain and trouble she had suffered.

SENTENCES.

Vivian Oliver Smith, larceny, 12 months' hard labour, the sentence to be suspended under the First Offenders Act, on his providing two sureties of £100 each to be of good behaviour for 12 months, and on his paying the sum of £38 to Frank Hoskins; James Hobbs, stealing in a dwelling, six months' hard labour; George Reynolds, breaking and entering, four years and six months' penal servitude; Piet William Boom, horse-stealing, six weeks' hard labour; Ernest Vince, stealing in a dwelling-house, two years' hard labour, concurrent with previous sentence; Robert Walpole, six months' hard labour, concurrent with previous sentence.

POLICE COURTS.

THE MATCHBOX TRICK.

At the Water Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Whittingdale Johnson, S.M., James Goodwin, alias Bond, and Joseph Williams, on remand, were charged with having, in company with another, stolen one sovereign by the matchbox trick, from one William Lux. The evidence showed that on Wednesday morning prosecutor was standing at the General Post Office looking at a list of telegrams when the accused Williams went up to him and asked whether he was a stranger in Sydney. Lux replied that he was, but was leaving by the German steamer the Sachsen. Williams said that he was leaving by the same vessel, and Lux informed him that he was working his passage as steward. Williams told him he was going to obtain a ticket to see the mint, and Lux asked whether it would not do for two, and he replied "yes" and promised to meet Lux at 11.30. They met and went to the domain, Williams on the way asking him if he had any money. He replied that he had a little. They sat under a tree near the art gallery, when the accused Goodwin came up. Williams told Lux that Goodwin had dropped something, and on Lux searching he found a box like the one produced. He wanted to return it to Goodwin, who had passed on, but Williams kept him back, and said, "Never mind; he may only have kicked it." Lux then sat down and opened the box with ease about 20 times. Goodwin returned shortly after, searching about, saying that he had lost a box, describing it, and adding that he had received it from a captain of a Fiji boat, who told him none would ever be able to open the box. Lux laughed at the idea, and said he would be able to open it. Then a third man came up. Ultimately Lux was induced to bet £1 that he could open the box, but did not succeed, and Goodwin went away with the money. Lux gave information to the police at night, and next day went with Constable Duncan Macdonald into Hyde Park, where they found the accused lying on the grass, and Lux gave them in charge. In Park-street Williams tried to drop the box produced. The accused offered prosecutor a couple of pounds not to proceed against them. Each of the accused was fined £5, or two months' imprisonment.

ADULTERATED LIQUORS.

In the Summons Division of the Central Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Giles, S.M., Inspector Lenthall proceeded against a number of publicans on a charge of having sold adulterated liquor.

George Bunce, licensee of the George Hotel, Pitt and Market streets, was charged that he did sell to the prejudice of the purchaser, Inspector Lenthall, a liquor which was not of the substance or quality of the liquor demanded, to wit brandy. Accused pleaded guilty. The certificate of the Government Analyst showed that the distillate of the sample was 35 degrees under proof, and that it was manufactured from common spirit, colouring matter, and essences very much diluted. Bunce was fined £20, with £5 5s professional costs, £1 1s Analyst's costs, and 5s 6d costs of court with levy and distress. Two cases of adulterated whisky and adulterated rum were withdrawn.

Thomas F. Hart, of the Club House Hotel, Abercrombie-street, was similarly charged with having sold adulterated brandy. The certificate of the Analyst showed that the liquor was manufactured from impure (probably illicit) spirit, that it was unfit for human consumption, and was 35.6 degrees under proof. He was fined in the same amount as Bunce, with the same costs.

George Hesson, licensee of the Madeira Inn, Devonshire-street, was charged with having sold adulterated brandy. He pleaded guilty. The certificate of the Analyst was to the effect that the liquor had an alcoholic strength of 34.2 degrees under proof, being equal to ordinary brandy diluted with 20 per cent. of water. The spirit was found to be of a crude and immature nature, and unfit for human consumption. Hesson was dealt with in the same manner as the other two accused. A case of adulterated whisky was withdrawn.

Charles William Wall, licensee of the Locomotive Hotel, Regent-street, was charged with having sold adulterated rum. He pleaded guilty. The certificate of the Analyst showed that the specific gravity of the distillate was ·964, that the percentage of absolute alcohol by weight was 25.7, and that the alcoholic strength was 45½ degrees under proof. It was manufactured from raw immature spirit (probably illicit), coloured with burned sugar and tea infusion flavoured with cocculus indicus and cayenne pepper, and diluted with water. It was totally unfit for human consumption. Wall was dealt with in a similar manner to the other accused. A case of adulterated whisky was withdrawn.

CHARGES OF THEFT.

Before Captain Fisher, S.M., yesterday, James Lamb was charged with having fraudulently appropriated a quantity of fruit, value £1 10s 6d, the property of James Robinson. Accused was employed by Robinson on 7th February to sell fruit. The fruit was sold, but Lamb did not return any money. He was fined £3 with 5s 10d cost, or two months' imprisonment.

John Edward Parnell, 32, was charged with having stolen a "dubois" water trap, value 4s 6d, the property of Ernest James Smith, from a house in course of erection in Petersham. Parnell was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

At the Water Police Court yesterday, Edward Galvin and Henry White were charged with having, in company with another, stolen two boxes of butter, value £5, the property of the Metropolitan Ice Company. Constable James Bass stated that at 10.30 on Thursday night, when on duty in Kent-street, he saw both the accused, each carrying a case of butter. When they noticed the officer they dropped the butter and ran in different directions. Constable Bass pursued Galvin, and caught him at the water's edge, when he said, "I will go quiet; you need not put the cuffs on." Witness then took him to No. 4 station, and charged him with stealing the butter. Yesterday morning, in company with Constables Adair and Wilson, witness went to a house in Jenkin-street, off Kent-street, and arrested the accused Henry White, and took him to the station. Accused made no reply to the charge. William Webb, a carter, stated that on Thursday he received 50 cases of butter from the Metropolitan Ice Works to deliver at the Central Wharf, but on arrival there he was two cases short. He had 50 cases when he started, and the two must have been taken off en route. The boxes produced were the missing ones. Galvin's defence was that he met a stranger in Kent-street carrying the two cases, and at his request helped him by carrying one, when the policeman came up and the second man then ran away. The accused White was not there. White's defence was an alibi. Galvin was sentenced to six months' hard labour and White was discharged.

At the Newtown Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Edwards, S.M., Sydney Griffiths, age 20, was charged with having stolen four shirts and four collars from the residence of Victor Miller, at Newtown, of the value of £1, on 30th March, 1895. The father of the accused stated that his son had developed religious mania and was not able to look after himself. Accused was sentenced to be imprisoned for two months with hard labour.

HAWKING WITHOUT A LICENSE.

At the Balmain Police Court yesterday before Mr. George H. Smithers, S.M., William Mather, aged 23 years, a traveller, was proceeded against by Police-officer James Rourke for hawking goods without a license. The evidence went to show that the accused, who was a recent arrival from Melbourne, called at the residence of Mrs. Ward, No. 4 Goodsir-street, Balmain, and offered a piece of blue serge for £1. After some conversation the constable came on the scene and arrested the accused, who admitted to the police that he did not have a license. He was fined £1, in default levy and distress or seven days.

OPERATIONS OF THE LABOUR BUREAU.

THE APPROACHING WINTER.

The operations of the Labour Bureau seem to indicate that the approaching winter will be a severe one for the unemployed. This, at all events, is the conclusion which the superintendent, Mr. Creer, has come to. He says that persons in search of employment are coming in from the country districts. At present there are between 8000 and 10,000 unemployed in the city and suburbs; and if a proposition which at one time was seriously entertained of remunerating men who laboured at levelling the building sites overlooking the Centennial Park had been adopted, the effect of it would have been to draw to the metropolis such large numbers of persons out of employment that three months hence there would have been at least 20,000 of such people in the city. Even as things are, the number of persons seeking employment upon this work is greatly on the increase. During the three years that the Bureau has been in existence 46,530 persons have been registered at it, and of this number 38,092 have been sent into the country. The total number registered for the March quarter, 1895, was 5119, as against 3878 for the corresponding quarter of 1894, being an increase of 1241. The number of men sent out during the quarter just closed was 8046, as against 4868 for the corresponding quarter of 1894, being an increase of 3478. The number of unemployed registered at the Bureau for the first three months of this year has averaged 1706 a month. During the month of March 2231 persons were sent out to work, including 747 sent to Shea's Creek, 261 sent to work in the country, and 110 sent to work in the city and suburbs; 637 fossickers were sent from the city and 315 from other places; 138 men were sent to Jerilderie en route to forest-thinning work at Moama. During the quarter just closed the sum of £417 has been refunded by men who received railway passes to enable them to get into the country.

The Centennial Park system of affording relief was brought into operation on 28th February. Previously the Government had received no return for the rations they granted, and the system of giving people relief without receiving from them something in return had a most demoralising effect, robbing the men of their independence, so that they became pauperised. The Centennial Park system cures this evil. That the system is accomplishing the object with which it was designed is shown by the rapid increase in the number of persons employed thereat. The day on which this work was initiated there were between 150 and 200 men engaged there. On Thursday last, however, the number had increased to 732. The rule is not to allow any one man to work more than one day in any particular week, and he gives for the relief he receives work which will yield the State at least a corresponding return. The rations issued gratuitously in January under the system now partially superseded (for 384 families) cost £257 10s 9d; the rations in February (for 424 families), £281. But owing to the introduction of the Centennial Park scheme the cost of rations for March (93 families) was only £109.

The cost of rations issued in connection with the Centennial Park scheme was:—For the first nine days of March, £238 12s; for the week ended 16th March, £292 11s 6d; for week ended 23rd March, £336 12s 5d; for week ended 30th March, £406 12s 9d. Some of the single men who work at the park prefer to take instead of rations, which they have not the means for cooking, tickets entitling them to receive meals at certain restaurants. Allowing for the cost of these tickets, the total cost of the park relief scheme for the month of March was about £1296. During the month of March 9707 men were employed at these works, 8204 being married men and 1503 unmarried.

THE REGENT-STREET BRANCH OF THE SYDNEY HOSPITAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I see by your columns that the directors of the Sydney Hospital are to consider at their next meeting whether their branch in the southern part of the city shall be closed. The place has been open for over 20 years, and has done a great and good work, although in a very humble building. It is for out-door patients only, and no less than 50 cases a day, I believe, are treated on an average. The branch is very central for the sick poor who live in Chippendale, Blackwattle Swamp, parts of the Glebe, Ultimo, the Haymarket, Redfern, Alexandria, Waterloo, &c. These parts include some of the very poorest of the city. The thousands of cases dealt with at the dispensary nearly all come from those neighbourhoods.

The reason for closing is the necessity of economy. I hope the Hospital Saturday collection may cause the reason to disappear. But why economise in the poorer parts of the city? Is there not the greatest need for medical aid there? Why not economise in Macquarie-street instead? If the about 250 beds there were reduced to 240, the saving should be greater than in closing the branch. The cost per head is roughly £75 a year. In the one case but few persons would suffer, while in the other it would be hundreds, and probably thousands.

It is said that outdoor patients should all go to Macquarie-street. But is the hospital not quite out of the centre of the population it is intended to serve? It will be next to impossible for the sick poor generally to walk so far. Imagine a sick man or woman walking from Redfern or Waterloo and back again! Many of the women have to carry their children. I saw a case recently of a woman with a baby in her arms and two young children dragging at her heels, and she ill; would it not be cruel to make such a poor creature journey to Macquarie-street?

I think most persons will agree with me that from the want of centrality of the hospital for outdoor patients, which forms so very important a part of its work, a branch in the crowded and poorer parts of the metropolis is an absolute necessity. When the controversy arose as to the out-of-the-way position of the Macquarie-street site, the fact of the existence of the branch kept the mouths shut of those largely interested. If it was intended to close the branch, the residents of the southern portion should in all fairness have been told before the new buildings were recommenced. Then their voices against the Macquarie-street site would have been loudly heard. Now that it is too late to complain, as the new structures are finished, it is not right to take this step. If, however, the directors should do so I am sure they will be making a great mistake, and, unintentionally no doubt, be inflicting a cruel wrong upon hundreds of poor sick people. In this time of distress through lack of employment consequent on the commercial depression, it would be a sad thing to close one of the most useful of the charitable institutions in this colony.

I am, &c.,

F. B. BOYCE.

AMUSEMENTS.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

At Her Majesty's Theatre the last nights of "Called Back" are announced, as Mr. Rignold intends to revive shortly on its former scale of spectacular splendour the version of Goethe's "Faust" which he staged with so much success some years ago. "Called Back" is being strongly rendered at Her Majesty's just now, Mr. Rignold in his subtle acting of the sleek Macari with his smile of deadly revenge, Mr. Stirling Whyte in the powerful death scene as Dr. Ceneri, and Miss Agnes Thomas in the situation in the second act as the mad Pauline—all contributing to an effective ensemble. On the afternoon of next Wednesday there will be a performance of "Called Back," in which the entire staff of the theatre give gratuitous service in aid of the Hospital Fund.

On Good Friday a sacred concert will be given at Her Majesty's Theatre, in which the North Sydney Choral and Orchestral Union, augmented by a body of 70 trained voices from the Balmain societies, will perform Haydn's "Creation." Mr. J. T. Gresty will conduct, and the soloists will be Miss Colbourne Baber, Mr. Percy Bates, and Mr. Gordon Gooch.

MISS WATTS-PHILLIPS'S DEPARTURE.

At Her Majesty's Theatre last night Miss Roland Watts-Phillips was presented with an elegant necklet and pendent and moonstone ring by Mr. Stirling Whyte, on behalf of the staff of the theatre. Mr. Whyte, in making the presentation, read an address signed by Mr. J. W. Hazlitt (stage manager) and other members of the company, by Mr. J. P. Macdonald (acting manager), Mr. C. R. Bailey (treasurer), and employees both in front and behind, testifying to the "feelings akin to sorrow with which her friends took that last opportunity of expressing their regret at her departure. They recognised in her a true artiste, and one whose hearty and cheerful co-operation in all cases of need was never solicited in vain." Mr. Whyte referred to Miss Phillips's social qualities and goodness of heart as tending to the high estimation in which she was held, and heartily wished her bon voyage by the Orizaba on the morrow. Miss Phillips, who was much affected, cordially acknowledged the many kindnesses she had received at Her Majesty's Theatre during the past seven years, and expressed the hope that one day she might revisit Australia.

LYCEUM THEATRE.

"The Case of Rebellious Susan" can only be peformed six more times, as the production of "An Ideal Husband" has been definitely fixed for next Saturday. "Rebellious Susan" may be cited as the best—perhaps the only first-rate—comedy which Henry Arthur Jones has written. It is full of charming scenes. With one of these, between Mrs. Quesnel (Miss Faber), and Sir Richard Kato, Q.C., the second act opens brilliantly. Mrs. Quesnel sets forth the treasures of a woman's heart—"treasures of devotion, treasures of self-sacrifice"—and then, half-playfully—"treasures of deceit, of treachery." "Yes," retorts Sir Richard ruefully, "I always thought there were some jewels of that sort in the dark unfathomed caves of a woman's heart!" Never before has this author written badinage which tells with such point in representation. Some reference to the forthcoming production of "An Ideal Husband" will be found in "Musical and Dramatic Notes."

THEATRE ROYAL.

Miss Maggie Moore will open her burlesque season at the Theatre Royal to-night by a revival of "Little Jack Sheppard," in which she will herself play the name-part. New scenery by Mr. John Hennings will show Dollis Hill Farm, Blueskin's Cave in the Mint, and the Condemned Cell. Mr. G. F. Pack will conduct the full orchestra and chorus, and Mr. H. R. Roberts will direct the production. Miss Maggie Moore announces that popular prices will be maintained, and the cast will include the following:—Jonathan Wild, Mr. H. R. Roberts; Blueskin, Mr. Olly Deering; Abraham Mendez, Mr. H. Daniels; Sir Roland Trenchard, Mr. E. B. Russell; Mr. Kneebone, Mr. R. Stewart; Mr. Wood, Mr. E. Haygarth; Thames Darrell, Miss Rosa Conroy; Mrs. Sheppard, Miss George Smithson; Winifred Wood, Miss Laura Roberts, &c. At the termination of the burlesque, Ouda, the aerial wonder, will leap from the dome of the theatre, and in the Mint scene there will be a short variety entertainment. Mr. J. E. Moore will again be acting manager throughout the season.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

This afternoon and evening there will be a change of programme at the Tivoli, where Messrs. Tudor and Friedman will make their first appearance in their original act "School Days." Mr. Larry Dooley will sing "Up Went M'Carthy" and other popular numbers, and the Sakers will introduce for the first time "The Man that's just Arrived in Paraguay," by Mr. J. J. Coghlan. Mr. J. W. Winton will cause his automaton M'Ginty to imitate Albert Chevalier in coster impersonations, Messrs. Pope and Sayles will contribute their new specialty "Amusements," the Misses D'Alroy and Lynne will be seen in "Lawn Tennis," and Miss Daisy Chard and other members of the company will assist. On Saturday next Miss Marie Luella, from the Princess's Theatre, Melbourne, and the London Gaiety, will make her début in Sydney under Mr. Harry Rickards's management.

THE OPERA HOUSE.

In another column announcement is made that arrangements are now in progress for opening this theatre with an operatic variety company.

TOWN HALL ORGAN RECITALS.

The City Organist will give the customary recital of popular music at the Town Hall to-night, when will be duly performed the programme notified in another column.

THE BLAND HOLT COMPANY.

The Bland Holt Dramatic Company closed their long and prosperous season at the Theatre Royal last night with a final performance of "A Sailor's Knot." Mrs. Bland Holt was awarded heaps of flowers, and Miss Hilda Spong, Mr. Holt, and the other members of the company were all received with more than ordinary warmth. Mr. and Mrs. Holt and the entire company—excepting only Miss Hilda Spong, Messrs. Cosgrove, Inman, and Simonsen, who travel overland—sailed after the performance at midnight by the Burrumbeet for Melbourne. Mr. Bland Holt will open his season there at the Theatre Royal next Saturday with "The Span of Life."

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

The Sydney Philharmonic Society will give a sacred concert at the Town Hall next (Good) Friday, when Mr. Sydney Moss will conduct the full orchestra and chorus in Rossini's "Stabat Mater." The soloists will be Mme. Emily Spada, Miss Nellie Young, Mr. Philip Newbury, and Mr. Hallewell. In the second part of the programme Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer" (Mme. Spada and chorus), the Philistines' song from "Eli" (Mr. Newbury and chorus), and "Why do the Nations" (Mr. Hallewell) will be the principal numbers. Mr. Rivers Allpress will lead the orchestra, and Mr. Wiegand will preside at the grand organ.

EASTER MONDAY CONCERT.

Elsewhere Mr. Charles Huenerbein announces the arrangements for a grand holiday concert at the Town Hall on Easter Monday. On this occasion an unusually favourable opportunity will be afforded of hearing Mme. Emily Spada and Mr. Philip Newbury in well-contrasted numbers. Mr. Newbury will sing "The Death of Nelson," and "The Holy City," in each case with grand organ accompaniment by Mr. Wiegand. The popular tenor will also join with Mme. Spada in the great garden scene from "Faust;" whilst Mme. Spada will sing Gounod's "Ave Maria" with organ, harp, and violin accompaniment, as well as "Sing, Sweet Bird," and "Angels Ever Bright and Fair." It will be seen that various well-known artists will also assist.

THE FISK JUBILEE SINGERS.

The Fisk Jubilee Singers announce three grand concerts for Good Friday, Saturday, and Easter Monday, at the Centenary Hall, York-street. A special sacred programme on Friday, with complete change of songs and choruses on the Saturday and Monday, will characterise the short holiday season of the Jubilee Singers.

Y.M.C.A. GYMNASIUM.

An athletic tournament was given by the members of the Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium in the large hall of the institution last night. There was a large attendance. Mr. J. E. Fairfax, who presided, in introducing the programme said they had come there that night to see a performance by members of the gymnasium. This class had been in existence for almost as long as the institution itself, and it had been doing a good work under the conductorship of Mr. Renshaw. It was one of the most important departments of that institution. They would see the various exercises gone through, and he was sure they would have a very pleasant evening. The late Professor Owen, in a lecture which he delivered, after giving a description of the human body, concluded in this way: "Such are the dominating powers with which we alone are gifted! I say gifted, for the surpassing organisation was no work of ours. 'It is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves.' This frame is a temporary trust, for the uses of which we are responsible to our Maker. Oh, you who possess it in all the supple vigour of lusty youth, think well what it is that He has committed to your keeping! Waste not its energies; dull them not by sloth; spoil them not by pleasures. The supreme work of creation has been accomplished that you might possess a body, the sole erect, of all animal bodies the most free, and for what? For the service of the soul. Strive to realise the conditions of the possession of this wondrous structure. Think what it may become—the Temple of the Holy Spirit! Defile it not. Seek rather to adorn it with all meet becoming gifts and with fair furniture, moral and intellectual." He did not wish to detain them longer, they had come there to see an exhibition by the members of the gymnasium. They could not overestimate the benefit of such exercises. As would be seen, they developed self-control, courage, physical judgment, and agility. He might mention that Major-General Hutton, who had promised to be present, found at the last moment that it was impossible for him to attend. The members of the gymnasium, under the conductorship of Mr. G. W. Renshaw, then went through a number of interesting athletic exhibitions. There were exercises with the Indian clubs, parallel bars, bar bells, and dumb bells. Miss Renshaw gave a very graceful and clever exhibition with the Indian clubs. The members of the classes went through some difficult exercises with great ease, some of the members displaying a great amount of competency. There was a vaulting competition over the horizontal bar for a trophy, and Mr. George Bone was the winner. A team of Naval Artillery Volunteers under Lieutenant Falk gave a cutlass exercise, and a team from the Sydney Scottish Rifles under Sergeant-major Greaves gave a bayonet exercise. Both these exhibitions were capitally performed. A tug-of-war between teams of six men each from the Naval Artillery Volunteers, Sydney Scottish Rifles, and Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium took place and was won by the gymnasium team. The entertainment throughout was most instructive. Mr. Charles Sharp played some selections on the organ and the Misses Renshaw presided at the piano.

MASONIC CLUB CONCERT.

A "picturesque" concert in connection with the New South Wales Masonic Musical and Literary Club was given last evening at the club chambers, 289 Pitt-street, before a large audience of members. The picturesqueness of the entertainment consisted in a series of stereopticon effects arranged by Bro. H. Stewart Jerdan, depicting antique statuary, English, Scotch, and Irish scenes, and appropriate slides to fit the descriptive songs. Bro. T. P. Carter-Field acted as stage manager and took a prominent part in the programme of songs and recitations. His "Little Nipper" proved a most popular item. Mr. Herbert Bentley played several piano selections as well as the accompaniments, and vocal solos were contributed by Bro. Arthur Holmes, Wor. Bro. W. C. Marshall, and Wor. Bro. J. Soutar. Hearty choruses were supplied by the brethren.

AQUARIUMS.

The Coogee and Bondi Aquariums, with their variety of attractions, will be open to the pleasure-seeking public as usual to-day.

CYCLORAMA.

The Cyclorama maintains its popularity, and boasts a large number of permanent patrons.

LECTURE AND MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.

A lecture and musical entertainment entitled "Cousin Jack's Land," took place at the Pitt-street Church school-hall last evening by the Rev. E. Tremayne Dunstan, and a large audience thoroughly enjoyed the excellent programme provided. The lecture on Cornwall, given by one, evidently racy of the soil, was none the less appreciated because it was interspersed with vocal contributions from the Æolian Glee Party, whose perfect singing was liberally applauded. Then there were solos by Miss Goulding, Mr. J. M. Jago, Miss Williams, Miss Lucas, Mr. W. T. Colyer, and the Glee Party gave some admirable contributions. The song "Sweet and Low" elicited rapturous applause. "Trelawney" and "Oberon in Fairy Land" and "The Happy Hunter" were also enthusiastically received. Miss Goulding sang "The Dear Homeland" with great feeling and expression, whilst Mr. J. M. Jago's rendering of "The King's Minstrel" was one of the features of the evening. Altogether the entertainment was a great success, a fact that was evidenced by the liberal applause bestowed on all concerned at the conclusion.

SIGNOR LARDELLI'S NEW OPERA.

The Athenæum Hall, Waverley, was crowded last night, when Signor Lardelli, assisted by several friends, performed his new comic opera, "Katherine." Considering that the usual stage accessories, such as scenery and costume which play such an important part in the success of many pieces, were absent, the opera went as briskly as possible. Madame Lardelli sang the songs allotted to Katherine; Mrs. C. A. Edwards, Hecate; and Mr. H. Brewer, Archibald.

MR. ARTHUR DEANE'S CONCERT.

The date of the complimentary farewell concert to be given Mr. Arthur Deane, prior to his departure for England, has been fixed for Thursday, April 25th, at the Town Hall. Popular prices have been generally adopted, though a few reserved chairs may be secured at Paling's, Nicholson's, and Holy and Co.'s, as announced elsewhere.

THE REV. H. R. HAWEIS.

Next Thursday evening, in the School of Arts, no larger hall being available, the popular incumbent of St. James', Marylebone, will make his first appearance in Australia, he will lecture upon "Music and Morals," a subject which he has made his own. The titles of the other lectures to be delivered in Sydney are—"Tennyson: the Poet of the Age," "Music and Noise," "American Humorists," and "Marriage: Is it a Failure, and Why?" The Miowera, by which Mr. Haweis is a passenger, is expected early on Tuesday morning.

THE BETHEL.

The ladies of the Bethel choir gave an entertainment in the Bethel schoolroom last night. About 60 sailors were present, in addition to a number of friends, and the chaplain, the Rev. J. Bennett-Anderson, presided. During the evening light refreshments were served. Among those who contributed to the programme were Miss Spain, Mr. Benham, Mr. Dudgeon, Mr. Durrell, Mr. Lindsey, Miss Finlayson, Mr. Stevens, Mr. Podmore, and Mr. Milton Rokes.

ASHFIELD DRAMATIC SOCIETY.

A dramatic and musical entertainment is to be given in the Burwood School of Arts on Tuesday, 9th instant, in aid of the institution, by the Ashfield Dramatic Society; the musical portion to be contributed by Messrs. W. Gowens, Bennett, Toussard, Springett, and other well-known artistes.

BURNS'S CLUB.

The monthly meeting of the Burns Club, the literary and musical branch of the Highland Society of New South Wales, was held in the small hall of the School of Arts last evening. Mr. Muir (vice-president) occupied the chair. An excellent programme of solos, duets, violin and pianoforte solos, and recitations was contributed during the evening by the Misses Johnson, Wright, and Muir, and Messrs. Tarrant, Muir, Passmore, and Crabtree.

HOSPITAL SATURDAY CONCERT.

A concert will be given at the Paddington Town Hall to-night in aid of the Hospital Saturday Fund. Mrs. C. A. Edwards, Miss Edith O. King, the Orpheus Glee Club (Mr. Ashcroft Edwards, conductor), the Mandolin and Guitar Club, and Messrs. Kowalski, Straus, Nathan, Addison, Cummings, Laurence Campbell, Leston, and Podenzana will all contribute to the strong programme which has been prepared for the occasion. Dr. W. J. Barkas is hon. secretary, and "million prices" have been adopted. The plan is at Paling's.

OCEAN EXCURSION.

The s.s. Namoi will make a trip to the Hawkesbury River from the Market-street Wharf, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The name of Mrs. Larkin was omitted from the list of those who contributed to the sale of work held at Randwick on Thursday.

PROPOSED WESLEYAN YOUNG PEOPLE'S GUILD.

Last evening a large gathering took place in the Newington College, Stanmore, for the purpose of considering the question of the formation of a young people's guild, in connection with the Wesleyan Church. The proceedings commenced with a service which was held in the Stanmore Wesleyan Church, at which there was a large congregation. The preacher was the Rev. J. E. Moulton, Principal of Newington College.

At the conclusion of the service an adjournment was made to the main hall of the college, where a meeting for the inauguration of the guild took place. The gathering took the form of a conversazione, and was presided over by the principal of the college. Among those present were the Revs. C. J. Prescott, M.A. (president of Ladies' College, Burwood), W. W. Rutledge, R. Bavin, W. Clarke, A. S. Swift, G. T. Baker, J. Woolnough, B. J. Meek, Mr. Lucas, M.A., B.Sc. (head master Newington College), Mr. R. P. Sellors, B.A., Mrs. Moulton, Mrs. Prescott, Mrs. Lucas, Dr. and Mrs. O'Reilly. The building was tastefully decorated. The proceedings commenced with musical selections rendered by Miss Houston and Mr. F. Barrow Morley, after which the chairman expressed his pleasure at seeing such a large and representative gathering.

The Principal of the Ladies' College (Rev. C. J. PRESCOTT) explained the objects of the proposed guild. He said the objects of the guild which he would read as drawn up by a provisional committee appointed at a meeting held in the Wesleyan Church, Redfern, should, he thought, commend themselves to the younger members of their Church. The promotion of higher education included the recognition of scientific and literary questions and results, and the bringing of modern scholarship and thought into close relationship with the distinctive work of the Church. Another object would be the extension of the influence of Methodism, which meant, among other things, the use of the agencies by which those whose mental life is influenced by the University may be kept in touch with Church life and work. Also to foster union in Christian and social aims and work. If the late John Wesley, who was a man of wide reading, and took a keen interest in every branch of learning and science, were present with them that evening, he would, he felt sure, have smiled on a guild having such objects. Good would result from gathering young people together to know each other and themselves. He concluded by reading the proposed constitution, the clauses of which it was decided should be dealt with seriatim.

A long discussion then took place in regard to the various clauses of the constitution, and finally it was decided that the name proposed, viz., "Lincoln Guild," should stand over for future consideration. It was decided that the objects should be stated as—first, the promotion of higher education and the extension of the influence of Methodism; and second, the promotion of union in Christian and social aims and work. The guild shall consist principally young persons of the age of 15 years and upwards, whose names shall be inscribed in a volume to be kept among the records of the guild. The officers shall be a dean, who shall be president of either Newington College or the Ladies' College, Burwood; two sub-deans, one of whom shall be a lady; a bursar; and two recorders, of whom one shall be a lady, and these shall form the council of the guild.

The meeting at this stage decided to adjourn until a future date for the consideration of the other clauses of the constitution.

Those present at the invitation of the president and his wife then adjourned to the dining-hall, where supper was partaken of.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1895.

The Marquis of Queensberry has been acquitted of the charge of having criminally libelled Oscar Wilde, the poet and dramatist. The jury considered that the charges made by the Marquis of Queensberry were for the public benefit.

It is expected that Oscar Wilde will be arrested.

The casualties on the side of the British forces who stormed the Malandrai Pass numbered three killed and 50 wounded. Of the enemy 500 were killed, the Maxim guns of the British causing great havoc among them.

The first brigade of the British expedition to Chitral continues to advance, and has captured the Shatkot Pass.

An additional brigade of the Indian Army is preparing for service in Chitral.

It is considered in London that New South Wales and Queensland will be early borrowers in the market.

Yesterday the Cabinet dealt with the finding of the court-martial held concerning certain charges preferred against Captain Close. The Cabinet confirmed the acquittal of Captain Close on two of the charges, but did not confirm the findings on the third and fourth charges, which were against the accused.

At the Central Criminal Court yesterday the trial of George Dean on a charge of having administered poison to his wife was continued. The evidence for the defence was concluded, and to-day the Judge will proceed with his summing up.

The district officers of the Northern Miners' Association assert that the ballot of the miners has resulted in a two-thirds majority in favour of a general strike.

The Customs receipts yesterday amounted to £10,017. Towards this the 10 per cent. ad valorem duty contributed £953 and the 15 per cent. £121.

What are the relations subsisting between Churches or ministers of religion on the one side, and the State on the other, in the matter of the celebration of marriages? This question, which is of considerable interest, has been raised by the issue of amended regulations for the clergy of the Church of England in the Sydney diocese, and by expressions of opinion by the Primate here and by the Bishop of Melbourne. The regulations lay down rules, but in some points leave a considerable amount of discretion to the individual clergyman. The greatest significance attaches to the expressions of opinion upon two specific questions: the marriage, after divorce, of the party held by the Court to have been guilty of infidelity; and the marriage of a man to his deceased wife's sister. The Bishop of Sydney has said that in his opinion no person who comes within the class first named should be permitted to be married according to the rites of the Church of England. As to marriages of the latter class, it is his opinion that, although they are recognised by the law, the law imposes no duty or obligation upon the clergy in regard to them. The Bishop of Melbourne is reported to have said that he would be sorry to hear of any clergyman in his diocese celebrating such a marriage. To some the suggestion is that in these utterances there is a virtual limitation by ecclesiastical authority of rights created by the law; but is it so?

What are the rights created by the law? The law is in some points permissive, in others restrictive, and in others obligatory. By special legislation permission has been given to the marriage of the deceased wife's sister and of divorced persons. In the former case the law validates such marriages both in the past and in the future. In the latter it provides that under certain conditions marriages may be annulled, whereby the parties are placed in the position they would have held if their marriage had never taken place, so far as freedom to marry is concerned. During the passage of the question through Parliament serious endeavours were made to introduce certain restrictive provisions in regard to re-marriage; but the attempt was unsuccessful. The law is restrictive in some other respects. It limits, for instance, the right to celebrate marriages to persons authorised by the State. It is obligatory upon them in respect of certain points, as, for instance, in connection with declarations as to age, &c. But the obligatory provisions do not extend to the point of requiring every authorised minister of religion to whom qualified people may apply for the celebration of their marriage to comply with the demand. The freedom of the individual minister to act as his own conscience may dictate, or as his relations towards the Church to which he belongs may guide him, is not interfered with expressly or by implication by the law, so far as we understand it. The civil rights of parties seeking to be married are not abridged by these ecclesiastical expressions of opinion. The law practically makes provision for the contingency of clerical refusals. Parties may be married before the registrar on making declaration that an authorised minister is not accessible for the purpose. And the registrar knows nothing about deceased wives' sisters or divorced persons.

As it appears to us, the ecclesiastical utterances referred to are legitimate expressions of ecclesiastical opinion and justifiable indications of the lines of ecclesiastical action. It is not within the province of the Churches to regulate the law as to the civil contract of marriage. But, whilst it is for the Legislature to deal with that, it is not within the province of the Legislature to interfere with matters of opinion or belief or practice under the cognisance of the Churches or regulated by the consciences of individual ministers of religion. If the Legislature had enacted that every minister of religion authorised by the State to celebrate marriages should be bound to marry all applicants, without regard to his individual sense of right and wrong or to the faith or practice of the Church of which he was voluntarily a member, that would have been not merely a virtual but a positive and direct interference with religious freedom, and there would have been cause for an agitation for the alteration of the law. The Primate is right in saying that the State does not do this; and the expressions of opinion by both Bishops are in terms which virtually recognise the individual rights of their own clergy.

There is no ground for complaint in the expression of opinion even by high ecclesiastical dignitaries; but it may be pointed out that inconvenient consequences might follow the adoption of measures savouring of undue or unwise restriction. Whilst the law has provided means for the celebration of purely civil marriages, public opinion and sentiment favour at least the association of the religious element, even where marriage is not held to be either a sacrament or simply a religious rite. In times when there are powerful influences working in the direction of laxity, and undermining the old foundations of morality, it would be unwise to do anything that might tend to weaken the force of the public opinion and feeling referred to. The law, whilst providing for purely civil marriages, manifestly treats them as the exception and not as the rule. It would not be well for the Churches or the clergy to help by their action to strengthen any tendency to convert the exception into the rule. In saying this we do not suggest the sacrifice of conscientious scruples; we rather deprecate the attempt to lay down and enforce too restrictive and too rigid rules. Even amongst marriages which may be said to belong to one or two particular classes, every case is not alike, and the cause of immorality rather than of morality might be promoted by a blind disregard of this patent fact. But, considering the matter from another and a lower point of view, and with regard to actual conditions, it may be suggested that a Church which would assume an attitude of extreme rigidity in this matter might weaken the attachment of its own people, and lose support and influence. If applicants for lawful marriage were always in doubtful cases driven away from the doors of one Church they would not necessarily go to the Registrar; but they might seek and obtain the services of the minister of another Church, who, in his conscience, saw no wrong in granting their request.

In Mr. BALFOUR's recently-published book on "The Foundations of Belief" he compels attention by the frank way in which he challenges the floating and to some extent amorphous opinion among reflective people as to the antagonism between naturalism and morality. This is the doubt of the age, not, however, that it is peculiar to this or any other epoch in the world's history, because it is as old as the world itself. One of the most powerful chapters in the well-known book ascribed to THOMAS A'KEMPIS states the antagonism between the two forces in the simplest and most direct way, and the implied conflict of opinion and judgment, of moral instinct and intellectual argument, is as familiar as the most threadbare system of inspired or consciously-constructed morality. The Oriental on his gibbet and the mediæval hermit in his cell express alike one extreme of the argument, as against the Roman poet on his Sabine farm or the modern man of the world. Neither HORACE nor the hermit would have stopped to think about the reasons why his own particular philosophy attracted him. But it is the characteristic intellectual note of our own age that we are more concerned with the reasons for a rule of life than with the best way to comply with that rule. What Mr. BALFOUR has done in this noticeable book is to set forth the nature of the conflict between the two forces even more strongly than he states the case in favour of the one to which he is intellectually or logically inclined. Writing recently on the subject, the Times remarked that it was gratifying to see that the old instinctive feelings of the nation on the highest of all problems are deeply shared by some of its most brilliant and most trusted chiefs. But even to admit this much is to imply that these "old instinctive feelings" are no longer merely instinctive and unquestioned, and by inference to admit that the old radical faiths of the people have not remained uncorroded by the analytic spirit of the time. Indeed, we hardly required this book of Mr. BALFOUR's to state the case as between the reviving naturalism and the old morality.

The cultivated man of letters has always been susceptible to the heathenish charm of the old pagan naturalism. Under favouring circumstances—not those of the slave, for instance, but of the patrician—this was easily made to appear the natural law of life. The traveller in Italy to-day can re-constitute in the old Pompeian remains the shell of an old life of luxury and ease, of roses and wine and singing-boys, of which JUVENAL and HORACE have transmitted us only the verbal echoes. This naturalism of which Mr. BALFOUR writes is, after all, the high keynote of pagan philosophy, giving the hint to the theme of beauty in old-world literature, and life, and art, and supplying the explanatory clue to that scheme of natural life and natural beauty the complete enjoyment of which was the summum bonum of pagan lives. Mr. BALFOUR deals with the abstract philosophy of all this after his own fashion. He writes, as he speaks in his place in Parliament, with the air of a student fully satisfied of the truth of his own conclusions, whether worked out or borrowed. If his favourite academical tone sometimes leads to the assumption that his conclusions belong to the former class, the admitted earnestness of the man discounts the idea of their ever being merely academical. The simple fact that the conditions of this problem should have taken hold of the mind of a rising statesman in the full whirl of active political life is sufficient to show how much alive the question he deals with is. For the individual who enjoys a sufficiency of the world's good, the problem involved seems an easy one. He has but to spend and enjoy, and seek out for himself the set of circumstances in which his spending will reap the most satisfactory harvest of enjoyment. Fortunate is it for him and his fellows if his tastes go no further than the limits of mere selfish enjoyment—if he be content to please himself without sacrificing justice or the rights of others to his pleasure. But even in this most passive expression of the natural instinct, as Mr. BALFOUR concisely points out, the philosophy of naturalism is not without its effect. Its tendency, he thinks, is to weaken those animating ideals from which all disinterested effort and all altruistic service of the race spring. In his own words, this naturalism has a tendency to eat all nobility out of our conception of conduct and all worth out of our conception of life.

And herein we have the merits of the case stated, in so far as it is not merely a question of the schools but a problem for the world at large. In these days of great wealth and great poverty, where the poor are many and the very rich are comparatively few, the issue is a very practical one indeed. Of course it would be easy enough to make each one's convenience a rule of life to himself in these matters; but such a solution would have very little effect on the incidence of the conditions of the general problem, however satisfactory it might prove to the indolence or selfishness of the individual. The whole philosophy of life hinges on the issue, and the question Mr. BALFOUR's book puts forward is practically one as between the law of egoism and the law of altruism. The extreme of either is beset by its own dangers. The competitive conditions of common life are hardly such as to allow of the rule of pure philanthropy; but then there is no immediate danger of the world being led away by a Will-'o-the-wisp like that. Rather is the tendency the other way. In these young communities, where by the very nature of things the tendency is to take the tone from facts rather than from principles, the actual wants and pleasures of life tend strongly to close the mind to the unselfish moral, or otherwise, abstract influences that gave the tone to those lives which we are accustomed to regard as the best and as presenting the highest models for imitation. It is the moral as distinguished from the merely natural law of life to which we are indebted for our finest examples of character. But if the opinion once obtained a sure foothold that all these canons and maxims of morality were no better than a word-spun web of fantasy, signifying and resting upon nothing, the selfishness which is at the base of the natural law would be unchained again, and the work of civilisation would be reversed. So Mr. BALFOUR seems to think. If naturalism be the whole truth, he says, then is morality but a bare catalogue of utilitarian precepts, beauty but the chance occasion of a passing pleasure, and reason but the dim passage from one set of thinking habits to another. This is to go back to the old paganism, but without its poetry and grace of life, and without its keynote of beauty-worship. It is to exchange these for the sordid aims and selfish methods of fin de siècle civilisation, without even the saving grace of those abstract ideals that made honourable effort always admirable, and even honest failure sometimes glorious.

Several of the younger artists have of late years left Australia to seek what fortune might befall them in older lands. Some have gone as students, with travelling scholarships to maintain them while gaining the entrée to the wider art world of Paris or of London. These few have been Victorians. Others were not youngsters who aspired to learn the technical part of their art in the pleasant studios such as M. DU MAURIER takes us to in his novel. They were, they are, men of admitted talent; they have accomplished somewhat; their pictures are known, and some hang in the public galleries; but the painters determine to attempt a larger field, and they turn naturally to England. At the farewells many things are said of which it is not necessary to take the literal meaning, for the expansion of the hour suffers somewhat when we review it in the critical daylight of next morning. It is amiable and natural that each such assemblage should declare its guest one of the bright particular stars of art, and that it should be asserted with profound conviction that he only departs to enter upon a resplendent career. No one objects; no one would be ungracious enough, on the eve of his long farewell, to present the candidate with a catalogue of the asperities of the road before him. He will meet them with a better heart for the recollection of the kind faces and voices that cheered him with this last friendliness from his associates. But beyond these agreeable things the speakers often are tempted. They ask, with a little bitterness, why a country that nourishes the youth sublime should cease to be as fond when the promise is being exchanged for performance. Why should such a one—painter, singer, or other—be obliged to leave Australia not merely to learn the perfect management of his or her gift, but to practise the accomplished art?

Perhaps there is more than a suspicion of begging the question in this. Among the artists whose names rise most familiarly to memory several are men who came hither from England or from one colony to another, and they are not heard complaining that they are not appreciated sufficiently. They are to be found working, teaching, exhibiting, with the other local artists, and it must be assumed that they do not feel the position quite so intolerable as some of the younger men do. If we were considering the general question, it might be shown from the arts of the stage and the concert-room that good work is not without appreciation from these communities; it might be said that our appreciation is apt to be liberal.

Two considerations must be equally clear, and to each one its due importance must be attached. If this colony or all the colonies—for the migration noticed here during the last week or two is not confined to Sydney—drive away their younger artists, the art of Australia is plainly in evil case. On the other hand, also, if there is no contact with the great world, but a narrow school perpetuating itself by conciliating a local interest, such a condition of things would be disastrous to true art. It would be a heavy price to pay for a local school if it became an isolated and provincial growth, deprived of vital association with the art of the English-speaking world. To that, however, they condemn us who regard the travels of every aspiring man as proof that the colonies do not encourage their artists. If we must apply to painting and sculpture the doctrine of Australia for the Australians, and accept every comer as equally inspired in his vocation, who can fail to read the consequence? To correct this error of proportion, it must be acknowledged that if the community is ever to have a painter or a series of painters capable of investing its life and habitation with that transfiguring union of idealism and realism which all of us, however dimly, discern in masterpieces, there must be first disseminated such a genial atmosphere as shall inspire the painter's genius and the people's taste.

Now, such an atmosphere grows with the growth of the nation, and the feeling of nationality. It once was thought a finality when someone asked, Who ever reads an American book? That question would have to be answered now. No doubt before the revolutionary war the American book was in the main a thing to scoff at. London was still the Delphic seat, and the colonies had not yet felt the impulse of nationality. Now the American book enters into the vast citizenship of what EMERSON called our world-embracing tongue. It may have sprung from some local patriotism, but as a piece of literature it has to make its claim good in the whole of Anglo-Saxondom. The constituency of the painter is more narrow and local than that of the writer; but so it is, allowing for this difference, with the American school of art. America has produced some notable painters, and they have done some notable achievements. Nothing of this would have been effected without the genial interaction of public and artist. Whether he studied in Boston or New York, or Paris or Florence, the American painter in his own country is not a man without honour and golden opinions. Of course the comparison in our case is all one-sided. We have not the population, the opulence settling down into great families with their galleries and portraits, the public spirit joined to private wealth which has given some cities of the Union noble collections of art work, and has afforded to the artists many worthy opportunities. Our patronage is perhaps too limited, but then the production of the artists is limited too. It is not a paradox to read of the Australian buying the great picture of the forthcoming Royal Academy Exhibition, while Australian painters are betaking themselves to London to extend their patronage. The purchaser does not get the same opportunity in Australia; if he did, then, as in America, patronage would flow by preference to the work of home men. To them our sympathy belongs, to the artists who without lamentations and disappointments are steadily working on among us, not perhaps to share the better time for which they are labouring, but on that account so much the more to be esteemed.

OUR AMERICAN LETTER.—Our correspondent in his letter this month, writing from New York on 3rd March, gives an account of the expiring Congress and its work. It is characterised as the very worst of all the legislatures in United States history. The new Congress will be a Jingo one, and it is in foreign policy that the change in affairs is expected to be most manifest. With regard to the silver question, it is said that the quarrel between the President and Congress about silver has cost the country nine millions of dollars at a stroke. The gold-bearing area in America, it is pointed out, is far from being exhausted, and the great goldfield of the future it is thought will be the valley of the Alaskan River and Yukon. Affairs in America are improving, and with the general belief that much better times are beginning, the temper of the people is improving. Speaking of the slight differences that determine the balance of parties in America, our correspondent draws attention to the big results that follow in this way from wholly inadequate causes. He points out how a majority of 3·6 votes in a total vote of 12,000,000 would deprive a minority 5,999,644 strong of even a single voice on the floor of the House. He writes: "This seems, of course, absurd, but it is historically certain that the war with England in 1812 was caused by the trespass of a pig on the grounds of a neighbour of his owner. His owner thus lost his election in the Rhode Island legislature by one vote; in the legislature, the loss of that one vote gave the United States senatorship to a Democrat; and in the national legislature, to which, by a failure of the electoral college to elect a president, the choice of the chief magistrate was relegated, the vote of Rhode Island turned the scale in favour of an England-hating candidate. 'What mighty contests rise from trivial things!' But for that pig the great sea fight of the Chesapeake and the Shannon would never have become part of the storied annals of the Anglo-Saxon race."

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS AND THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL.—It is the intention of the Government to go on next Tuesday with the consideration of the Legislative Council's amendments in the Land Bill, and perhaps also some smaller matters. Wednesday next is to be devoted to the Local Government Bill. Two or three very important postponed clauses remain to be dealt with, and it is Mr. Reid's intention to propose certain amendments which have been recommended by the municipal bodies, most of which have met with the approval of the Government. The vital points in part 1 of the code of regulations under the bill have also to be inserted. Mr. Reid says the main, and in fact the only two, points of serious consequence to be determined are the question of whether there shall be an optional method of rating in the new areas, and if so whether that optional method shall be extended to the existing municipalities. There is also the important question as to the franchise. At the close of next Wednesday's sitting the House will probably adjourn till the following Tuesday. In order to meet the convenience of country members who may not be able to return by Tuesday week, measures of minor importance only will be taken on that evening.

AMENDMENTS IN THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL.—While speaking yesterday about the Local Government Bill, Mr. Reid said the Municipal Association (which has forwarded a petition to Parliament approving of the Local Government Bill) has been engaged for some time past in preparing amendments in connection with the measure. Most of these amendments, Mr. Reid states, if not all, have been favourably received by the Government, and will probably be included in the bill. They will remove most of the serious troubles under which municipalities have been labouring for some time past owing to defects in the principal Act. One of these proposed amendments will defeat the device of leaving large areas of valuable land unimproved within municipal boundaries, letting them for grazing purposes, and paying only nominal rates on the grazing lease. It provides that no rateable property shall be computed as of an annual value of less than 5 per cent. upon the fair capital value of the fee simple of the land. Another important amendment which is proposed makes all unpaid rates a charge upon the property recoverable from any owner. Yet another amendment of consequence provides that every owner of property liable to be rated shall, within 30 days of selling or disposing or leasing the same, give notice to the council of the municipality stating to the best of his knowledge the name and address of the person to whom such property has passed.

THE NARRABRI-MOREE RAILWAY.—The Narrabri to Moree Railway Bill is now virtually through Parliament, the only thing to be done now being the acceptance by the Assembly of an amendment by the Upper House. This is almost certain to be done on Tuesday night, and the bill will then be ready for signature by the Governor on the following day. Mr Young, Minister for Works, says that several weeks ago he gave instructions that the plans and specifications and all preliminary work should be put in hand in order that he might be able to accept tenders in the shortest possible time after the passage of the Act. Consequently, as the bill will become law in a few days, the department will be ready to call for tenders for the work by the end of this month. About another month will have to be given for tenders to be sent in, and in about three months from the present date the construction of the railway ought to be in full swing. Mr. Young says he hopes also that there will not be any great delay in getting the Jerilderie to Berrigan railway and other works started.

THE RECENT COURT-MARTIAL: DECISION OF THE CABINET.—A meeting of the Cabinet was held yesterday morning, when the evidence taken at the Court-martial held respecting certain allegations against Captain Close, of the New South Wales Artillery Regiment, was considered, the Attorney-General, Mr. J. H. Want, Q.C., being present. The charges upon which Captain Close was tried were that he had been guilty of "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman" on the grounds of:—1. Seduction. 2. Suggesting an illegal procedure. 3. Suggesting an illegal operation. 4. Communicating a disease. The Court-martial acquitted Captain Close on the first two charges, but found him guilty of the third and fourth. The Cabinet yesterday arrived at a determination in the matter, and this determination was afterwards confirmed at a meeting of the Executive Council. The decision of the Cabinet was as follows:—As to the first finding of the Court it is confirmed. The second finding is also confirmed. (These were both in favour of the accused.) The third finding (which was against the accused) was not confirmed. The fourth and last finding (also against the accused) was not confirmed.

THE RABBIT CONFERENCE.—The conference on the rabbit question, which extended over four days, was brought to a conclusion yesterday. At the morning sitting motions were carried dealing with the best method for the destruction of rabbits, the measurement of the wire-netting mesh, and the matter of the payment of levies on the acreage of the land instead of on a stock basis. A report summarising the results of the conference was adopted, and will be presented to the Minister for Lands on Monday as a guidance for future legislation. In the afternoon the Minister invited the members to a harbour excursion.

COST OF IMPORTED v. LOCALLY-MADE IRON PIPES.—In reference to the return in connection with the cost of cast-iron water pipes, submitted at Monday's meeting of the Water and Sewerage Board, and referred to in the Herald on Tuesday, the following details have been prepared, showing what the cost of the pipes would have less if obtained locally, calculated at present contract rates. The total cost of imported pipes used in the first trunk line was £115,627 12s, being 11,112 tons, at the rate of £8 1s per ton. The cost of the same pipes if made locally is estimated at £152,418 4s being a rate of £7 19s 6d per ton, or a difference in favour of the imported article of £36,790 12s. For the North Shore Water Supply, 5392 tons of pipes, at £5 6s 3d per ton, were used, making a total cost of £28,645, as against £43,001 4s, which would have been the local cost estimated at £7 19s 6d per ton, or a saving of £14,356 4s. The second trunk line cost, in pipes, £65,633 17s, being 10,033 1-5 tons at £6 10s 11d, whereas at the colonial price (£7 19s 6d per ton) the cost would have amounted to £80,014 15s 5d, leaving a balance to credit of the imported article of £14,380 18s 5d. Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co.'s contracts amounted to £41,656 15s 3d, being 6843 tons at £6 1s 9d; but the local cost is estimated on the £7 19s 6d and £7 10s bases, at £51,904 19s, or a difference of £10,248 3s 9d. The average cost of these imported pipes is therefore £6 1s 7d per ton, and the total cost £251,563 4s 3d, as against an average cost of £7 18s 3d for the locally made article, and a total cost of £327,339 2s 5d, leaving a balance of £75,775 18s 2d in favour of the importations. From this is deducted £1849 17s 1d interest at 4 per cent on pipes in stock, and there is yet left a saving of £73,926 1s 1d, or over 29 per cent.

Silk from New Italy.—The Department of Agriculture has received from Mr. Giacomo Piccoli, of New Italy, a magnificent skein of silk over a yard long. It was produced from silk-worms sent to him from the Agricultural Department's silk plantation at Booral.

The Deniliquin-Broken Hill Circuit.—The Deniliquin Circuit Court was fixed for the 15th April (Easter Monday). It has now been adjourned till Wednesday, 17th April. The Broken Hill Circuit Court has also been postponed for two days—viz., from the 24th till the 26th April.

Exportation of Produce.—The steamer Woolloomooloo, which cleared for London yesterday, has large shipments of meat and butter. Butter is the chief item, the contents of the chambers containing no less than 7670 cases, equal to 190 tons. Of frozen meat the steamer has 7600 sheep and a lot of beef haunches.

A Distressed Vessel.—The barque Pisagua, which appeared off the coast of New Caledonia in distress lately, bound to Sydney, has lost nearly a third of her cargo of salt, most of it coming up through the pump when the vessel was in bad weather.

Shipbuilding at Brisbane Water.—The hundred and twentieth vessel built at Mr. Rock Davis's yard at Brisbane Water was launched a week ago to-day. It is a craft of 70 tons, built for the New Zealand coastal trade. New Zealand yards are admitted to have turned out some of the prettiest models and smartest sailers among the coasting fleet of the colonies, but for great strength and durability the New South Wales hardwood has an enormous advantage over the pine timbers of the colony across the Tasman Sea. To that fact perhaps is chiefly due the orders which now and then this country is favoured with by New Zealand shipowners.

New Music.—Dr. Charles W. M'Carthy forwards his new "Lyceum Waltz," bearing on the title-page a dedication to his little daughter Maud, together with a charming portrait of the engaging child, her violin resting on her knee. Dr. M'Carthy has bestowed great care upon the musicianly introduction, which has a certain plaintive grace of expression which gives it distinction. All the three melodies which follow are good, the second and third being full of dash and spirit, so that the work as a whole, which is being orchestrated by Mr. De Groen, should speedily become popular. Mr. H. J. Samuel publishes "The Nautch Song," sung with so much acceptance by Miss Nellie Stewart in "Mam'zelle Nitouche." M. Leon Caron's music is exceedingly vivacious, and "The Nautch Song," with its pretty portrait of Miss Stewart, may be confidently recommended. Messrs. Ricordi and Co., of London and Milan, forward "Her Lad Across the Sea," by Milton Wellings. Though the music of this new song is reminiscent, it is, perhaps, none the worse on that account from the point of view of popular approbation. The simple, tender melody has boast animation, and well expresses the pathetic yearning of the mother, whose heart aches "to clasp her boy as she used to do."

Dog Show at Hordern's.—An exhibition of prize dogs in one of the windows of Messrs. Hordern Brothers, Pitt-street, yesterday attracted great attention. The cause of the crush was an exhibit from the Kennel Club of New South Wales of prize dogs that are to be shown at the Royal Agricultural Society's ground next week, together with a number of handsome trophies for competition in connection with the Kennel Club. The dogs were "Captain," a handsome young St. Bernard, the property of Mr. G. F. Williamson; "Hardy Norseman," a bulldog, owned by Mr. R. S. Hunter, of Brisbane; and a toy terrier and its mother, owned by Mrs. G. G. Long, of Balmain. Messrs. Hordern Brothers set off the exhibit by a tasteful background of appropriate colours, and by handsome festoons of prize ribbons and the rosettes to be worn by the stewards at the show. Not the least striking feature of the display was a huntsman in full costume, who remained in the window in charge of the dogs, and afforded information to numerous dog-fanciers who inspected the animals during the day.

Easter Music at St. Andrew's Cathedral.—The music to be rendered at St. Andrew's Cathedral throughout next week, in accordance with the usual custom in Holy Week, will be of an interesting character. The principal work to be performed will be C. S. Packer's oratorio, "The Crown of Thorns," which, with the exception of the rendering of portions of the oratorio some two years ago, has not been heard in its entirety in Sydney for many years. This work will be sung on two evenings during the Lenten services, while Gounod's unaccompanied cantata, "Daughters of Jerusalem," and the Passion Music from Handel's "Messiah" will be given on other evenings of the week. Considerable interest attaches to the performance of the "Messiah" music, by reason of the fact that the tenor solos will be sung by Mr. H. Weir, a vocalist recently from New Zealand, and who was until lately tenor soloist at Christchurch Cathedral. Mr. Weir, who was a student of the Guild Hall School of Music, London, is said to be the possessor of a voice of pure tenor quality. Another vocalist new to Sydney is Madame du Rieu. This lady, who also brings a good reputation from New Zealand as a contralto singer, will take part in "The Crown of Thorns" and "The Messiah." The three works to be performed have been in active rehearsal for some weeks past under the conductorship of the precentor and Mr. Montague Younger. "The Crown of Thorns" will be rendered in the Cathedral on Monday evening.

The Funeral of Mrs. Oram.—At Rookwood Cemetery, yesterday, were interred the remains of Mrs. Oram, wife of Rev. J. Oram, of Stanmore, one of the fathers of the Wesleyan Church and one of the oldest ministers in the colony. The deceased lady died very suddenly. She met with an accident last Saturday, by which one of her legs was fractured; but she was progressing favourably, and the best hopes were entertained for her recovery. At noon, however, on Thursday, she suddenly collapsed, and passed away. The service, which was conducted by the Rev. J. E. Carruthers (president of the Conference), the Revs. W. Clarke, Dr. Brown, and J. E. Moulton, was attended by a large number of ministers and friends. Mrs. Oram was in her 75th year.

Distressed Farmers in the North.—The question of rendering some assistance to farmers in the north, who have suffered so severely from floods, has been under the consideration of the Minister for Agriculture for some time. Recently Mr. W. S. Campbell, of the Agricultural Department, was despatched to make inquiries in regard to the condition of the farmers between the Manning River and Port Stephens. Mr. Campbell returned to Sydney yesterday, having during his absence gone to Dungog, down the Williams River to Clarence Town, Seaham, Raymond Terrace, Booral, Myall River, Bulladelah, Gloucester, Krambach, and the Woolumba River. He found that some of the farmers were in a very pitiable condition. He will at once report to the Minister on the subject.

Parramatta Vital Statistics.—Following are the vital statistics for Parramatta district for the quarter just ended:—Births: Parramatta, 50 males, 40 females; Sherbrooke, 13 males, 16 females. Marriages: Parramatta, 22; Sherbrooke, 3. Deaths: Parramatta, males 91, females 23 (including 67 males and 6 females who died in the Government asylums, and 1 male who died in gaol); Sherbrooke, 3 males and 2 females.

Recovery of a Lost Bicycle.—Early yesterday morning Detectives O'Sullivan and Hickey arrested a young man in King-street riding a bicycle. On examination the machine was found to have been one which, four months ago, was taken from Mr. E. C. Hughes. The young man was taken before the Central Police Court and was remanded.

Cable Tram Accident.—Yesterday afternoon a man named Robert Godson, a master mariner, was knocked down at the King-street terminus of the cable tram by a runaway "trailer" car. While being shunted the car jumped the points, and rushing down the road knocked Godson down, and threw him a dozen feet away, and then before he could rise the wheels caught in a part of his clothing and dragged him along for some yards. The conductor, Costello, who had remained at his post, managed to bring the car to a standstill, and Godson was then taken to the Sydney Hospital. Although nothing more serious than bruises was detected, he was admitted for treatment, as he complained of internal injuries.

Accident to an Artilleryman.—William Preston, a gunner of the 1st garrison division New South Wales Artillery, while standing on a cart yesterday at the Ordnance stores, Circular Quay, slipped and fell to the ground, striking his head in his descent against the tailboard of the cart. He was taken to the hospital at the Victoria Barracks in an unconscious condition, and was attended by Dr. Roth.

Run Over by a Cart.—Frank Weatherley, a lad six years of age, residing at No. 321 Cleveland-street, Redfern, was knocked down and run over by a horse and cart in Redfern-street last night. The boy, it seems, was riding on the back of a dray and dropped off in front of another horse and cart immediately behind, with the result that he was run over and suffered a severe injury to the back. He was conveyed to the Sydney Hospital.

Fatal Accident at Shea's Creek.—A young man named Thomas Edwards was killed while working at Shea's Creek, Cook's River, yesterday afternoon. He was engaged driving three horses attached to two trucks on a tramway at the creek when he tripped and fell across the line. The wheels of the trucks passed over his body, and when he was picked up life was found to be extinct. Constable Everingham removed the body to the South Sydney Morgue. Deceased was 23 years of age, and resided at No. 126 George-street, Waterloo.

Fatal Result of Scalds.—The lad William Silver, who was severely scalded on Thursday evening whilst working at Peacock's jam factory, succumbed to his injuries at Prince Alfred Hospital last night. The lad, who was 16 years of age, resided with his parents in Augustus-street, Enmore.

Sudden Death at Summer Hill.—Mr. John B. Spencer, 60 years of age, employed by the Customs Department, died suddenly on Thursday night at his residence, Wellesley-street, Summer Hill. The deceased was attacked with acute pains in the chest, and before medical aid could be procured he expired.

In connection with the forthcoming agricultural show, the Newcastle and Hunter River Steamship Company has arranged to carry passengers between Sydney and Newcastle at reduced fares. Particulars will be found in our advertising columns.

THE WYALONG GOLDFIELD.

(By Telegraph.)
(From our correspondent.)

WEST WYALONG, Friday.

Allen and party, who are working on tribute at Neeld's prospecting claim, are stoping from the 90ft. level, where the reef, carrying first-class gold, is 12in. in width. They have about 170 tons at grass. The White Reef tributers are raising a large quantity of good stone. The country is very soft, and requires careful attention to timbering. Fowke and party, Hidden Treasure, are putting in a crosscut to thoroughly prospect their property at Billy's Look Out. Three more claims are reported on payable gold, and a deal of prospecting is being done in that neighbourhood, though the want of water much militates against success. At the Pine Ridge Gold-mining Company's property, consisting of 22 men's ground, and adjoining Bartley's find, the reef at 60ft level is about 2ft. wide, showing good coarse gold in parts, and dollying well. In all very rich specimens are being got, while at a depth of 160ft., with a 12in. reef, very good gold is being got. They have about 100 tons at the surface, and are busily engaged raising stone. The distance from water constitutes a serious drawback in this locality. Gough's No. 2 battery will start crushing again on Monday morning on stone from Hildebrandt's, Smith, and party, and from Green and Knight's. About 70 tons of Hildebrandt's stone were crushed when water failed, and a rough cleaning-up gave 100oz of gold, while five tons of Smith's went over an ounce per ton. Olsen and party, Royal Oak, continue raising first-class stone from the 115ft. level, the reef is maintaining an average width of 8in. Thirty-five tons have been raised. M'Donagh and party's 136 tons of stone, crushed at Channon's battery, gave 235oz. amalgam, which is now being retorted.

THE LONDON LIBEL CASE.

OSCAR WILDE v. THE MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.

CONCLUSION OF THE CASE.

A VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

THE CHARGES JUSTIFIED.

PROBABLE ARREST OF OSCAR WILDE.

LONDON, April 4.

The trial of the Marquis of Queensberry, on a charge of having criminally libelled Oscar Wilde, the dramatist and poet, was continued to-day.

In cross-examination the prosecutor admitted that he was acquainted with three men named Taylor, Parker, and Atkins. Taylor introduced five young men to him on separate occasions, and Wilde had given them money. He was not aware that any of them were gentlemen's servants. He said that he took pleasure in being in the company of bright and happy people. He had visited Taylor's rooms frequently. He was aware that Taylor and Parker had once been arrested, but he had, notwithstanding this fact, continued his friendship with them. He once took Atkins to Paris. Taylor introduced to him a youth named Scarp, who afterwards became acquainted with Lord Alfred Douglas, while on the voyage to Australia. He (Wilde) had made presents to Scarp and another young man named Mabor, because he liked them.

Certain letters were read in court from some of the youths already named, showing that the writers were poverty-stricken, and implored assistance from Wilde in obtaining employment.

Other letters were read indicating that the Marquis of Queensberry had endeavoured to stop his son from visiting Wilde. On one occasion Lord Alfred Douglas telegraphed to his father that "he was a funny little man."

Further evidence was given, showing that the Marquis of Queensberry afterwards called at Wilde's house, and a furious scene ensued. Wilde denied the charge made against him by the Marquis, and showed him the door.

The Marquis also wrote, complaining that his wife encouraged his son in his friendship for Wilde. The friendship between Lady Queensberry and her sons remained unbroken.

Later.

Oscar Wilde admitted close intimacy with young men who had been introduced to him by Taylor. He had entertained them at dinner at fashionable cafés. Several had spent the night as his guests at his hotels, but nothing improper occurred. He was regardless of the social inferiority of his guests if they were amusing.

Letters written by Lord Alfred Douglas were read, in which he threatened to shoot his father if he attempted to thrash him. Some letters of the Marquis of Queensberry were read, containing statements referring to eminent statesmen, but the references to them were only of a political nature.

The case for the prosecution having closed,

Mr. E. H. Carson, Q.C., M.P., in opening the case for the defence, declared that Wilde's protégés were among the most immoral men in London. He commented strongly on the fact that the prosecutor had not called Taylor as a witness. Wilde's intimacies were absolutely irreconcilable with his claim as an exponent of culture, and his literature alone justified the action of the Marquis. Mr. Carson said that among other witnesses he would call Wood, the chief blackmailer, and would prove his case up to the hilt.

April 5.

Counsel for the prosecutor has withdrawn from the case.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and considered that the charges made by the Marquis of Queensberry were for the public benefit.

It is expected that Oscar Wilde will be arrested.

THE LIBERATOR FRAUDS.

FIVE DIRECTORS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

LONDON, April 4.

The preliminary hearing of the charges against the directors of the Liberator Building Society was concluded to-day, when five of the directors were committed for trial on charges of fraud and conspiracy. The accused were admitted to heavy bail.

DARING ROBBERY FROM A BANK.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

An audacious robbery in a bank took place yesterday at 3 o'clock. Hector M'Donald, of the firm of Lynch and M'Donald, solicitors, went into the Bank of Australasia to pay into the firm's account £370 in notes, gold, and cheques. He placed the money, which was loose, between the pages of the pay-in book beside the teller, and sat down at a table to write out the draft. He was engaged a few moments only, but when he got up the money was gone. The teller and a customer who was standing by noticed a man take the book, but thought it was his own. The money includes four £50-notes on the Bank of Victoria, nine £10-notes, £21 in gold, and various cheques. The detectives have obtained a description of the robber.

THE CASE OF LANGE v. BAGE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Dr. Charles Bage has given notice of his intention to appeal for a new trial of the recent case Lange v. Bage, in which the plaintiff obtained a verdict and £750 damages. The grounds of the appeal are that the verdict was against the weight of evidence and that the damages were excessive, that some of the evidence was improperly admitted, and that other evidence was improperly rejected; and also that Mr. Justice a'Beckett misdirected the jury as to the question of privilege.

A LIBEL ACTION.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

In the Supreme Court to-day James Donnie, a contractor, brought an action for libel against the Victorian Newspaper Company, Limited, to recover damages for alleged libels published in the Herald newspaper on sundry dates in 1893 and 1894. Plaintiff was a contractor for the erection of a prison for females at Pentridge, and the articles complained of had reference to matters arising out a claim by plaintiff for extras. After the opening of addresses by counsel the case was adjourned.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

As a commercial traveller was driving into Alexandra this afternoon he was overtaken by Trooper Dawson, whose horse commenced to buck viciously. On getting up to the buggy the horse jumped on the vehicle and threw both the driver and the commercial traveller out. Both received serious injuries. The horse then got entangled in the buggy, broke the hind wheel, and finally overturned the vehicle. The trooper stuck to his horse all the time.

THE EXODUS OF VICTORIAN FARMERS.

SIR JAMES PATTERSON'S INQUIRIES.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Sir James Patterson, who is now at Wahgunyah, has been making inquiries into the supposed exodus of Victorian farmers into New South Wales. He finds that this supposition is absolutely correct, and that the farmers are going across the border every day to inquire and arrange for working land on the system known as "halves" under which the landowner finds the land, has it cleared, and the seed, and the farmer supplies the labour and gets half the produce.

Sir James Patterson states that the feeling with respect to federation is subordinated to that in favour of the immediate necessity of the removal of the border duties, and especially the stock tax. He states that a continuation of the present Victorian policy will result in downright injury to Victoria.

BRISBANE, Friday.

A deputation representing the Amalgamated Society of Engineers waited on the Colonial Secretary to-day with reference to the mode of tendering under the Sugar Works Guarantee Act, and asked that all machinery should be made in the colony. The Colonial Secretary promised that if anything could be done to have all such work done in the colony without hampering the sugar industry with excessive prices it should be done.

The Colonial Secretary, accompanied by a large number of members of Parliament and others, left by special train for Bundaberg this morning, where they will join the Lucinda and proceed on a northern tour of the colony.

AUCKLAND, Friday.

The Tainui, which left Wellington yesterday for London, burst her steam pipe when 100 miles out, necessitating her putting back for repairs.

The Government intend adopting a comprehensive scheme of road works, which they hope will absorb the whole of the deserving unemployed. Men will be allotted sections of land in the vicinity of their work. This scheme is the outcome of the recent visit of the Minister for Labour to Australia.

A shipment of live sheep will be sent to London by Murray, Roberts, and Co., of Dunedin.

It is understood that the names of the Rev. Mr. Hewitson and the Rev. Mr. Macrae, both of Melbourne, will be submitted to Knox Church, Dunedin, for election as minister.

SECOND EDITION.

THE OSCAR WILDE CASE.

LONDON, April 5.

Oscar Wilde hurriedly left the court while counsel for the Marquis of Queensberry was explaining that the prosecutor's literature and letters justified the plea that Wilde posed as an immoral person. Wilde withdrew in order to avoid the appalling evidence that he feared would be brought against him by the witnesses for the defence.

The verdict of not guilty was received in court with loud cheers.

No warrant against Oscar Wilde was applied for, but Mr. Russell, solicitor for the Marquis of Queensberry, sent to the Public Prosecutor a statement of the notes of the evidence given by witnesses during the case, with the object of preventing a miscarriage of justice.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL.

WAGGA, Friday.

A public meeting was held in the Town Hall to-night to consider the determination of the boundaries of the proposed shires of Boorogong and Mimosa. The Mayor presided over a fair attendance. It was proposed by Mr. J. T. Williamson and seconded by Mr. W. Rand,—"That this meeting affirms the necessity for the partition of the shires of Mimosa and Boorogong, whereby a new or third shire may be called into existence, to be called the shire of Wagga Wagga, including the district the residents of which do their business with Wagga." The motion was carried unanimously. An influential committee of leading residents was appointed to frame a petition and obtain the signatures of the ratepayers of the district affected for presentation to the Government.

THE FRIENDLY SOCIETIES ACT.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

There has been a peculiar development in connection with the efforts of Mr. Coghlan, Government Statist, to enforce the operations of the Friendly Societies Act in Broken Hill. Some months ago the Silver Star Lodge of Druids, which has a membership of 250, was notified that it must sever its connection with the Grand Lodge of South Australia, and become registered in New South Wales. In addition to this, it was ordered that the right of members to benefits for past payments must be annulled, and that the society should, in fact, start operations afresh, with largely increased rates of contribution, and benefits at half the rates formerly offered. The lodge endeavoured to have the ultimatum of the Statist varied, but without effect. As it was deemed impossible to continue the lodge under such terms, it was decided to remove the charter to Cockburn, over the South Australian border, 30 miles distant. The lodge will be formerly removed thither on Monday, and will be then registered in South Australia.

DEATH OF AN EX-POLICE MAGISTRATE.

KIAMA, Friday.

A considerable amount of regret was felt in this district when it became known that Mr. Henry Connell, ex-police magistrate, had died suddenly at Blackheath yesterday. Mr. Connell was a very old Civil servant, having entered the service of the Department of Justice in 1844, when only 15 years old. He was appointed clerk of petty sessions at Kiama in 1863, and subsequently police magistrate, which office he held until 1889, when he retired on his pension, after 51 years' active service. Some 30 years ago Mr. Connell wrote and published "The Magisterial Digest," a book which has been of invaluable service to benches of magistrates throughout the colony. The deceased gentleman was painstaking and persevering, and had a thorough knowledge of most branches of the law.

MASONIC INSTALLATIONS.

GERMANTON, Friday.

The annual installation of the W.M. and officers in connection with Hume Lodge, No. 212, took place on Thursday night. Wor. Bro. Simpson, G.W., was installing master, assisted by Wor. Bro. J. T. Thorn. The brethren installed were—Bros. Frederick Sheppard, W.M.; Robert Arthur Simpson, P.M.; William Small, S.W.; William Low, J.W.; William Gordon Polson, treasurer; Samuel Hall Phillips, secretary; James Spurr, senior deacon; David Kelly, junior deacon; Henry Jeppson, organist; inner guard, John M'Hardy M'Laurin; tyler, William Hicks. The positions of chaplain and stewards were not filled. Out of respect to the memory of the late Right Wor. Bro. Sir Robert Duff, R.W.G.M., the brethren wore crape on their jewels and aprons. The newly-elected W.M., Bro. F. Sheppard, presided at a banquet held at Bro. Morrison's Riverina Hotel at the conclusion of the installation ceremony. Among the toasts honoured was the United Grand Lodge of New South Wales.

MACLEAN, Friday.

At the installation of the officers of the Masonic Lodge Livingston, last night, the following were appointed:—W.M., Rev. J. S. Scott; S.W., A. M'Dougall; J.W., H. E. Frape; treasurer, S. Macnaughton; secretary, Theo. Lamy; S.D., G. Fraser; J.D., R. Gall; I.G., T. Collins; tyler, G. Phillis.

CIRCUIT COURTS.

EAST MAITLAND, Friday.

The Circuit Court was continued to-day. Matthew James Dawson, who was found guilty the previous day on a charge of making false entries in certain accounts, was sentenced to two years' hard labour on the first count and two years on the second count, the sentences to be concurrent. Edward William Bull, who pleaded guilty to stealing money, received 12 months' hard labour, the sentence to be suspended under the First Offenders Act. Mr. Blackett defended the accused. The criminal business will be concluded to-morrow.

HAY, Friday.

The Circuit Court was finished to-day. Henry Guy was sentenced to a year and nine months for maliciously wounding. Charles Sutherland was found guilty of manslaughter, and was sentenced to 18 months in Hay Gaol. Dennis Fallon, Henry Guy, Frank Guy, James Hussey, John Higgins, Robert Crichton, Alexander Cleary, Alexander Cleary, Andrew Tweedie, Owen Daley, and Donald Grant, charged with the manslaughter of a Chinaman at Hillston, were acquitted. The case lasted two days.

MUDGEE, Friday.

The assizes were concluded to-day. Philip Henderson pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement. It being his first offence he was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment in Mudgee Gaol. William Webber, charged with stealing from the person, was found guilty and sentenced to four years' penal servitude. Arthur Atkinson, charged with stealing from a dwelling, was found not guilty and was discharged. There were no civil cases.

WAGGA, Friday.

Acting Judge Barton said in court to-day that as the Criminal Court had not been formally adjourned, he desired Arthur Riddle, who had been sentenced to 12 months' hard labour for embezzlement, to be again brought before him. His Honor said that on giving further consideration to the case he had come to the conclusion that he ought to apply the First Offenders Act, and the sentence which had been pronounced would therefore be suspended on the prisoner entering into recognisances—himself in £200, and two sureties in £100—for his good behaviour for a year. The sureties were forthcoming, and Riddle was released.

ALBURY, Friday.

At a well-attended public meeting to-day, the Mayor in the chair, a resolution was carried in favour of establishing a central butter factory at Albury, with creameries in the local agricultural centres.

BOMBALA, Friday.

The Bombala Co-operative Dairying Company received for the four weeks from the 25th February to 25th March 35,184 gallons of milk, which yielded 16,048lb. of butter, showing that 21½lb. of milk makes 1lb. of butter. This butter realises the highest price in Sydney. The company sent three tons of butter to three different agents in London to test the market.

Forty Romney Marsh rams have arrived from New Zealand for the Maharatta Estate.

BLACKHEATH, Friday.

Mr. Henry Connell, late police magistrate at Kiama, died here last night. Dr. Scot-Skirving held a consultation with Dr. Spark yesterday at Florence Cottage. The body is to be interred at Kiama Cemetery on Sunday afternoon.

CARCOAR, Friday.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Sheep Board for the district of Carcoar was held at the courthouse on Wednesday. Mr. F. R. C. Hopkins was re-elected chairman. The Stock and Pastures Board then met, the same directors being present, as well as Messrs. Richard Glasson and Carr. Mr. F. R. C. Hopkins was re-elected chairman of the board. A great deal of discussion took place regarding the prices to be paid for scalps during the ensuing year. During the past year about £1350 was paid for scalps.

GERMANTON, Friday.

A movement has been commenced for the establishment of a butter facory here. A meeting has been convened to initiate proceedings. The farmers and others are entering into the question with enthusiasm.

INVERELL, Friday.

Lum Kong and Hook Sin were charged to-day at the Tingha Police Court with the murder of Sam Par at that place in January last. Hook Sin made a statement to the effect that Sam Par came to him at Lum Kong's hut, and a quarrel took place over money. Lum Kong struck him with a pick-handle, and another Chinese, Mo Go, who also heard the row, went to the hut, and saw Sam Par lying on the floor of the hut trying to raise himself from the ground. Blood was running from his head. The witness was ordered away by both prisoners. The case is unfinished.

LITHGOW, Friday.

The coal trade has been unchanged during the week. The average is still about half-time in the various pits. Work is pretty steady at the Shale and Oil Works, Hartley Vale. Shale from Marrangaroo, near the railway, is also to be tested at Hartley Vale.

Complaints regarding the effects of the continued dry weather are being raised in all portions of the district.

MACLEAN, Friday.

Great regret is expressed at the news of the death in England of Mr. H. Samson, who was at one time employed in the laboratory of the Harwood Sugar Mill. He was the first man in the colony to raise cane plants from seed.

The Ulmarra maize crops will only yield one-third what was expected early in the season, owing to the dry weather and the blight.

During a farewell social given to the Rev. C. Reed, who is leaving the district, at Brushgrove, some larrikins threw a cake of tobacco in the tea, which was being made in a boiler outside the building. The result was that many people were afterwards seriously ill.

TENTERFIELD, Friday.

Important visits in connection with the meat industry were made on Wednesday and yesterday. Mr. Hilliard, engineer, and Messrs. Mair and Clift, directors of the Graziers' Meat Export Company, inspected the work of the Tenterfield Meat-chilling Company, with the view of absorbing the local company and works. The premises were carefully inspected, and a most complete examination was made. The visiting directors and the engineer will report to the board, and will probably confer in Sydney with Mr. W. H. Walker, chairman of the local company. The reopening of the works will prove an immense boon to the district.

WINDSOR, Friday.

At the Wesleyan Church last night a valedictory tea meeting was tendered to the Rev. B. and Mrs. Dinning. At the after meeting Mr. R. H. Docker presided, and addresses were delivered by the Revs. P. Fitzgerald, T. Moore, J. A. Waddell, and Messrs. Board, Lane, Broome, Smith, Rien, and others. Several presentations were made to the departing minister and Mrs. Dinning. Mr. Dinning goes to Deniliquin. During the week he has been the recipient of presents from several branches of the Band of Hope, Good Templars, and the Circuit church congregations.

Preliminary meetings have been held at Lower Portland for the purpose of establishing a creamery. The following provisional directors have been elected:—Messrs. N. Mitchell, M. Herps, and R. Lowe.

WOLLONGONG, Friday.

The coal trade has been fairly brisk during the week. The difficulty at Kembla Colliery, created by the proposal of the management to reduce the hewing rate, has not yet been settled. During the week all those miners who would not consent to the reduction were given a fortnight's notice of dismissal. The men are to ballot on the subject on Monday next, and a deputation from the miners will endeavour to obtain an interview with the directors at an early date.

The closing of the Woonona mine will throw about 100 men out of employment.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN GOLD-FIELDS.

(By Telegraph.)
(From our correspondent.)

COOLGARDIE, Friday.

The news from the new find named Golding is very encouraging. The reef continues to open well, and the gold shows every sign of going down. A rich shoot of gold has been struck in the Mount Burgess mine in No. 1 underlay shaft, at a depth of 70ft. The walls are well defined. A clean up of 244 tons gave 196½oz. of smelted gold. The Hill End mine, Broad Arrow, cleaned up 473oz. from 27 tons, and the directors have declared a dividend of £5 per share.

THE LABOUR DIFFICULTY AT NEWCASTLE.

A GENERAL STRIKE LIKELY.

(From our correspondent.)

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The district officers of the Northern Miners' Association refuse to give details of the ballot as to whether a general strike of coalminers shall take place, but they maintain that there is a two-thirds majority in favour of the strike. The vote will include all outside collieries.

INSPECTION OF LIGHTHOUSES.

(From our correspondent.)

SEAL ROCKS, Friday.

The Marine Board landed at Seal Rocks this morning. Everything was found to be satisfactory at the lighthouse. A number of sailing vessels are going north, taking advantage of the fair wind.

HARRINGTON, Friday.

The Marine Board landed here and inspected the pilot station and the rocket apparatus, and also saw the harbour works in preparation. The board passed into the Cape Hawke River in the tug Marion Mansfield this morning, and found the bar and harbour very satisfactory. The Bega left this evening for Crowdy light, and the board hopes to effect a landing on the Solitaries to-morrow morning before the breeze springs up.

CHURCH NEWS.

ANGLICAN.

The Primate was welcomed to the parish of Mulgoa on Saturday afternoon by a garden party, held in the parsonage grounds. On Sunday morning he administered the rite of confirmation at St. Mark's, Greendale; in the afternoon administered the rite at St. Thomas', Mulgoa; and preached in the evening at St. James', Luddenham. On Monday afternoon the Primate presided at a meeting of the committee of the Church Society, in the evening was one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Local Option League; on Tuesday presided at a meeting of the executive committee of the Provincial Synod; on Thursday afternoon presided at a meeting of the council of the King's School, and later at a meeting of the Cathedral Chapter; on Friday afternoon presided at a meeting of the diocesan corresponding committee of the Board of Missions.

The Bishop of Newcastle preached at St. Mary's, West Maitland, on Sunday morning, consecrated the new church of St. Clement, Gosforth, in the afternoon, preached at St. James', Morpeth, in the evening, and left same night by mail train for Brisbane.

The Bishop of Bathurst administered the rite of confirmation on Sunday morning at Sofala, and preached in the afternoon at Wattle Flat.

Over 100 church workers in the parish of St. Andrew, Summer Hill, accepted an invitation from the Rev. J. and Mrs. Vaughan to spend a social evening. The schoolroom was prettily decorated, occasional tables held books of photographs from many lands, and diagrams were suspended exhibiting views of Egypt and the Holy Land.

The Rev. S. C. Kent, who is well known in this city, has been elected by the board of patronage to the incumbency of St. Matthew's, Prahran. Mr. Kent has declined the appointment.

The Rev. A. W. King, of Glen Innes, has been appointed a member of the Council of the Diocese of Grafton and Armidale.

The Rev. J. Shearman, on leaving Mulgoa for Liverpool, was presented with an illuminated address and purse of gold.

The Bishop of Melanesia is a passenger for Sydney by the Monowai, which left Auckland (N.Z.) on Wednesday last. The Monowai is due on Sunday morning.

The Church Society has during the 38 years it has been established granted to clergy and catechists for stipend £99,923, and has helped in the erection of churches and parsonages to the extent of £20,666.

Messrs. Francis Simons, John Jackson Paine, and Lewis Barnett have been licensed as local lay readers at Windsor.

Captain Feilding, A.D.C., has addressed the following communication to the Council of the New South Wales Branch of the English Church Union:—"I am desired by Lady Duff to express to you her deep gratitude for your letter of condolence to her in her time of great sorrow, and for the kind wishes for her comfort expressed in it."

MARRIAGE REGULATIONS.

The following regulations with regard to the celebration of marriages according to the rites of the Church of England have been approved by the Bishop of the diocese:—1. That the time within which marriages are celebrated be from sunrise to 8 p.m. 2. That no marriage be celebrated otherwise than in a church or accustomed place of public worship, except when in response to an application founded on special circumstances permission shall have been granted by the Bishop for the marriage to be celebrated elsewhere; provided that in urgent cases, when reference to the Bishop is practically impossible, the clergyman shall act on his discretion, and forthwith report the circumstances to the Bishop. 3. That no marriage be celebrated by the clergy otherwise than after the publication of banns or the issue of a license. In the opinion of the Bishop, after a divorce has been pronounced, the party who has been pronounced guilty of infidelity to the marriage vow by the Court should not be permitted to be re-married according to the rites of the Church of England. The Bishop desires to point out that although marriage with a deceased wife's sister is recognised by the law of the colony, this law imposes no duty or obligation upon the clergy with regard thereto. No fee is chargeable on marriage, whether by banns or license. It is hoped, however, that persons about to be married will follow the custom of making some offering upon the occasion.

ROMAN CATHOLIC.

The Rev. Father Carroll, administrator of St. Mary's Cathedral, has arranged the order of ceremonies for Holy Week. To-morrow, Palm Sunday, immediately before high mass, the blessing of the palms will be performed by Cardinal Moran.

Archbishop O'Reily has taken charge of the See of Adelaide. He firmly declined to accept addresses or gifts both on leaving Port Augusta and on entering into his new see.

The Sydney publishers of Cardinal Moran's "History of the Church in Australia" on Tuesday presented the author with two morocco-bound copies of the work.

The clergy and laity of the Goulburn diocese are awaiting news from Rome of the appointment of Bishop Lanigan's coadjutor.

Bishop Higgins, who had been officiating at the blessing of the new church at Bundanoon, returned to Sydney on Tuesday.

The Rev. Father Patrick, C.P., of Marrickville, is conducting a "retreat" at St. Stephen's Cathedral, Brisbane.

It is expected that Archbishop Carr will shortly issue invitations in connection with the celebration of the completion of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Melbourne.

CONGREGATIONAL.

The result of the sale of work at Strathfield by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Home Mission Fund has proved satisfactory.

The Rev. John Fordyce, M.A., of Point Piper-road Church, is receiving a call to the pastorate of the church at Kew, Melbourne, and also one to Homebush, Sydney.

At a meeting of the Pitt-street Church members, which was held on Monday last, it was decided to celebrate the sixty-second anniversary of the church on 1st May.

The sale of work organised by the ladies of the Bourke-street Congregational Church proved very successful. It realised £154 clear of all expenses.

WESLEYAN.

The anniversary of the Newtown Wesleyan Sunday School was celebrated on Sunday last. The Revs. J. Woolnough, R. J. Meek, and J. G. M. Taylor conducted the services. A choir of 400 voices, with large and efficient orchestra, led the singing, under Mr. James Gosnell. Many who came could not find room. The services will, by request, be repeated to-morrow.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

Mr. A. F. Fisher, the singing evangelist, is to speak and sing at the young men's meeting this evening.

The Sailors' social due on Friday next (Good Friday) will be held instead on Monday evening next, 8th instant. As there are several vessels arriving in port, a large muster is expected, and a good programme is being arranged.

PRESBYTERIAN.

The standing committee of the Presbyterian Church met during the past week. There was a large attendance of country delegates.

The Rev. G. D. Buchanan, of Brisbane, has exchanged pulpits with the Rev. J. Walker, of Woollahra.

Mr. Robert Anderson, an elder from Moruya, leaves for Great Britain by the Orizaba to-day. He holds a commission to represent the Church in New South Wales in the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland.

The Rev. George Stewart, late of Tumut, together with his wife and family, leaves for England by the same steamer.

SALVATION ARMY.

Major Veal proceeds to conduct a mission in the south-eastern district next week. Colonel Estel travels to Queensland from Armidale, and with Commissioner Coombs will conduct a mission in Brisbane.

Y.W.C.A. NEWS.

At the monthly meeting of the general committee, which was held on Thursday, at the institute, Miss Bayley was unanimously appointed general secretary. It was mentioned that the Factory Helpers' Union was formed, of which Mrs. Cocks, of Marrickville, had accepted the position of hon. secretary. In connection with the union a choir had been formed to visit the factories in the city, and thus further the work which has been for years past carried on in them by the Y.W.C.A. From the reports given of the evangelistic and mission work it was seen that much had been done by them during the past month. On Monday last the Rev. J. D. Langley gave an address at the evangelistic meeting on "Guidance." On Thursday evening the employees of two factories in the city responded to an invitation issued by the Y.W.C.A. to a social evening, held in one of the rooms of the Temperance Hall. After tea and refreshments had been served a Gospel meeting was held, when several sacred pieces were sung, and an address given by Mrs. Dovey.

JEWISH.

The celebration of the Passover, the first and greatest of the three annual feasts instituted by Moses, will commence on Monday evening. The festival is to commemorate the exodus of the children of Israel from Egypt, when God caused all the first-born in the land to die, but passed over His own people. Unleavened bread is only eaten during this impressive period, which is also called the "feast of unleavened bread." It will last for seven days. Service will be held in the synagogue on Tuesday, and the ordinary services will be held during the whole week.

HOSPITAL SATURDAY.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE COLLECTION.

It is not to be supposed that the absence of bustle and excitement at the headquarters of the Hospital Saturday movement argues a lack of enthusiasm on the part of the promoters or a want of completeness in the arrangements. It is merely a proof of perfected organisation. Last year Hospital Saturday eve was a time of excitement and mental strain so far as the originators of the scheme were concerned, and the orderly conduct of business at Messrs. Starkey and Starkey's offices was hopelessly disorganised for the time, but last evening at 5 o'clock Mr. C. H. Starkey, the general hon. secretary, upon whom the great bulk of the work has fallen, was able to sit back in his chair and announce with no small satisfaction that "everything was ready" for the morrow. The various stations had been allotted to the different collectors, and the tables would all be delivered first thing in the morning. Mr. Frank Grimley, chairman of the collections committee, had undertaken to superintend the distribution and erection of the bulk of the city tables, and Mr. Steanes would distribute the remainder at Circular Quay. In the suburbs the hon. secretaries of the different committees would see to the work. All the collecting boxes, with the exception of about a dozen, had been delivered over to the charge of the lady collectors, and the completeness of the preparations was such as to leave positively no loophole of escape for any person who might come into town with the forlorn hope of "dodging the plate." With each collecting box a badge has been issued and a sort of general order for the guidance of the collectors. Ladies are therein instructed to commence the collection at the places appointed not later than the hour specified, and to remain at their post until relieved. Wherever traffic falls off in a street a house to house visitation is recommended for collectors who can be spared for that purpose. Every box issued bears a number, which is registered against the name of the lady in charge of the stand or position occupied. Boxes filled during the day are to be taken or sent by some responsible person "with all speed" to the Bank of New South Wales, where they will be emptied, contents counted, amount recorded, and the box resealed and returned to the collector. As to the tables, or calico-covered frames made to fold, it is notified that those for use in the city will be placed in position early in the morning, and will as far as possible be collected by 10 o'clock at night. They must not on any account be left unattended, but if the lady in charge decided to discontinue the collection before her table was removed it should be folded up and forwarded to the care of Mr. Grimley, 263 Clarence-street, near the Town Hall. In the suburbs the hon. secretaries of the suburban committees are to make arrangements for their safe keeping and return on Monday morning. A numbered bag will be issued with each table for removing the money collected. After sunset the ladies are notified that a "candle or other light should be placed under the tables." Gentlemen have been appointed to superintend the collection generally, and to remove the money from the stands as required. They will be distinguished by the badge of the association, in red on white ground, and will visit the places where collectors are located at intervals and render assistance as may be required. The Bank of New South Wales will remain open until 11 p.m. for the reception of deposits. Immediately after the close of the collection every box is to be taken to the bank, where the boxes will be opened as soon as possible, the contents counted, and the amount recorded against the particular number stamped on each box, and the name of the lady in charge of the stand should be given in. This applies to the money from the tables, which should be sent to the bank in the bag issued with each table. The collectors are advised, in a subsequent memorandum, to get all their boxes in use up to 1 or 2 p.m., as it is anticipated that they will be more effective up to that time than after, and it is hinted that the ladies may take things a little more easily, by way of resting, in the afternoon and evening. A great many of the ladies, however, need no word of encouragement in this direction. Their zeal is unbounded. Indeed, one lady yesterday brought upon herself some little unpleasantness through this very cause. It appears that, having been provided with collecting box, badge, and card, she at once set to work to get ahead of her colleagues by opening the campaign half a day ahead of the specified time.

Subscriptions in moderately large amounts yesterday began to flow into the general coffers, and Mr. Starkey had to acknowledge some substantial sums donated by leading residents. As an instance of what may be done by means of organised collections in business establishments it is mentioned that the employees of Messrs. David Jones and Co. contributed practically in 1d. donations during the past 11 months no less than £75, and there is still a further sum to be acknowledged from the same establishment.

In addition to the street collections to-day there will be an onslaught upon the frequenters of the Rosehill Racecourse. The Association Ground will also be invaded by a strong force of collectors. In the evening there will be a fancy fair at the Waverley Bowling Green on behalf of the fund, and at the Paddington Town Hall a benefit concert will be given towards the same end. The Waverley Volunteer Fire Brigade has organised a torchlight procession for the occasion, in the course of which a collection will be taken en route. On Wednesday afternoon Mr. George Rignold will give a matinée performance of "Called Back" at Her Majesty's Theatre on behalf of the movement; and this afternoon the Guards Band of the Salvation Army will play in the streets of Newtown with the object of further augmenting the funds.

SMOKING ON THE CABLE TRAMS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In yesterday's issue you published a letter airing the grievances of a selfish smoker, "A Resident of Woollahra," who thinks that the possession of a pipe ought to ensure him a reserved seat on the dummy of the cable tram. The women pay the same tariff for the accommodation on the dummy car as the men, and expect to be allowed the privilege of inhaling fresh air without fatigue. What is sauce for the gander is, we hope, sauce for the goose. For myself, I have noticed that if the weather even looks showery at 4.30 p.m.—the hour at which the men profess to want the dummy all to themselves—they with one accord make a frantic rush (smokers included) to the caravan or car where "C. D. M." would ruthlessly box in the sex that is weaker than his own. Then, without saying "place aux dames," the smoker, when it suits him, pockets his pipe, and rides comfortably to Woollahra in a seat, not on the dummy. And why should he be allowed the double privilege? Is it to be because he only cares for himself in the matter? Let us hope for the future that he will, strictly keeping to his principles, be seen sitting on the dummy drenched to the skin—but not "injured," as he would apparently like us to be—so that we may know him as the lover of a pipe rather than women. If the authorities will accede to the smokers' request and add another car, to be used only by them, the women would have no objection, neither would they wish to deny those slaves of habit their special luxury. But an open-air car in this hot climate we expect, especially in a country where progress abounds and liberty for the women is its boast. As to running the risk of accidents, your correspondent seems to wish us "to be killed or injured" as a warning to others. Rather a vicious statement, we think, but women are magnanimous. So in return we wish him many more delightful puffs from his meerschaum whilst travelling on the dummy car.

THE EASTERN EXTENSION AND PACIFIC CABLES.

A MINISTERIAL EXPLANATION.

The other day a telegram from Brisbane in regard to the cable guarantee appeared in the Herald, and also in papers in the other colonies, as follows:—"Ministers complain that they cannot come to any decision regarding the cable guarantee owing to the New South Wales Government not having given any reply in regard to the Canadian Pacific cable question." The Postmaster-General, speaking about this subject yesterday, said there appeared to be some misunderstanding about the matter. What the Eastern Extension guarantee had to do with the Pacific cable he was at a loss to understand. The arrangement made at the Hobart Postal Conference was that Queensland would join the other colonies in the guarantee to the Eastern Extension Company, but there was no stipulation at all that that should be made a condition for any particular action by New South Wales respecting the Canadian Pacific cable. Mr. Cook says that what has happened in regard to the Canadian Pacific question is that some time ago a suggestion was made similar to the proposal made by Mr. Thynne, the Queensland Postmaster-General, at the Hobart conference, that a joint commission of the colonies, England, and Canada should meet in London at once to try and make arrangements for carrying out the cable project. When this came to Mr. G. H. Reid's hands he at once took steps to communicate with the other colonies in regard to the matter, as he had been requested by the Canadian Government to do. The general purport of all the replies, with perhaps one exception, was against any colony committing itself to the project in the absence of further information and fuller particulars for consideration. When Mr. Reid received a telegram from the Queensland Government pressing for a decision he communicated the substance of the telegrams from the other Governments to the Premier of Queensland. Under these circumstances Mr. Cook is at a loss to know why the Queensland Ministry should complain of any discourtesy in the matter. Every consideration has been given to the Pacific cable, and even during the present week Mr. Larke, the Canadian Commissioner, has been discussing the business aspect of the proposal with Mr. Cook and Mr. P. B. Walker, Secretary for Telegraphs. Mr. Cook says that while this colony is not in a position to at once consent to any proposal that would commit it to the project, still everything is being done in the way of inquiry and discussion to facilitate an early decision on the question.

DEPUTATIONS TO MINISTERS.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

Yesterday a deputation from Redfern and surrounding municipalities waited upon the Colonial Secretary (Mr. J. N. Brunker) to urge certain alterations and additions to the Local Government Bill. The deputation represented the municipal conference which has been sitting during the past two or three months at Redfern in reference to the Local Government Bill.

Mr. Rigg, M.L.A., introduced the deputation, which included Messrs. Waddon and M'Gowen, Ms.L.A., W. T. Poole (Mayor of Redfern), Alderman Howe (Redfern), Mr. R. W. Grierson (council clerk, Redfern), Alderman Slattyer (Strathfield), Alderman M'Kenzie (Strathfield), Alderman Williams (Waterloo), and Alderman Dacey (Alexandria).

Alderman Poole said that the conference, which had met at the invitation of the Redfern Council, decided that the first part of the Local Government Bill did not fairly come within the scope of representatives of existing municipalities, and, therefore, they had not proposed any amendments in that portion. They did not, he said, consider the bill as the free, full, and large measure of local government that they had been waiting for, but they thought it better to have half a loaf than no bread at all. The amendments proposed by the conference were:—To provide for a maximum general rate of 5d in the £ and a minimum of 1d in the £ on the unimproved capital value; in section 50 to provide that upon submission to the ratepayers' vote the notice must be given by not less than 100 bona-fide ratepayers instead of 20 as at present provided; that an additional provision should be made providing for a schedule exempting all councils having loans for special purposes from the operations of clause 50; that no council should be compelled to levy a rate beyond 1s in the £ on the annual rental value, or its equivalent rate on the unimproved capital value (to follow section 51); that the word "borough" be inserted before the words "municipality or shire" in section 54 and elsewhere where omitted in the bill, also that the words "being the rates referred to in sub-section 1 of section 20" be omitted from the clause; that in section 60 (part a) provision be made for the indebtedness of boroughs, &c., on loans account, not to exceed five times the amount of revenue from general rates, instead of 10 times the amount of rates as at first proposed; that the word Mayor be made to precede "president" wherever omitted. Some of the foregoing amendments have already been made in committee of the House during the past few days. The additions to the bill, as suggested by the conference, were as follows:—That provision be made (in order to protect life and property) for a suitable building Act, to be included in the bill. That section 138 of Sir George Dibbs's Local Government Bill be included in the bill, provided that owners of property (liable to be rated) shall give notice to the local authority of any sale or lease of any of their property and submit the names of purchasers and their addresses from time to time, under a penalty for non-compliance of a sum not exceeding £50. That provision be made for empowering the Government to say how and in what way the books of (1) a borough, (2) a municipality, (3) a shire, are to be kept, and making it compulsory upon the local authority in each case to comply with the same. That provision be made enabling boroughs, municipalities, and shires to resume land for sites for (1) council chambers, (2) stations for fire engines, (3) approaches to bridges, and for the widening of roads, (4) free libraries and schools of arts, (5) markets, (6) slaughter-houses and abattoirs, (7) public baths and washhouses, (8) for general cemeteries, (9) depots for, and treatment of, night soil and house and street refuse, (10) wharfs and jetties, (11) pounds, (12) parks and recreation reserves, &c. That clauses for enforcement of payment of rates on unoccupied land more efficiently than at present be included in the bill, based on provisions of clauses 56 to 62 of the Queensland Valuing Act. That a clause be inserted making it compulsory for councils to make provision for sinking funds. That provision be made for owners of all properties leased to Government, or by the Government to private persons, to pay rates to the council of the municipality wherever such property is situated. That provision be made for all fees from pounds to be paid to council, where the pounds are erected by council. That provision be made for councils to have footpaths kerbed, guttered, flagged, paved, or asphalted, at partial expense of the owners of property abutting thereon, and also for the recovery of amount from owners of land similar to that provided for in section 3 of Sir George Dibbs's bill.

The Colonial Secretary, in reply, said it was rather a pity that the Government had not had the benefit of the judgment and experience of the conference at an earlier date, for the bill had now practically passed through committee. He was sure, however, that the Government would gladly receive the suggestions. He had had an opportunity of seeing a list of the proposed amendments about a week ago, and advantage had been taken already of some of the valuable advice afforded by the conference. The complete list would, however, be at once placed before his colleagues, and fully considered, and possibly some of the proposed amendments might be incorporated in the postponed clauses or new ones. With regard to the rating powers of councils, something would certainly have to be done to stop attempts of certain landowners to evade their responsibilities to municipalities.

RETRENCHMENT IN THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As a retrenched officer, I would, with your kind permission, like to say a few words respecting the above, in the hope of attracting public attention thereto, and of arousing its victims to some united action towards alleviating the distress caused thereby. In the first place I would ask is it wise, is it prudent, is it statesmanlike, is it in any measure humane, to thrust a large number of men with whom, in the discharge of their duties, no fault has ever been found, and most of whom have wives and families depending upon them, amongst the ranks of the already far too numerous unemployed? I venture to say that fully nine-tenths of these unfortunate men have not been receiving salaries—wages would be the better word—beyond what was absolutely necessary, by the exercise of the strictest economy, to support and keep them out of debt. Should not the heads of departments seriously hesitate, and if needs be, even consult Parliament, before taking any such harsh means of reducing the cost of working their departments? Are not these men, in most cases retrenched without even a week's notice, worthy of as much consideration, and public sympathy and support, as those many hundreds now on strike resisting a forced reduction in their wages? I certainly think so. In the one case they are fighting, and very naturally so, against a reduction in their wages, already low enough, they allege, to live upon; in the other they never get even the offer of a reduction in their wages—they are ruthlessly and at one fell stroke deprived of all wages. The Government, by their actions in the case of the unemployed artisans and unskilled labourers, have virtually admitted that these men have a good case against them, and that they are bound to do all within their power to find them work. Why, then, should they not act similarly towards the no less unfortunate retrenched officers. If retrenchment is absolutely necessary, surely some less harsh and more humane means of effecting it can be devised than by the immediate dismissal of hundreds of not by any means overpaid officers. I would suggest immediate and combined action on the part of the dismissed. I would further, Mr. Editor, venture to enlist your kind sympathy and support in so worthy a cause.

April 5. A VICTIM.

THE WOOL TRADE.

Friday Evening.

In the absence of auction sales, there is little actual business to chronicle, for, though there are a few private transactions taking place, the bulk of the wool arriving is being held for public offering on the 17th and 18th instant. The fine weather now being experienced enables scourers to get their wool dry without delay, and there will no doubt be the usual large proportion of scoured wool on offer at the next sales, along with New England and Queensland parcels of both greasy and scoured. Rates being paid for the few lots that are disposed of privately are well maintained, with a tendency in sellers' favour, and there is nothing at present to warrant any fear that the quotations which we append will not be available at the ensuing sales. They are as follow:—

Description.	Superior.		Good.			Medium.			Inferior.
	d.	d.	d.		d.	d.		d.	d.		d.
Greasy fleece	None offering.		6¾	to	7	5	to	6	3½	to	4½

The manner in which the Sydney sales have increased during the last 11 years is subject for the greatest satisfaction, the rate of progress being truly phenomenal. In 1884-5 the total sales amounted to only 109,000 bales, in 1889-90 they had increased to 235,000 bales, in 1890-91 to 246,000 bales, and in 1892-3 to 362,000 bales. Last year, 1893-4, they reached 401,000 bales, and for the nine months of the present wool year, 1894-5, that is from 1st July, 1894, to date, they stand at 402,000 bales, so that by the 30th June it is not unreasonable to expect that they will then total from 415,000 to 417,000 bales. There must be some considerable virtue in local selling to account for the Sydney market being voluntarily availed of by growers to such an extent, and no better evidence than this can be adduced to prove the fallacy of the statements of London brokers that selling in the colonies is a mistake.

The second series of London sales, which opened on 7th March and closed on 30th March, have inspired the hope and with some show of reason, that the long-looked-for improvement has at last set in. The 5 per cent. fall, in which the first or January-February series resulted, has not only been made good, but a further 2½ to 5 per cent. has been added to the value of the medium to inferior wools, which New South Wales produces in such quantity. Although this is comparatively only a small mercy, it is one to be thankful for, as the earnest of better things to come, and there is more to be hoped for in a steady if slow rate of advance than in any sensational boom, from which there would be the inevitable reaction. The statistical position of the staple is distinctly more favourable than it was a year ago, for whereas at the recent sales only 20,000 bales have been held over, at the corresponding sales of 1894 74,000 bales were carried forward. The great improvement in the American demand is another encouraging feature, the purchases on this account at the second series amounting to 23,000 bales, against only 1000 bales at the March sales of 1894.

The arrivals into Sydney for the week are as follow:—

	Bales.
By rail	960
By sea	1,645
Total	2,605

The total arrivals since the beginning of the statistical year are:—

	Bales.
At Darling Harbour station since 1st July, 1894, to 3rd April, 1895	520,264
Corresponding period last year	483,130
Increase	37,134
	Bales.
By sea, from 1st July, 1894, to 3rd April, 1895 ...	131,506
Corresponding period last year ...	144,140
Decrease ...	12,634

The following shipments have taken place from Sydney:—

	Bales.
Oceana, steamer, to London, 30th March	202
Fortuna, ship, to London, 3rd April	528
Total for week	730
Brought forward since 1st July, 1894	659,884
Total from Sydney	660,614
From Newcastle:
Brought forward since 1st July, 1894	57,111

Regarding the classification of fleeces, and we are speaking now more particularly about the classing of small clips, it may be said that much subdivision is unnecessary. Even in station clips the tendency is often to over-class and make more sorts than there is any occasion for, and some professional classers are not free from this fault. As a general rule, it may be laid down that the fewer divisions a clip can be confined to the better, so long as the sorts can be kept with any approach to evenness, for it must be remembered that all the delicate and intricate manipulation of the fleeces has to be done at the factory before the process of manufacturing is commenced. For small flocks of 1000 and under, if the sheep are all of one breed, two classes of fleece will as a rule be found sufficient, and the first quality should embrace all the fine haired, well-grown, and sound-stapled fleeces. Although the perfecting of manufacturing machinery has made the question of the length of the staple of less importance than it formerly was, the first quality or combing should not be less than 2in., and all fleeces below this standard of length, and all such as are badly grown and tender, be made the second quality, or clothing. To test the strength of the staple requires a little practice, but the knack, for it is nothing more, can easily be picked up by watching any classer at work. The root end of the staple is taken between the forefinger and thumb of the left hand, and the tip-end between the forefinger and thumb of the right hand, and a fair strain, the extent of which can only be gauged by practice, put on the staple. If sound and fit for the first quality, it will stand a considerable tension before breaking, whilst if "tender" it will readily part at the weak spot. This tenderness of staple may be caused either by the sheep having a time of sickness or through being insufficiently fed at some particular period of the year. Thus, a flock that is on good feed for a certain number of months and for a month or more on short commons, succeeded by another period of good feeding, will have a break in the fleece corresponding to the time during which they were starved or insufficiently fed. If there is sufficient of this tender wool to be packed by itself it should be kept separate, if not it may be put with the short and badly-grown fleeces. If the flock is large enough to make three sorts a second combing composed of fleeces a trifle bolder in the staple, but sound, may be made with advantage. All fleeces showing any signs of cross-breeding must be vigorously excluded from the merino classes, and all black or grey wool kept by itself. Mixed bales, that is containing more than one sort, are a mistake. If the quantity of each sort is too small to make a bale, it is better to use bags for packing purposes. Pieces, bellies, and locks must be baled by themselves, and on no account rolled up along with the fleeces. This is one of the most slovenly practices a grower can be guilty of, and, odd instances notwithstanding, when an apparent advantage is gained by the system, or rather want of system, an all-round better result is obtained by keeping these descriptions by themselves.

Another mode of classing that may be adopted is to simply keep the sexes and ages by themselves, as hoggets, wethers, and ewes, making a fourth class of the poor, heavy, and tender fleeces. In long or crossbred wools all cotted or matted fleeces should be kept separate and on no account packed with wool not so affected. Wherever it is possible lots should be made of four bales or over, as three bales and under of any description are designated "star lots" and sold by themselves after the large lots are disposed of, and thus do not receive the attention and competition of all the buyers. It should also be remembered by small growers that all wool in bags is sold either before the wool in bales or else disposed of at the sheepskin sales. Supposing, therefore, that the fleece portion of a small clip is comprised of say four bales and three bags, the four bales will benefit by the full competition of all the buyers, whilst the bags, although containing exactly the same kind of wool, will be sold at a different time and to a more limited audience, and probably bring from 1d to 1½d per lb. less. Many a small grower, through being unacquainted with the modus operandi and usage of the trade, has been dissatisfied with and changed his broker from the cause mentioned, whereas no neglect took place on the seller's part, the selling regulations agreed on by buyers and selling brokers providing for a definite course of action. Although mistakes are no doubt made at times by brokers during the rush of a busy season, the number of auctioneering firms doing business in Sydney, and the strong competition existing amongst them, makes it necessary for each to do their work well to retain their share of business, and it may be taken for granted that cases of neglect or carelessness of clients' interests are the exception.

CONFERENCE ON THE RABBIT QUESTION.

FOURTH DAY.

The conference met yesterday morning at the Lands Department, the Hon. W. Campbell, M.L.C., being in the chair. There was a large attendance of delegates.

DESTRUCTION OF RABBITS.

Mr. Oakden moved,—"That for the destruction of rabbits this conference recommends primarily the use of wire-netting and trapping at the tanks, phosphorised pollard, poisoned twigs, and net pit traps along the lines of wire netting."

The motion was agreed to.

WIRE NETTING.

Mr. Tully moved,—"That in the opinion of this conference the maximum size of wire netting for the future be 1½in. mesh by 42in. wide and 17 gauge." He said that it was a most important matter that they should have proper-sized fencing round the holdings. Everyone knew that the mesh in the 1890 Act, 1¾in., was too large, and that young rabbits simply walked through it.

Mr. Ross seconded the motion.

Mr. Oakden proposed as an amendment that the maximum size of the mesh be 1½in. and the minimum width 36in. He said that as a matter of fact he would recommend holders to put up 1½in. netting. Still, the extra expense might check the use of netting. As to the height, he had himself seen rabbits jump over 42in. netting. ("Hear, hear" and "Oh, oh.")

Mr. M'Farlane said that he supported the motion by Mr. Tully both with regard to the height and mesh of netting. To have the netting smaller would render it more expensive.

Mr. Morgan said that 1¾in. was too large, and 1¼in. would not be too small. Again they could not have a rabbit-proof fence unless it was 3ft. above the ground.

Mr. Gunn said that a combination netting was now being used, having 1¼in. mesh for a foot above the ground, and 1½in. above that. The minimum height, however, should be 42in.

Mr. Hough supported 1½in. netting. Rabbits could squeeze through 1½in. netting and live, but if they got through 1¼in. netting they would certainly die. The combination netting was made by a Belgian firm, and was 1¼in. for a foot from the ground, and 2in. above that. This kind of netting had been tried in Queensland and had answered well.

Mr. Quinn said that these rules ought not to apply to the Western division.

Mr. Gunn moved his proposal as an amendment, but it was negatived by 15 votes to 12. Eventually, on the casting vote of the chairman, the size of the mesh to be used was fixed at 1½in., and it was also decided that the minimum width of the netting be 42in.

Mr. Leslie moved,—"That where any boundary fence which has been or may hereafter be fenced with rabbit-proof netting, whether in a proclaimed rabbit-infested district or not, is used by the adjoining holder to make his holding rabbit proof, such holder shall be liable (after inquiry by the local land board) to a contribution of one-half the cost of making and maintaining such boundary fence rabbit proof." He said that a large number of people would always get away from their obligations if they could. The motion would show the necessity of legislating on the subject.

Mr. Macdonald seconded.

Mr. Atkinson said that according to the Act, in rabbit-infested districts, an adjoining holder was compelled to pay half the cost of a rabbit-proof fence.

Several delegates pointed out that the proposal might be unjust to a newcomer who took up land adjoining fenced property.

The motion was agreed to.

THE PAYMENT OF LEVIES.

Mr. Gateney moved,—"That in any levies made under the pastures and stock boards for the destruction of rabbits and the maintenance of barrier fences such levies shall be pro rata on the acreage of land, and not on a stock basis."

Mr. Oakden moved,—"That there be added to the resolution the words, 'In proportion to the natural carrying capacity of such country.'"

Mr. Leslie said that the amendment would be misleading, as the natural carrying capacity of a great deal of country was nothing.

Mr. Ashton said that in a rabbit-infested district the natural carrying capacity of the land was nil. What would be just would be to levy at so much per acre on the least valuable land, and all other land pay at the same rate. By Mr. Oakden's amendment the land which had been best looked after would have to pay at the highest rate.

Considerable discussion ensued; and eventually the amendment was agreed to, and the motion, as amended, was passed.

REPORT TO THE MINISTER.

A report to the Minister for Lands, embodying the resolutions agreed to by the conference, was adopted; and it was resolved that it be presented by the chairman of the conference on Monday.

VOTES OF THANKS.

The conference then terminated, votes of thanks being passed to the chairman, the secretary, and the press.

A HARBOUR EXCURSION.

The labours of the conference having concluded yesterday morning, the delegates were invited by the Minister for Lands to a harbour excursion during the afternoon. The steamer Dawn left Circular Quay at a quarter past 2 o'clock. A trip was taken round the eastern shores and up to Middle Harbour. Here a short stay was made, and several toasts were honoured.

Mr. Fisher proposed the health of the Minister for Lands. He said that Mr. Carruthers had done a good thing to invite practical men to Sydney to deal with a question such as this, and he believed that the Minister's example would be followed by others. He also hoped that Mr. Carruthers would give due consideration to the reforms which had been proposed by the conference.

The Minister for Lands, in acknowledging the toast, said that he hoped that the result of the deliberations of the conference would be that something would be done by the Legislature to cope with what was a national evil. Still, he did not want to be drawn into saying anything premature on the rabbit question. He had been glad to exchange views with them, as they knew more about the practical part of the question than ever he could expect to learn. He knew that the pastoral and agricultural industries were very low just now, and, although Parliament did not always do all the work that might be expected of it, he could assure them that members of both Houses sympathised with them in their trouble. He took pardonable pride in the Land Bill which he had introduced. He did not suppose that it would solve all the questions relating to the land; but it was an attempt to make the pastoral and agricultural industries exist side by side. (Hear, hear.) In future years it would be recognised that 1894 and 1895 had been those of the lowest prices; but he thought that there were signs that we had "turned the corner," and that matters were now on the mend. At any rate, the pioneers in this young country, who fought with hard times, noxious animals, and rabbits, deserved every encouragement, and he wished them a full measure of success. He concluded by proposing the health of the chairman of the conference, the Hon. W. Campbell, M.L.C., who briefly returned thanks.

Mr. Gibson proposed the health of Mr. Taylor, of the rabbit branch of the department, for the able manner in which he had as secretary conducted the business of the conference, and that gentleman duly acknowledged the compliment.

The catering, which was in the hands of Mr. Tollemach, of the City Buffet, was carried out in a satisfactory manner.

The trip was an enjoyable one, and Sydney was reached shortly after 5 o'clock in the evening.

THE STRIKE AT HUDSON BROTHERS' WORKS.

A mass meeting of the men to consider the situation has been called for this morning. After the meeting the first distribution of strike pay will be made, and the provisions donated by local butchers will also be shared. The married and single men will be paid the same amount in cash, and the boys will be paid at half rate. The married men will be the only ones to share in the distribution of provisions. The unionists among the strikers who are receiving assistance from their various societies have declined to accept any strike pay out of the general fund. There were few local applications for work during yesterday, and no fresh hands were taken.

SOLID FACTS FOR STRIKERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Has the working man, before striking for higher wages, ever taken into consideration how cheap living is now to what it was a short time ago? I have taken the following prices from the Herald this day six years ago:—

April 6, 1889.	April 6, 1895.
Meat, 5d per lb.	Meat, 1½d per lb.
Butter, 1s 10d per lb.	Butter, 6d per lb.
Eggs, 1s 7d per dozen	Eggs, 1s per dozen
Milk, 6d per quart	Milk, 3d per quart
Bread, 3d per loaf	Bread, 2½d per loaf
Flour, £12 10s per ton	Flour, £6 10s per ton
Tea, 1s 6d per lb.	Tea, 1s per lb.
Sugar, 2½d per lb.	Sugar, 2d per lb.
Potatoes, £6 per ton.	Potatoes, £2 5s per ton.

House rent is fully 25 per cent. lower, and a similar reduction applies to clothing, while if a little recreation is desired I will only quote the following:—

Fare to Manly, 1s 6d return.	Fare to Manly, 6d return.
Omnibus fares, 3d.	Omnibus fares, 2d.

I feel certain he has never gone into the above figures, but has allowed himself to be led away by strike leaders. Had he done so, he would find himself better off at the present wage than when wages were higher. Wages, like all other saleable articles, have only a certain market value, and will find their own level, notwithstanding minimum-wage contracts and Conciliation and Arbitration Acts. I am, &c.,

MEETINGS.

WATER AND SEWERAGE BOARD.

A special meeting of the Water and Sewerage Board was held yesterday, at which the two new members, Colonel Rowe, F.R.I.B.A., and Mr. Mansfield, F.R.I.B.A., were present. The President (Mr. C. W. Darley) welcomed the new members to the board, and at the same time testified to the value of the services rendered in connection with it by Mr. Hickson and Mr. Vernon. The only business of interest to the public transacted at the meeting related to the designs sent in for decorating the interior of the board's offices. Some excellent designs had been sent in, but as some of the tenderers had seemingly not fully realised what was required, it was decided to have more precise specifications prepared and call for fresh tenders for the work.

LODGE NO. 11 M.U.O.O.F.

The Loyal Victoria Lodge No. 11 M.U.O.O.F. held a meeting on Tuesday last at the new lodge-room, Castlereagh-street. The officers elected for the ensuing term were installed as follows:—Bro. Geo. Harper, Noble Grand; Bro. Chas. Coleman, Vice-Grand; Bro. Jas. M. Costello, elective secretary. The officers and brothers of the various lodges mustered in very strong force. The installation ceremony was carried out by the Grand Master of the lodge, Bro. Clancy, who was assisted by Past Prov. G.M. Bro. Mackenzie and Past Grand Masters Chamberlain and W. A. Williams.

FREETRADE, LAND, AND REFORM LEAGUE OF BALMAIN NORTH.

The Balmain North Branch of the Freetrade, Land, and Reform League of N.S.W. held their monthly meeting on Thursday evening, in the Balmain Oddfellows' Hall, under the presidency of Mr. R. T. Jackson. The principal business of the evening was the debate on the question, "Should land values be eventually the sole source of revenue?" which was opened at a previous meeting by Mr. F. F. Heddinott in the affirmative, and resumed by Mr. G. T. Master (leader of the opposition), who admitted the justice of the principle. Messrs. Wolstenhome, R. Sampson, and T. Hay joined in the debate. On being put to the vote, the principle was affirmed by an overwhelming majority.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the executive committee of the above was held yesterday at the association's office, 12 Imperial Arcade. There were present—Dr. Vandeleur Kelly (in the chair), Mr. Hanbury Davis, Mr. Walsh, Dr. Roth, and Major Parrott. The monthly reports received from the hon. secretaries show that classes are now undergoing instruction at the following branches and detached classes:—Woollahra, First Aid (women), lecturer Dr. Walton Smith; Colonial Sugar Refining Company, Pyrmont, First Aid (men), lecturer Dr. Jarvie Hood; Moss Vale, First Aid (men), lecturer Dr. J. C. Stevenson; Paterson, First Aid (women), lecturer Dr. S. J. Richards; Young, First Aid (men), lecturer Dr. Stanley Treddder; Croydon, First Aid (women), lecturer Dr. Kirkland; Petersham, First Aid (women), lecturer Dr. G. H. Abbott; Ashfield, nursing and hygiene (men), lecturer Dr. P. Moore Wood; Newtown, nursing and hygiene (women), lecturer Dr. W. B. Trindall; Kogarah, First Aid (men), lecturer Dr. Leslie Bucknell. Communications have been received showing that classes are now in formation at the following places:—Glebe, First Aid (for men and women), lecturer Dr. Robert J. Boyd; Hunter's Hill, First Aid (for men and women), lecturer Dr. Saunderson Lloyd; Kiama, First Aid (men), lecturer Dr. Primrose Anderson; nursing and hygiene, Pitt-street Congregational Church; First Aid and nursing, North Sydney, lecturer Dr. Roth; Balmain, First Aid (women), lecturer Dr. C. U. Carruthers; Ryde, nursing and hygiene, lecturer Dr. W. G. Cumming Smith; Liberty Plains, First Aid (men), lecturer Dr. Francis H. Furnival. Satisfactory reports have also been received from the hon. secretaries of the practice societies in connection with the association's certificated members.

ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

A meeting of the council of the Zoological Society was held at the gardens, Moore Park, yesterday afternoon. There were present—Mr. John Keep (in the chair), Mr. Charles Moore, Mr. Greaves, Mr. J. Barnet, Mr. W. Coles, Captain Ghest, and Mr. W. H. Catlett (secretary). It was announced that the debit balance had been reduced to £83. The superintendent, Mr. Powell, reported that the animals were in a very healthy condition. The secretary's report showed that the expenditure of the month amounted to £131 2s 9d. The receipts for the gates amounted to £110 0s; from the elephant, £4 12s 6d; and from the donkey and pony, £1 19s: making a total of £117 7s 6d. The gate money represented the admission of 3800 persons, 3464 being adults and 334 children. The gardens had also been visited by 545 school children, accompanied by 19 teachers. A letter was received from Captain Fielding, conveying to the society, on behalf of Lady Duff, her sincere thanks for the letter of sympathy in her time of sorrow. A letter from Mr. Bland Holt was read, stating that he could not make satisfactory arrangements for the shipping of the society's camel to Melbourne, for use in his play, "The Span of Life." The following is a list of the donors and donations since last meeting:—Two Australian quail, presented by Mr. N. S. Josephson, Burwood; platypus, presented by Mr. J. Soulson, Gulgong; native cat, presented by Mr. K. K. Mackellar, Rose Bay; two kingfishers, presented by Mr. L. Riese, Enmore; echidna, presented by Mr. W. H. Bearpark, Surry Hills; wombat, donor unknown, Goulburn; "Sauva on Mauhu-nara," a monograph in aid of the history of San Paulo, presented by Senor A. G. de Azevedo Sampaio, San Paulo. The council decided to reduce the wages of the employees, those receiving 7s 6d a day being reduced to 6s 9d, and those 7s a day to 6s 3d.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE (WITHIN THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY).

The adjourned meeting in connection with the proposed loan exhibition of works of art, historical records, curiosities, &c., was held yesterday afternoon in the Town Hall. Present—Mr. Richard Teece (in the chair), Lady Windeyer, Mrs. Lees, Mrs. Garran, Mrs. Edmund Barton, Mrs. H. E. Russell, Mrs. Hey Sharp, Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Todd, Mrs. Tindall, Mrs. Walter Hall, Mrs. Macdonald, Miss Margaret Windeyer, Mrs. Rose Scott, Miss Hynes, Miss Buckland, Miss Dickenson, Miss Montefiore, Mr. A. Newham, Mr. J. T. Walker, and others. It was determined to proceed with the movement if the replies to the circulars are encouraging, as they are fully expected to be. An executive committee was formed to issue the circular and make other arrangements, the intention being that the exhibition shall open on the 18th May and continue for a fortnight, and to make it more attractive there will be a conversazione, promenade concerts, &c. The executive committee consists of Mrs. Lees, Mrs. Edmund Barton, Mrs. E. Webb (Bathurst), Mrs. H. E. Russell, Miss Macdonald, Mrs. Walter Hall, Miss Dickenson, Miss Padley, Mr. C. B. Stephen, Mr. Mickleham, Mr. Newham, and Mr. Teece, with power to add to their number, with the hon. secretaries, Miss Fairfax, Miss Russell, and Miss Margaret Windeyer, and the hon. treasurers, Messrs. J. T. Walker and G. E. Rich.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

Last night a meeting of the council of the New South Wales Rifle Association was held at the United Service Institute, Captain Olderhaw presiding. The chairman said he regretted to announce that in the death of the late Governor the association had lost their respected patron. On the proposition of Captain Leggatt it was unanimously resolved,—"That this council desire to assure Lady Duff of their heartfelt sympathy in the sad loss that has come upon her in the death of their esteemed patron the late Sir Robert W. Duff, and place on record their appreciation of the interest shown by his Excellency in the association."

A letter was received from Lady Manning saying that Sir William Manning had always appreciated the gift from the association of the photographic group of officers, but wished her to ask them, after his death, what had better be done with it. She asked, as she would not have a house for some time to come, if it would be acceptable to the association to place it in one of their rooms. In reply to a letter from Mr. M'Callum inquiring if it was competent for him while being a member of Volunteer Artillery Rifle Club to compete for the medal presented by the association to the St. Leonards Rifle Club, it was decided that Mr. M'Callum was not justified in competing for the medal. On the proposition of Captain Leggatt it was decided to send a team to compete in the Federal Rifle Match at Brisbane this year.

FIELD OF MARS TRAMWAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—A report in to-day's paper states that a deputation (names not given), introduced by Mr. Farnell, M.L.A., representing, amongst other places, Hunter's Hill, waited upon the Minister for Works yesterday to protest against the construction of the Woolwich to Field of Mars tramway. It should be known that no one has authority to represent himself as a deputationist from Hunter's Hill against this tramway. As a matter of fact, the municipal council of Hunter's Hill, as a body, has pronounced in its favour. A large majority of the ratepayers have petitioned in favour of it, and the persons mainly interested—viz., the 80 or 90 ratepayers of Hunter's Hill, who bought the land from the Government for some £60,000 10 years ago on the faith of a tramway being constructed—have petitioned the Government to construct the tramway by the shortest route, whether it involves transhipment to steamer or not. No other route than the one passed by the Government will be of any service to them, and no other route will pay; therefore, the Minister for Works is on safe grounds in carrying out the promises definitely made for valuable consideration by previous Governments. A return to the purchasers of some £80,000 and interest would no doubt be a solution of the question, but even then the necessity for the tramway would exist on other public grounds. As this line can be constructed for £16,500, while no other route is available, the Minister is right in having justice done to the purchasers, whom I officially represent. If he were to tell the residents of Drummoyne, Mansfield, and Ryde, who are not residents nor purchasers of these lands, who are constantly worrying him, to attend to improvements within their own municipalities, and not to meddle with the business of the people of Hunter's Hill, within which borough this tramway will entirely lie, the important work we have so long and forbearingly waited for would soon be accomplished, and evidence would be then given to the inhabitants of the aforesaid districts of its utility.

I am, &c.,

Chairman of Field of Mars Purchasers' Committee.

MUNICIPAL COUNCILS.

CABRAMATTA AND CANLEY VALE.

TENDERS FOR WORK.

A meeting was held at the Canley Vale Hall on the 29th March. The Mayor reported that Alderman Asimus and himself, representing a conference of the Cabramatta and Canley Vale, Auburn, Camden, Liverpool, and Smithfield and Fairfield councils, had waited upon the Colonial Secretary for the purpose of placing before him certain suggested amendments to the Local Government Bill. He pointed out that the desire of the conference was to assist the Government in making the measure as perfect as possible, and laid particular stress upon the necessity for an alteration in the powers the councils at present enjoyed for the collection of rates upon allotments by making provision for the compulsory registration of names of property-owners with local councils. The Minister promised to carefully consider the suggestions, and said he thought that when the bill became law it would be admitted that it afforded opportunities of self-government such as were urgently needed in different parts of the colony. The council went into committee to consider tenders for the erection of culverts on Cowpasture and Lackey roads. The tender of W. Kelly was the lowest for the former, but the Mayor intimated that the balance of the Government grant was insufficient to cover the cost. He, however, suggested that the council should make up the difference from its funds in order to complete the work, which would show the Government that they were desirous of doing what was necessary. Alderman Asimus thought the council would be perfectly justified in contributing the balance, about £5, rather than that the work should be left in abeyance. It was unanimously decided to accept Kelly's tender, £12 15s. The tender of W. Kelly was also accepted conditionally for the erection of a culvert on Lackey-road.

HURSTVILLE.

TROUBLE OVER MINUTES AND CHAIRMAN OF WORKS.

This council met on the 28th ultimo. The clerk read the minutes of the last meeting and subsequent proceedings, when Alderman Griffin moved,—"That the portion of the minutes referring to the appointment of Alderman John Sproule on the 5th March as chairman of the works committee be expunged." The motion being negatived, a division was demanded, when only Aldermen Griffin, John Thompson, and Smithson voted for the motion. Alderman Griffin then moved,—"That the minutes signed by Alderman Sproule as chairman of the works committee be expunged," which met with a like result. A further motion was then moved by Alderman Griffin to adopt certain minutes of the 5th March, from which he contended the word "special" had been struck without authority, and he desired the word to be inserted. The Mayor ruled the motion out of order. Alderman Griffin, persisting in addressing the chair, was asked to desist, when he said he was determined to have things done in a legal and right way. The business then proceeded. The Mayor moved, and it was unanimously agreed,—"That this council desires to express its deepest sympathy to Lady Duff in her recent bereavement." A mass of other formal business being transacted, the council rose.

PADDINGTON.

ANNUAL ESTIMATES.

This council held a meeting on Monday night. The Mayor (Ald. G. Parker Jones) presided. Lady Duff wrote asking the council to accept thanks for its expression of sympathy in the death of the late Sir Robert Duff. The Under-Secretary of Lands wrote with reference to the request of the council to receive a deputation regarding the strip of land, now vested in the Water Supply and Sewerage Board, dividing Alma from Goodhope-streets, and asking that it be dedicated for a public roadway. The Under-Secretary pointed out that all lands vested in the Water Supply and Sewerage Board were not under the control of the Secretary for Lands. The Mayor in a minute to the council reported that at present eight carts and 13 men were employed in all the works of the council. The estimated cost of labour for removal of garbage was £1897 12s per annum, independent of tools, &c. The Mayor pointed out that a considerable strain upon road maintenance was the narrowness of the tyres upon the wheels of vehicles used for carrying heavy loads. In the case of large furniture vans, some of which weighed 6 tons when loaded, roads were frequently cut up by these immense vehicles, especially when going down steep hills with the wheels locked. This was the cause of considerable damage, particularly on asphalted roads. The Mayor considered that this would be a matter which would engage the attention of all suburban councils at an early date. The valuers (Messrs. W. Elliott and J. P. Walcott) presented their annual report, which stated that a general reduction had been made in rentals since last year, which consequently meant a decrease in the income of the council derivable from this source, but Paddington had suffered less in this respect than most municipalities. The number of assessments were 4431, against 4406 last year, the assessed value of which was £165,129, against last year £172,396. The general municipal rate of 1s in the £ upon the total assessed value for the current year will yield a sum of £8256, as against £8629 16s last year, being a decrease of £373 16s. The total number of occupied houses was 102 in excess of last year, and the total number of vacant houses was 35 less than last year. The following motion by the Mayor was carried,—"That the estimates of the probable expenditure for the current municipal year received on the 15th March be now adopted." The general rate for the current municipal year was struck at 1s, and a lighting rate of 3d.

WATERLOO.

ALIGNMENT OF STREETS.

At the last meeting of this council a letter was read from Captain Fielding, conveying the thanks of Lady Duff for the message of sympathy sent by the Mayor, aldermen, and residents of Waterloo on the death of the late Sir Robert Duff, Governor of the colony. A complaint was received from the Redfern Council as to the annoyance which certain residents of that borough experience from the burning of refuse in Downing-street, Waterloo. The matter was left in the hands of the Mayor. It was agreed not to co-operate with the Hurstville Council in the movement to change the system of Government alignments of streets. The Alexandria Council having brought under notice the damage to property by the rush of stormwater from Hansard-street, Waterloo, the works committee recommended the construction of two gullies and a 12in. pipe connecting with same, on the understanding that the Alexandria Council likewise connected their pipes therewith, and thus relieve the pressure. The tender of Mr. M'Manus for cartage of metal and supply of ballast and blinding was accepted.

AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION AND CREATION OF NEW STATES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Australian Federation having apparently passed the sentimental stage, there is a reasonable hope that the day is not far distant when the people of these colonies will fully realise that they are "one people" and have "one destiny." Since the memorable gathering of 1891 this question has occupied the minds of every thinking man in Australia. The idea has grown and expanded, and it is safe to predict that the direct appeal to the people—the referendum—will disclose their unanimity in their desire for a united Australia. It is, however, possible in bringing about the accomplishment of such a desirable purpose as national unity and a federation of States, each retaining its own State rights, will lead to the sinking of provincial rivalry and the creation of a national sentiment, while other important questions hinging thereon may be overlooked, and a fatal mistake made which would most assuredly introduce an element of discord, not only into the Federal Parliament, but also among the people in the neglected outlying districts of the larger colonies, who, as in the case of Queensland for several years past, and at considerable expenditure of time and money, have by deputations to London and local organisations used every effort to induce the Home Government as well as the Queensland Government to fulfil the conditions provided by several Acts of the Imperial Parliament, as well as the spirit and letter of despatches from the Secretaries of State for the Colonies, before the settlement and occupation of the territories now known as Central and Northern Queensland.

It was never intended, either by Divine Providence or by the British Parliament, that these vast territories should remain for all time tied to the Moreton Bay district and to Brisbane, the capital, situate in a most distant corner of the territory, away on the border of New South Wales. The absurdity of the whole thing is apparent, and yet, although the people of these outlying territories have not only common sense but the law of England at their backs, yet justice is delayed, and every conceivable dodge is resorted to by wire-pulling in Government circles in London—and not only this but the contemptible meanness of misrepresentation and falsehood has been descended to by Queensland statesmen—to prevent justice being done to the people, whose burden of taxation is so heavy as to leave annually a large surplus revenue, which is taken away and expended in Brisbane and Southern Queensland. A celebrated American statesman, on one occasion, in his place in Congress said it was a crime on the part of any Government to exact any greater amount of revenue from the people than was necessary for the good government and requisite public expenditure in the State. Yet this crime has been perpetrated continuously for more than 30 years in Central Queensland, while the wrong has been pressing on the people in an increasing volume every year. I believe I am not over the mark when I state that during the last two years the surplus revenue of Central Queensland, of which Rockhampton is the capital, is more than three-quarters of a million sterling, every shilling of which has been carried out of the division to be expended in Brisbane and Southern Queensland. The wisdom of American statesmen is apparent in their method of dealing with territories and the formation of new States: the average area, except in the special case of Texas, does not exceed 50,000 or 60,000 square miles. It is needless to point out the advantages arising out of such an admirable system in the concentration of effort and facilities for settlement, as well as of government, on a given and circumscribed area of territory. Let us picture the territory of the United States as it existed a century back, governed from New York, Boston, or Washington, after the model of Australia. Instead of a population of 65,000,000, there would not be to-day one-fifth that number, the sites of her Western cities would have remained primeval forests, and her transcontinental railway would not have been built perhaps for another century. And yet here in Queensland, with a coast line of 2550 miles, or nearly four times greater than that of New South Wales, with its capital distant from the farthest point of the territory 2500 miles, with an area of nearly 700,000 square miles, or double the size of New South Wales and Victoria combined, and yet Brisbane politicians have thrown every barrier in the way of the separation of Central and Northern Queensland and their becoming self-governing States.

The Draft Bill to constitute the Commonwealth of Australia (1891)—for which Sir Samuel Griffith has had the credit of authorship—has therein embodied (chapter VI. New States, clause 5):—"A new State shall not be formed by separation of territory from a State without the consent of the Parliament thereof, nor shall a State be formed by the union of two or more States or parts of States, or the limit of the States be altered, without the consent of the Parliament or Parliaments of the State or States so concerned."

This clause was evidently designed to bind with chains for all time the disaffected districts of Central and Northern Queensland to the paternal Government of Brisbane, as it has never been hitherto known in Australian history that the Parliament of any colony ever consented to the dismemberment of its own territory, as in the case of the Port Phillip district and its erection into the colony of Victoria in 1850; or that of the Moreton Bay district in 1859 into the colony of Queensland. In either case the members of the Sydney Legislature were almost unanimous in their opposition to the wishes of the people of those territories; but it remained for the Home Government to take action, and do justice to the people of those districts; and who to-day will say there was not wisdom in the decision? A similar selfish and obstructive course has been continuously pursued by the Brisbane Parliament, and were the clauses of the draft bill of 1891—already referred to as part of the proposed constitution of federated Australia—passed into law, there would be no hope for justice to Central or Northern Queensland, as the Federal Parliament would be bound by the hard-and-fast lines of the Constitution, and therefore powerless to act. On behalf of the executive council of the Central Queensland Territorial Separation League I have submitted to the Hon. G. H. Reid, Premier of N.S.W.—who has since his advent to office revived the federation movement, and pledged himself to make it the leading feature of his Administration—the following clause, to replace clause 5, under the heading of the Formation of New States in the Draft Bill of 1891, which would not only meet the case, but be in full accord with Imperial legislation on the subject. The proposed new clause is as follows:—

New States: Saving of rights of the people on outlying territories.—"5. The formation of new States by the separation of territory from a State shall be in accordance with the spirit and intention of the Imperial Government, set forth from time to time since 1842, in various Acts of Parliament, and embodied in despatches of the Secretaries of State for the Colonies for the time being, namely, Act 5 and 6 Vic., C 76 (1842); 13 and 14 Vic., C 59 (1850); 18 and 19 Vic., C 54 (1855); 24 and 25 Vic., C 44 (1862). And it shall be within the province of the Federal Parliament, on the petition of resident householders, in conformity with these Acts, praying to be erected into a separate State, to give favourable consideration to such petition; and, if satisfied as to the extent of population, the amount of the import and export trade of such territory, as well as its revenue and resources and its ability to undertake the responsibility of its share of the public debt, and contribute its proportion for the maintenance of provincial and federal government, it shall order a poll to be taken of the inhabitants of said territory on the question of territorial separation from the parent colony and its admission into the federation as a new State, which shall be granted should there be a two-thirds majority in favour of the measure."

The original clause 5, "Formation of new states," embodied in the draft bill of 1891 if retained in the new Federation bill would be illegal, as it is a deliberate attempt to override several Acts of the Imperial Parliament, as recited in the proposed new clause 5, and passed from time of which, with your permission, I will give a brief outline, as they have a direct bearing on the question, namely:—Imperial Act Vic. 5 and 6, c. 76 (1842).—When a new Constitution was granted to New South Wales, and the Imperial Government, in a circumscribed measure, surrendered some of its authority when it created a partly elective Legislature to supersede the old nominee Council, which had ruled the territory for half a century; and in doing so created safeguards, and laid down certain defined conditions as to the future government of the outlying unoccupied territory included at that period within the boundaries of New South Wales. One of the clauses in the Act referred to, entitled An Act for the Government of New South Wales and Van Diemen's Land, the 51st section of which, "premising that the great extent of the colony of New South Wales might render it necessary to divide it into separate colonies," enacted "that it shall be lawful by her Majesty's letters patent to be from time to time issued under the great seal to define the future possessive limits of them." It should be remembered that the territory of New South Wales at that period embraced the whole of the eastern part of the continent, from the western boundary of Western Australia, with the exception of the original territory of the province of South Australia; from Torres Straits, and the Arafura Sea, to the South Pacific. In the year 1850 another and comprehensive Act—the 13 and 14 Vic., c. 59—was passed, "An Act for the better government of her Majesty's Australian colonies." Reciting the powers reserved to her Majesty by the Act of 1842, it removed the northern boundary of the colony of New South Wales proper from the 26th degree of south latitude to the 30th degree, and extended the powers reserved by the previous or then enacted Statute with relation to the division of territories, and the erection of new colonies upon them when divided. The next Act found in the statute book bearing on the subject is the 18th and 19th Vic., c. 54 (1855), being the Imperial Act, which scheduling with some modification the Act previously passed by the Legislature of New South Wales to establish representative government in that colony, became its first Constitution Act. Its seventh section reaffirmed the provisions before referred to, as to future divisions of territory, but neither added to nor impaired their force. On the 6th June, 1859, the letters patent creating the colony of Queensland were issued. They purported to have been so issued under seventh section 18 and 19 Vic. c. 54. Two years after the issue of the letters patent in 1861, an Act of the Imperial Parliament, 24 and 25 Vic., c. 44, dealing with this question, which must be regarded as a continuity of the reservation made, and also of the intention of the Legislature as to the method and direction of its exercise. In the second section the Act recognised its existence by adding a further reservation of power by such letters patent "to annex to any colony which is now or may hereafter be established on the continent of Australia any territories which in the exercise of the powers hereunto beforementioned might have been erected into a separate colony." It is notable that in all Acts of the Imperial Parliament relating to the government of the Australian colonies and their territories there is a declaration of power reserved by the Crown to detach territory from the parent colony, and to erect new colonies therefrom. The intention of the Imperial Government is evident in the following extract from the despatch of the Duke of Newcastle, her Majesty's principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, dated 18th August, 1858, and addressed to Sir William Denison, Governor of New South Wales:—"It will be desirable that the Crown possess the power of dividing further the territory now created the colony of Queensland by detaching from it such northern portions as may hereafter be found fit to be erected into separate colonies." On 14th December, 1861, his Grace the Duke of Newcastle addressed a dispatch to Sir Geo. F. Bowen, Governor of Queensland, shortly after the separation of that colony from New South Wales. "I am not prepared to abandon on the part of her Majesty's Government the power to deal with the districts not yet settled as the wishes and convenience of the future settlers may require." (Neither Central nor Northern Queensland were then settled.)

On the erection of Western Australia into a self-governing colony in 1890 the Imperial Act defines clearly the intention of the Government to retain power to erect one or more colonies therefrom, clearly showing that the Imperial Government still retains the right to create new colonies as occasion may require. It is therefore evident that clause 5, "Formation of new States," in the draft bill of 1891 is illegal, and in direct opposition to the various Acts of Parliament recited. The inclusion of any such clause in any new federation bill will most assuredly meet with the most determined opposition from the people of Central and Northern Queensland, who would prefer no federation at all if purchased at such a price, as it would only perpetuate the grievances and discontent which the people of these districts have so long borne in the hope that they will ultimately attain their just rights—that is, the right of self-government, which they have been entitled to long ago. Not only would a great wrong be inflicted on the people of Central and Northern Queensland, but the inclusion of such a clause in the new federation bill would create confusion, and prevent the harmonious working of the Federal Parliament. The South Australian Parliament might refuse to pass a measure for the erection of the Northern Territory into a new and separate State. The Western Australian Provincial Parliament might take the same course with the outlying districts of its immense territory, and refuse to pass any measure for the creation of a new State in order to retain its territory intact, with the result that the progress of the country would be seriously retarded, and the benefits arising out of Australian federation neutralised, while discontent and demoralisation would become rampant from one end of the continent to the other. It is hoped that the question raised about the creation of new States, as set forth in this correspondence, will meet with attention and just recognition by those who will be entrusted with the drafting of a constitution bill for a federated Australia, that they may not lend themselves to a clique, or be made a catspaw to carry out the wishes of interested politicians who regard Central and Northern Queensland as a pair of milch cows to be operated on and drained continuously for the sole use and benefit of Brisbane and the Moreton Bay country, with which Central and Northern Queensland have no affinity. In conclusion, I beg to give you the approximate area of the three great divisions into which Queensland has been officially divided for several years past, and which should long ago have been created three separate colonies. South Queensland, embracing Moreton Bay, Wide Bay, Darling Downs, and the western country, 220,000 square miles, of which Brisbane is the capital. Central Queensland, embracing the coast country from Dawes Range to Cape Palmerston, and the western country to the South Australian boundary, of which Rockhampton is the capital, area 220,000 square miles. North Queensland, embracing the country from Cape Palmerston to Cape York, the Gulf country, and west to the South Australian boundary, of which Townsville is the capital, area 246,000 square miles. Each of these divisions nearly thrice the area of the colony of Victoria, and possessing untold agricultural, pastoral, and mineral resources, which territorial separation alone, and the management by the people of these territories of their own affairs, can properly develop. Apologising for so largely trespassing on your space,

I am, &c.,

THE CITY OF CARLISLE.

A message from Newcastle yesterday ran as follows:—The barque City of Carlisle, which left this port at 11 a.m., stood back again. The tug Storm Cock went out to her. The barque lowered a boat with a sick man on board, which went to the Stormcock. The barque then wore round and stood on her course.

THE M.M. LINER AUSTRALIEN.

This morning the Australien, from Marseilles, is due at the company's wharf, Circular Quay. Elsewhere will be found a copy of the ship's manifest of goods consigned to Sydney. A 10 per cent. general average is asked on the cargo in consequence of a fire having occurred in one of the holds during the voyage. Our Melbourne correspondent wired:—During the run from Aden to Mahe a fire occurred in one of the hatches of the Australien, but was speedily got under, little or no consternation being created on board.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY EVENING.

The business of the day in stocks and shares was unimportant, the market having within the past few days lapsed into a decidedly dull state. The conditions on which we recently commented continue to prevail. Money is available for investment, but holders of shares show no eagerness to quit properties which give rates of interest so much in excess of what is obtainable from most other forms of investment—rates ranging from 4½ per cent. upwards. Perhaps there is more demand for the deposits of reconstructed banks than for other lines on the list. This is not surprising. Most of them pay 4½ per cent. on the par price, and all, with the exception of those of the Commercial Bank of Sydney, are selling at a discount, and thus give an immediate return of about 5 per cent. to 6½ per cent. and a gift of the amount of the discount ranging from 2s to 7s in the £, practically more than doubling the interest rate in the case of several of the deposit securities. Bank of New South Wales shares were again dealt in at 30½. City Bank shares were 1s higher, the new shares 3s. North Shore Ferry were quoted at an advance of 3d. For City of Goulburn Gas a higher price was offered, and Tooth's were likewise rather dearer. Colonial Sugar rose ¼. Eagle Tobacco were 1d cheaper, and Mont de Piété went down 3d.

On the Sydney Stock Exchange the following sales were reported:—At 1 o'clock: Mont de Piété, 24s 9d. At 4 o'clock: Bank of New South Wales, 30½. North Shore Ferry, 37s 9d.

The closing quotations were:—

*Due 1st November, 1895. † And interest.

In the monthly settlement of country as well as of city trade accounts there is nothing unusual to notice, and banks and merchants agree in stating that the "Fourth" passed over satisfactorily. Although trade is not brisk, there is no reason to suppose it to be short in volume of what has been current for months past; and steady, if slow, improvement is to be looked for as the result of the general settling down to the work of developing the resources of the country.

The close of the wool sales last week, has necessarily deprived our commercial list of quotations of its most prominent feature. Though our latest quotation for silver is ¾d per oz. below the price quoted on the 1st April, at 2s 6d it is ½d over its over the price current a week back. The market being on a speculative basis, quotations almost necessarily fluctuate from day to day in a more than ordinary degree. Lead and tin share with silver the stronger position disclosed, the former having risen 2s 6d and the later 5s per ton.

The average liabilities of the London Bank of Australia in New South Wales for the first quarter of the year include the following items, those for the preceding quarter being given in brackets:—Notes in circulation, £27,518 (£30,307); deposits not bearing interest, £191,342 (£175,584); deposits bearing interest, £483,246 (£506,367); coin and bullion £[illegible] (£[illegible]); advances, £1,833,094 (£1,872,6[illegible]).

The English Money market has lapsed into an easier condition, three months' bills having declined to [illegible] of 1 per cent., or 1½ per cent. below the Bank of England rate. The figures of the bank this week have been affected by the dividend payments, the Government deposits having declined by a million and a half sterling.

The week's changes in colonial stock quotations are in the way of further improvement. New South Wales 4's have gone up ¼, and 3½'s, 1924 are ¼ higher. The net prices show New South Wales 3½ per cents to be in the first position, South Australian securities second, and New Zealand third. A jump of 1½ in the 4 per cents. of Western Australia puts that colony rather above the last-named colony. Presumably the enormous increase of its quarter's revenue has had some effect in giving so great a rise to a stock that had previously stood in a comparatively good position in the general list.

We have yet to learn whether there are good foundations for the anticipation of fresh loans by Western Australia, Queensland, and New South Wales. The statement that the success of a Western Australian loan is assured indicates the favour in which the youngest of the colonies is held. Nothing has been said or done in this colony to lead to the expectation of an early loan in Great Britain. Possibly it may be deemed a good opportunity to replace with inscribed stock some part of the debentures and Treasury bills shortly to mature. The knowledge that this will have to be done very shortly, and the favourable state of the market, may have caused the talk in London with regard to a new loan. There is no warrant for the raising of money for any other purpose.

For some time past Colonial Government stocks have been steadily moving upwards, the 3½ per cents. more rapidly than the 4 per cents. For instance, since the beginning of the year New South Wales 4 per cents. have only risen 1½, while 3½ per cents. maturing in 1924 have advanced 2½. They stand at 110¼ and 102½ net respectively. The effect of this movement, which brings the two stocks nearer than they ordinarily stood prior to the Argentine trouble, favours conversion. By this there might be some gain in interest, but as 110¼ is to 102½ with 2 given as an inducement to convert, each £1,000,000 of 4 per cents. would be increased to £1,100 000 of 3½ per cents. Still, on the whole, there might be a saving. And as we have already suggested, if the 4 per cents. maturing in 1933 could be converted into a 3½ per cent. 50-year loan, with the option of payment by the Government after 15 to 20 years, the colony would probably be considerably benefited, either from the shortening of the currency than from any actual immediate saving. As to the latest of the 5 per cent. securities, we still think it would be better to let them mature—as they will within the next seven years—and so obtain the full benefit of the difference between 3½, or possibly 3, per cent. and 5 per cent., instead of dividing the advantage with British capitalists, which the colony will certainly have to do in consideration of prompt conversion. For instance, the 5 per cent. debentures maturing in 1902 were quoted on 21st February at 108½ net, as against 102, the price of 3½ per cents. As an inducement to convert, the colony would have to give the holder of 5 per cents. a bonus of from £6½ to £8 per cent.—a sum that will be entirely saved if we wait and pay him off at 100 in 1902. It may be admitted that we should save something in interest by prompt conversion, but it would only be a trifle as compared with the great saving which will accrue by renewal at maturity, even if in the meantime there be no further recovery in the credit of the colony, in which case the waiting policy would be attended with still greater advantage. As we have before urged, it is not well to pluck fruit before it is ripe.

Mr. Morton Frewen, who is about to give three addresses in Sydney on the silver question, has written a letter to the Melbourne Argus, in which he points out that the currency parties in the United States are not divided into bimetallists and monometallists, as commonly supposed, but, with the exception of perhaps one-tenth, into bimetallists and "silver men," the latter being prepared to vote free coinage of silver, which practically means a silver standard for the United States alone.

In our Melbourne telegram it was stated that the Colonial Mutual Life Assurance Society had 13,000 members. It should have read 30,000 policy-holders. The institution is an entirely mutual one.

IMPORT MARKET.

Business remains steady on the same scale as that to which we have now become accustomed. Payments of Customs duties on many lines are restricted as much as possible in consequence of the prospect of their repeal. On the whole, however, a fair volume of trade is passing for the supply of immediate requirements, and some firms find that April business bids fair to be better than that of any preceding month of the current year. Notwithstanding complaints about the difficulty of getting in accounts, the obligations of "the fourth" appear to have been well met. Jute goods and other commodities affected by Eastern exchange were quieter to-day than yesterday, in consequence of the decline in silver. Until the market becomes more settled there is little disposition to enter into any large commitments either for sale or purchase. Rather active inquiry was noted for branbags, which are now in small compass. There were still one or two sellers of cornsacks at about the old prices. In groceries a scarcity of the cheaper lines of kippered herrings and herrings and tomato sauce was noted. Some brands of starch are scarce on the spot, supplies in the harbour not being yet available. Supplies of Ceylon tea have been replenished by the arrival of the Sachsen, and the market will be tested at auction on Wednesday next.

Flour was quiet, without change in prices. A few purchases of wheat from the Northern and Western districts were made at equal to 2s 7d on rail, Sydney. The quality from these localities is superior this year. Our London correspondent cables that the market for Australian wheat ex warehouse is flat, with only restricted sales. Prices, as compared with last week, are unchanged, with the exception of Victorian, which is 3d per quarter lower. Of the Melbourne market Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Limited, report on 3rd April:—

Wheat—Since the issue of our last weekly report the market has undergone no change for the better, but rather an easier tone prevails for wheat of this season's harvesting. Any good sample of old wheat is, however, well protected, especially white Tuscan fit for seed. Our shipping operations have not been extensive to the adjacent colonies, nor to the United Kingdom, and if any animation is to take place this month we fear it will not be until after the holidays. We quote:—Inferior to medium, 1s 9d to 2s; prime, 2s 2d to 2s 2½d; old, 2s 3½d to 2s 4½d; seed white Tuscan, 2s 7½d; other seed wheat, 2s 5d to 2s 6½d.

Tea was rather quiet, few transactions of importance coming under notice. The only sale reported was one of 80 packages Ceylon broken pekoe at 10½d.

Sugar had a fair amount of inquiry, a steady trade passing in Company's makes at their regular tariff. In China whites a little business transpired at £21. Sales of 20 tons Queensland yellows were made at £17 10s, ration sugars at £15 to £16 10s, and dark rations at £14. Bonded stocks are returned to-day at 16,202 tons, against 16,532 tons last week, and 13,872 tons at this time last year. Imports into bond during the week were only 28 tons, and total issues from bond 358 tons, of which 56 tons were for export and 302 tons duty paid. By cable we learn that Java No. 14 is 6d per cwt. better than last week, and 88 per cent. German beet unchanged. The market for both descriptions is quiet.

Dried fruits remain firm, with an upward tendency. For distributing lots of currants 3½d has been paid, and 5d for spot lots of elemes. Sales of Gold Medal milk for delivery this month total 1000 cases. Fresh supplies are at hand in the Australien and the Massilia. Deliveries of about an equal number of cases of Nestle's milk are being made ex ships now in port. The following sales of dried fruits and general groceries were reported:—50-case lots of currants, 3½d; 150 boxes sultanas, 4½d; 50-box lots of elemes, 5d. Trade sales of Cochin ginger, 6½d; African ginger, 6½d; and bathbricks, 1s 6d. Half-ton cloves; 50 cases Bee ½ pint salad oil; 50 cases ditto castor; 5cwt. Coignet's glue; 10 casks Day and Martin's A bottle blacking, 9s 6d; ditto paste, 3s 6d per gross.

Hennessy's brandy was without alteration at 34s 3d for one-star and 45s 6d to 45s 9d for three-star. Lowndes' rum, to arrive, had some inquiry, but no business resulted. Sales of Lamb's for the week total 29 hogsheads and 17 quarter-casks. Deliveries of Usher's whisky totaling 1000 cases were reported, also usual large sales of Wolfe's schnapps. Sales of John Jameson and Son's Gaelic and Sir John Power's whiskies, Nolet's schnapps and Wieland's Frisco lager beer, also came under notice. Shipments of M'Ewan's bulk ale, to arrive, are well booked forward. In bottle, stocks of quarts are low, and the shipment of 750 cases per Toxteth has all been sold for delivery from ship's side.

Kerosene was firm at 1s 2d for fair parcels of good brands. A sale of 100 cases Snowflake patent faucets was reported at 1s 3½d, and 28-case lots of Evening Star, Motor, and other brands at 1s 2d to 1s 2½d. Bonded stocks of kerosene are returned to-day at 39,290 cases, against 43,635 cases last week, and 42,141 cases at this time last year. Imports of kerosene into bond during the week were nil, and total issues from bond 4345 cases, of which 4185 cases were duty paid, and 160 cases were for export. Other sales of oils, &c., reported included:—10-case lots turpentine, 2s 3d; 10 cases China oil, 2s 7d; 30 half-cases castor oil, for export, 1s 8d; 12 cases, duty paid, 2s 2d; 100-drum lots Pearson Beckitt's linseed oil, 2s 3d and 2s 5d for raw and boiled respectively. We learn that we were misinformed as to the price paid for 203 barrels whale oil, noted in this column yesterday, the actual price being £16 per tun of 252gal., less ½ per cent. cash against documents.

For small lots of 11½lb. woolpacks 1s 4d was quoted, but there was no disposition to sell large parcels. A parcel of cornsacks was offered at 4s 1d. Branbags were in request, and were hard to buy under 3s 3d.

Chemicals were quiet. Soda ash is scarce and in demand, and commands full prices. For trade lots of tartaric acid 12½d was paid. Other sales of chemicals reported included:—2 tons bluestone, ½ ton glycerine; 10 hogsheads Elliott's bisulphite of lime, 5cwt. sal ammoniac, ½ ton chlorate of potash.

Fencing wire was moving in trade lots at £7 and £7 2s 6d for Nos. 8 and 10 respectively. For 10 tons No. 10 to arrive ex Chemnitz £7 was paid. Other sales of hardware, &c., reported included:—2 tons barbed wire to arrive Penobscot, £13; 4 tons Blackwall corrugated iron, £16 17s 6d; a parcel of bar iron, £8; 200 boxes I.C. coke tinplates, 12s 4½d; 3 tons wire nails, £11 15s; 250 boxes ditto, ta land, £11 5s; 2 tons sash weights, £6; a parcel of black hoop iron, £8; ditto black sheet iron, £10; 3 cases Ames's LHRM shovels, 44s; 10 cases bedsteads at importers' tariff; 150 casks Gresham cement, 11s. Our London correspondent cables that lead is showing an upward tendency, the quotation this week being 2s 6d per ton higher than that of last week. This is probably due to the advance in silver. Pig iron is unchanged at 41s 9d per cwt.

The Customs revenue received at Sydney to-day amounted to £10,017. The principal items were:—

Spirits, £2906; wine, still, £54; wine, sparkling, £25; ale, porter, and beer, in wood, £438; ale, porter, and beer, in bottles, £292; tobacco and snuff, £634; cigars, £307; cigarettes, £75; sugar, unrefined, £268; opium, £47; rice, £2; dried fruits, £95. Specific duties: Bacon and hams, &c., £11; fish, dried, preserved, or salt, £13; fruits, green, £94; galvanised iron, £61; hay and chaff, £13; oats, £32; oil, kerosene, £172; oils, other, £57; paper, brown, £40; potatoes, £36; soap, fancy, £23; starch, &c., £17; timber, dressed, £37; wax and stearine, £15. Ad valorem: 10 per cent., £663; 15 per cent., £121. Bonded warehouses, at Vic., No. 19, £150; harbour and light rates, £115; pilotage, Sydney, £57; excise on tobacco, £1125; excise on beer, £768; tobacco factory license fees, £62. Total, £10,017.

EXPORT MARKET.

The usual auction sales of sheepskins, tallow, and hides were held to-day. Sheepskins found active competition at prices lately ruling. Tallow had a strong market, and an advance of from 5s to 15s per cwt. was recorded as compared with last week's prices. Hides were in strong demand, the whole supply being cleared at full late rates, with an occasional advance for extra prime quality.

Our London correspondent's quotations for frozen meat show no improvement. Australian mutton remains at the low price of 2½d, and New Zealand mutton and Queensland beef (hindquarters only) show a fractional decline. Forequarters of Queensland beef are quoted ½d higher as compared with last week's figures.

At Darling Harbour to-day 130 bales of wool were manifested, 32 arrived coastwise; and 63 were received by rail at Newcastle yesterday. During the past week ended Friday 584 bales of wool were received by rail at Darling Harbour, and 1435 arrived coastwise, making a total of 2019 bales.

THE PRODUCE MARKETS.—FRIDAY.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

This being the first week in the month business as usual has been fairly good. Supplies forward, both coastwise and by rail, have been rather light, and buyers are now beginning to feel the effect of the stoppage of chaff deliveries. Prime green chaff meets with ready sale at £3 10s to £3 15s per ton. The wharfs are bare of prime quality, and agents are now working off the inferior quality. Oaten hay is firmer, as also is straw. Lucerne hay has been in moderate request. In the feed-grains market maize has been in good demand, and market closed with a firmer feeling. Oats owing to the heavy arrivals from New Zealand are weaker. Barley, peas, and chickwheat were rather quiet at late quotations. Both bran and pollard have been rather scarce, and prices in consequence show an advance. In potatoes business has been only moderate, and values for the week are lower. Onions have been in fair demand, and prices are firmer. In dairy products business generally has been brisk. Butter, cheese, and eggs are firmer, but poultry, owing to the continued heavy supplies, is weaker.

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

A moderate business was passing in produce along the wharfs. In the feed-grains market maize met good demand at late rates. Oats had steady sale, but other lines were neglected. Bran was firmer, and pollard was in demand, at quotations. The wharfs were bare of prime chaff, and inferior quality in consequence met with inquiry. The local article was in good demand. In potatoes a moderate business was reported at a slight reduction. Onions were firmer. In dairy products, as usual on Friday, business was very brisk. Butter was in very good demand. Eggs were selling well, and for a few choice lots advanced prices were realised. Cheese was in fair demand, and for special brands an advance of ½d per lb. was paid. The market is eased by the shipment leaving for London to-morrow by the Woolloomooloo (s.). Bacon was in fair request, but poultry was very plentiful, and rather hard to quit.

FEED-GRAINS MARKET.

The following are the quotations:—

Maize.—Good demand. Inland, prime, 1s 8d to 1s 8½d; off maize from 1s 6½d; river maize, old from 1s to 1s 6d, new prime good demand 1s 6d per bushel.

Oats.—Moderate demand. Best feed, 2s; fair feed, 1s 11d; local very dull; prime, from 1s 6½d; inferior, from 1s 5d per bushel.

Barley.—Quoted at 2s 1½ per bushel.

Peas.—Grey 3s 3d, and blue inferior 2s 9d to 3s per bushel.

Chickwheat.—Best whole samples, 2s per bushel.

BREADSTUFFS.

Business steady at late rates, viz.:—New South Wales old flour, £6 10s to £7; new flour, £6 5s; city millers quote £6 10s; market quiet. Milling wheat, 2s 6½d to 2s 7d per bushel, the latter price being quoted for wheat ex warehouse.

BRAN AND POLLARD.

Bran had a firmer feeling, and pollard was without alteration. Both were rather scarce, and were quoted at 8½d per bushel.

FORAGE MARKET.

The current quotations are:—

Chaff.—Good demand for anything prime. Prime green very scarce; inferior slow of sale. Imported: Prime, nominally £3 10s to £3 15s; medium, from £2 15s. Local: Prime, £3 10s to £3 15s; medium, from £3; inferior, from £2 10s per ton.

Hay.—Prime scarce. Local oaten in bundles: Prime, £3 15s to £4; medium, from £3.

Straw.—Scarce. Local derrick-pressed, £2; bundled, £2 per ton.

Lucerne.—Moderate demand. Supplies plentiful. Hunter River: Prime, up to £2 7s; medium, from £2. Railway: Prime, £2 10s; extra prime, £2 15s to £3 1s 8d; medium, from £2; inferior, £1 per ton.

POTATO MARKET.

Potatoes.—Plentiful; fair demand. Prices easier. The current quotations are:—Circulars, prime, £2 15s; Warrnambools, nominal; local, £2 to £2 15s 4d per ton.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Onions.—Firm. Prime, £3 10s to £4 per ton.

Honey.—2½d to 3d.

Beeswax.—Dark, 9d; good bright, 10d to 10½d; choice, to 11d per lb.

Lard.—Scarce. Finely rendered, in bladders, 4d; bulk, 3½d per lb.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

To-day's closing quotations were:—

Eggs.—Very scarce. Good demand, 11d to 1s; few choice, 1s 1d per dozen.

Butter.—Firm. Good demand; fair supply. Creamery, 8½d; best factory, 8d; other sorts, 5d to 8½d; dairy, 5½d to 6d; pastry, 3d to 5d; Mudgee creamery 7d, factory 6d; Berrima creamery 6½d, factory 6d per lb.

Cheese.—Plentiful; fair demand, 3d to 3½d; special brands, 4d; inferior, 2d to 2½d per lb.

Bacon and Hams.—Good demand. Hand-cured, 5½d; machine, 4½d to 5d; farmers' lots, 3d to 4d; colonial hams, out of cloth 7d to 8d, special cured 8d to 11d per lb.

Poultry.—Very plentiful. Quiet demand. Fowls, 1s 6d [illegible] to 2s 6d; young roosters, 3s; ducks, inferior 2s, good 2s 6d to 2s 9d; geese, 3s to 4s; turkeys, cocks 5s to 6s, hens 3s to 4s per pair.

WOOD SALES.

At the Darling Harbour wood sales to-day business was dull. At auction this morning 60 trucks were submitted. Closing quotations were:—Foot wood, inferior, 6s 6d to 8s; good, 9s to 10s 9d; bundled, 7s to 11s 6d; bakers' large, 6s to 8s; split, 8s to 9s; billet, 6s to 9s 6d; bark, 5s to 6s per ton.

REDFERN SALES.

This morning at the Redfern Terminus Produce Markets supplies forward were rather light for a Friday's market. Buyers were in excellent attendance, and business was brisk. The wharfs being bare of prime chaff the local article met with good demand at 3s 6d to 3s 9d, medium quality at 3s, and inferior was rather slow at from 2s 9d per cwt. Good oaten hay was in fair request at 3s 3d to 3s 6d, and medium quality at from 3s to 3s 3d per cwt. Extra prime green lucerne hay realised 3s 1d, and good quality 2s 2d to 2s 5d per cwt. Bundled straw sold at 2s per cwt. Bran was knocked down at 6½d per bushel. Oats and maize were offered, but were passed in unsold. Pumpkins were rather slow of sale at 1s to 1s 7d per dozen, according to size and quality. Potatoes met with improved demand. Prime quality found buyers at 2s 7d to 2s 8d, and medium 2s 3d to 2s 3d per cwt. Turnips found a purchaser at 2s per cwt.

Appended are the proportions of the various descriptions actually submitted at to-day's sale:—Chaff, 28 trucks; hay, 4; lucerne, 4; straw, 1; oats, 1; bran, 1; maize, 1; pumpkins, 6; potatoes, 3; and turnips, 1.

The number of trucks manifested this morning was 54, being apportioned as follows:—Chaff, 17; pumpkins, 9; straw, 7; hay, 9; bran, 73 bags; flour, 140 bags; turnips, 31 bags; barley, 15 bags; maize, 157 bags; and potatoes, 113 bags.

Among the consignees were:—Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, H. Prescott and Co., G. Wells, Robert Little and Co., Robert Robinson, Son, and Co., John W. Gray and Co., Heaton Bros., Ellis and Co., Dean and Perry, H. M. Suttor and Co., Inglis and Son, and South Coast Company.

Turnips.—From Grice, Bundanoon, (881) 2s per cwt.

PRODUCE RETURNS.

The following is a return of the principal lines of produce received by rail at Redfern for week ended Friday, 5th April, the figures for the corresponding week of the previous year also being given. It will be seen from the return that the increase of chaff amounts to 23 trucks. In hay and straw a deficiency of 15 trucks each has occurred. A decrease of 87 tons has taken place in potatoes. Bran shows an increase of 20 tons, and pollard is the same as last year. In maize a substantial increase of 160 tons over last year can be reported:—

FRUIT MARKETS.

Business in the fruit trade at the various metropolitan markets this morning was brisk. Supplies forward were good. At the Bathurst-street Markets a good supply of fruit was to hand, the best part of which was of the secondary quality. Choice fruit met with active demand, but inferior sorts were difficult to sell, and there seems no prospect of an improvement, as there is no outlet for this class of fruit, the Brisbane market being glutted with it. The Innamincka (s.) arrived with 900 boxes of Adelaide grapes, the bulk being in faulty condition. They sold well at quotations. The local article was very scarce. Black Prince brought 2d to 2½d, and white muscatels 2½d to 4d per lb. Figs were in fair demand at 2d to 3d per dozen. There was a good inquiry for choice tomatoes at improved prices. Quinces were slightly easier. In apples business was fairly active. Good eating sorts were in demand, but inferior sorts were next to unsaleable at very low rates. Cooking sorts met with fair request. Bananas sold well, but no change in prices can be reported. Plums of large size realised 8s 6d and small 2s 6d to 2s 9d per quarter-case. Pines were rather scarce; Queens were 1s per case dearer. Mandarins were easier, but oranges were without alteration. Persimmons were plentiful and prices lower.

Current quotations are:—

Apples.—Fair demand. Hobart: Adam's Permains, 4s 6d to 5s; small, 3s; Crow Eggs, 3s to 4s; Fannies, 4s to 5s; French Crabs, 5s to 5s 6d; Ribstons, 5s; small, 3s 6d to 4s per case. VEGETABLE MARKETS.

At the Belmore Vegetable Markets yesterday morning supplies forward were rather small. Buyers were in excellent attendance, and business was very brisk, all kinds of vegetables selling well. Cabbages were very scarce, and growers found no difficulty in obtaining 4s to 5s for choice lots. Inferior sorts sold at from 1s to 2s per dozen. Peas were in very heavy supply, and in consequence prices show a big reduction. Carrots were selling at cheaper rates. Swedes met with moderate sale at 3s per cwt. Tomatoes were poorly represented, and values were very firm. Choice samples sold at 2s 6d per half-case. Herbs were in request at late quotations. The majority of the cabbages coming to market are wormeaten, but notwithstanding this they sell well. Quotations are as follow:—Cabbages, inferior 1s to 2s, choice 3s to 5s; peas, 2s 9d to 3s per bushel; carrots, 4d to 6d; turnips, 9d to 1s; lettuce, 3d to 6d; radishes, 3d to 4d; beetroot, 9d to 1s per dozen bunches; parsnips, 9d to 1s per dozen bunches; herbs, 1s; rhubarb, 6d to 1s per dozen bunches; eschalots, 1s; leeks, 10d; parsley, 1s; spinach, 4d to 6d; asparagus, 4s to 6s; horseradish, 6s to 12s; watercress, 1s to 1s 6d; Swedes, 3s per cwt.; green fodder, 4d to 6d per dozen bundles; tomatoes, European, 3s to 3s, choice 3s 6d per half-gin-case; cucumbers, 9d to 1s 6d per dozen; vegetable marrows, 1s to 2s 6d per dozen; French beans, 3s to 4s per bushel; pumpkins, 2s to 2s 9d per dozen.

CITY YARDS.

A good number of milch cows were offered during the week, but demand was fairly active, and all desirable animals sold well. Calves were still in full supply and in many cases brought miserably low prices. The market shows no present prospect of improvement. Pigs were rather better supplies being more moderate. Doubts, are however, expressed as to whether the improvement will be permanent.

Messrs. Ellis and Co. report having sold.—Milch cows, £2 to £8 2s 6d; fat cows, £1 14s to £3 4s; dry cows, 15s to £2 each. Fat calves: 21 for Lehane at 8s 6d to 17s; 30 for Falls at 6s to 14s; 29 for various at 5s to 21s each. Fat pigs: 9 for Vaughan at 13s 6d to 15s; 32 for Richards at 12s 6d to 24s 6d; 104 for Martin at 8s to 18s 6d; 69 for Walker at 11s 6d to 32s 6d; 87 for various at 9s to 30s each. Store pigs: 7s for Mortimer at 5s to 12s each.

Messrs. William Inglis and Son report having sold.—65 milch cows at £3 2s 6d to £8 5s. 35 dry and fat cows at 15s to £2 15s. Calves: 30 (Rofe) at 9s to 17s, 25 (Weldon) at 7s to 15s, 21 (Burge) at 10s to 13s 6d, 30 (Quigg) to 13s, and 47 (in smaller lots) at 3s 6d to 1s 6d. Pigs, at Railway Yards: 30 (Bowral) at 23s to 25s 6d, 57 (Picton) at 12s 6d to 30s, 45 (Liverpool) at 18s to 32s, 49 (Camden) at 10s 6d to 24s 6d, 41 (suburban lots) at 13s 6d to 3s. 55 store pigs at 4s 6d to 10s. And at the Corporation Yards: 40 (Regan) at 14s 6d to 28s, 18 (Kempsey) at 9s 6d to 32s, 20 (Manning River) at 16s to 24s 6d, 15 (suburban lots) at 14s to 23s, 140 (Goulburn) at 17s 6d to 22s.

Messrs. Maiden Brothers report having sold 290 pigs during the week, for various owners, at the following prices:—Prime baconers to 28s, good 19s 6d to 23s, prime porkers to 20s 6d, good 13s to 15s, others from 11s 6d.

Messrs. J. C. Young and Co. report having sold 49 calves, from the Hunter, averaging 10s 3d; 35 small calves from Branxton averaging 10s 5d; also 6 pigs from Lismore, averaging 24s 6d; 30 from the Hunter, averaging 15s 10d; 30 from Vacy, averaging 14s 4d; 14 from the Paterson, averaging 15s; 3 from Oakendale, averaging 18s; 3 from Eskdale, averaging 21s; 16 from Kempsey, averaging 18s; 10 from Miller's Forest, averaging 16s 6d; 20 from Morpeth, averaging 5s 1d; 6 from the Clarence, averaging 12s; 34 from Cooma.

Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Limited, report having sold.—Calves: 31 from Tarago at 14s 5d; 25 from Gundagai at 13s 9d; 28 from Tarago at 13s 3d; 22 from Rylstone at 11s 5d; 26 from Goulburn at 10s 11d; 10 from Mittagong at 10s 7d. Pigs: 30 from Exeter at 26s 6d; 14 from Douglas Park at 19s 9d; also various other consignments at top market rates.

Messrs. Hill, Clarke, and Co. report having sold 96 calves at the following rates:—Extra prime and weighty yearlings, 30s; prime and heavy, 21s to 24s; good and heavy, 13s to 17s; prime young, 10s to 17s; and others, from 5s; and 250 pigs from the Northern rivers, as under:—Best baconers, 25s to 27s; good, 20s to 23s; best porkers (prime), 18s; good, 15s; and others, from 10s.

Messrs. W. F. Penny and Co. report having sold 206 pigs during the week, as follows:—120 from Macleay River, 18s 6d; 46 from Port Macquarie, 20s 3d; 20 from South Coast, 23s 5d; 10 from Clarence River, 16s 6d; 10 from Richmond River, 15s 6d.

SHEEPSKINS, TALLOW, HIDES, AND BARK.

The Sydney Wool-selling Brokers' Association (the Australasian Mortgage and Agency Company, Limited, John Bridge and Co., Campbell, Nimmo, and Co., Dalgety and Co., Limited, the Pastoral Finance Association, Limited, Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Limited Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, Hill, Clark, and Co., M'Burney, Wallis, and Co., New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited, Winchcombe, Carson, and Co., and J. C. Young and Co.) report that sales were held yesterday as under:—

Sheepskins.—The market this week fully retained the active tone previously recorded, every line meeting with the closest attention from both local consumers and exporters. Quotations: Full wools, 4d to 4½d; medium, 3d to 3½d; short, 1½d to 2½d per lb. Butchers' green skins (nominal), 2s 6d to 4s 5d; short, 18d to 2s 6d each. Pelts, 1½d to 2½d per lb.

Note.—After the usual sales of sheepskins on Tuesday next, there will, owing to the advent of Easter, be no sales held until Friday, 19th of April.

Tallow.—The market opened with strong demand, and prices were fully 5s per ton better than at the previous sales. At a later stage this advantage was further accentuated, and closing rates were:—For prime mutton and beef, 10s to 15s; and prime mixed, 15s over last week's; prime mutton, £20 5s to £20 10s; medium ditto, £19 to £19 15s; prime mixed, £19 5s to £19 15s; medium ditto, £18 10s to £18 15s; prime beef, £19 5s to £19 10s; medium ditto, £18 5s to £18 15s; broken, small, and inferior parcels, £16 to £18. The number of casks offered yesterday was 1054, of which 990 were sold.

Note.—Owing to the advent of Easter, sales of tallow will next week be held on Thursday instead of Friday.

Hides.—Very strong demand continues to be maintained throughout this market, and at the sales this week the tone was exceptionally firm, the entire supply being readily cleared at rates showing, if anything, a further upward tendency in the case of prime extra heavy sorts. Quotations—Prime extra heavy and best conditioned, 67lb. and upwards, 2¾d to 3d; superior lines to 3¼d; good heavy, 60lb. to 65lb., 2½d to 2¾d; fair heavy, 2½d; sloppy and inferior heavy, 2d to 2½d; medium, 50lb. to 56lb., best, 1¾d to 2½d; ordinary light, 35lb. to 45lb., best, 2d to 2½d; ordinary, 1½d to 1¾d; dry station, 1½d to 1¾d.

Note.—Owing to the advent of Easter, sales of hides will next week be held on Thursday instead of Friday.

Bark.—At the auction sales of bark held yesterday at the close of the hide sales there was a better attendance of buyers than last week, and clearances somewhat larger in volume were made. No quotable alteration in prices was evident. Quotations—Best chopped bark, £5 to £5 10s; medium, £3 10s to £4 10s; light, £2 10s to £3; inferior, £1 to £1 10s.

Note.—Owing to the advent of Easter, sales of bark will next week be held on Thursday instead of Friday.

PROPERTY SALES.

The demand for land and house property is still very limited, except at prices at which owners are not disposed to quit. At the auction sale to-day there was good competition for two or three properties, which brought higher figures than have been obtained for others similarly situated. And if only some settlement with regard to taxation were arrived at in Parliament, it is believed that a stimulus would be given to business in real estate. The following reports have been furnished:—

Richardson and Wrench, Limited, report having sold by auction and private contract during the week the following properties:—Block of city land, fronting Campbell-street, Haymarket, and Robertson-lane, together with the premises erected thereon, for the sum of £5600; shop and dwelling, fronting Queen-street, Woollahra, for £650; various portions of Sans Souci township subdivision, for a lump sum of £590; several allotments, forming part of Yarmouth Estate, Port Hacking, for a sum of £700; suburban residence for £800; estate or interest in property, Newcastle, for £125; allotment, Cowell's Estate, Gladesville, for £37 10s; cottage, known as Leicester, Rowe-street, Alexandria, for £210; allotment, Elizabeth-street, Croydon, for £65; two weatherboard cottages, Richmond-street, Ashfield, for £1[illegible]; block of land in the township of Liverpool for £30; and on the ground at St. Mary's, on Saturday last, various properties forming part of the estate of the late J. Harris, the amounts realised at this sale aggregating a total of £1,865 1s 6d, and additional sales are concluding.

Mr. J. T. Shaw, Strathfield, reports having sold the following properties during last month.—Two shops with dwellings, also an allotment on the Boulevard, Strathfield for £2250; residence on the Boulevard, Strathfield, £1850; cottage on the Homebush-road, for £1350; cottage, Homebush, £1050; cottage, Westward-avenue, Strathfield, at a satisfactory price; residence, Smith-street, Summer Hill, £2500; 20 ft. block of land, Redmyre-road, Strathfield, at £5 per foot, £1200; 4 allotments, Concord-road, Concord, £28; 1 allotment, Balmain, at a satisfactory figure; 4 acres at Enfield, £175; 1 allotment, Lucas-road, Burwood, £200; 1 allotment, Palmerston-street, Concord, £100; 1 allotment, Denison-road, Lewisham, £180. And having let the following properties at the rentals named per annum:—Furnished residence and grounds, Homebush, £260; furnished residence, Burwood Heights, £218; furnished house, Burwood, £125; furnished cottage, Homebush, £84; furnished house, Burwood, £2 5s per week; furnished cottage, Strathfield, £78; furnished house, Burwood, £90; furnished cottage, Strathfield, £104; furnished cottage, Ashfield, £3 per week; unfurnished residence, Homebush, £110; residence, Strathfield, £13[illegible]; cottage, Burwood, £[illegible]; Cottage, Strathfield, £75; and others.

Mr. E. C. V. Broughton reports having sold by auction the following properties:—Canterbury: 55 allotments in the Mildura Estate, at prices ranging from 12s 6d to 21s per foot; amount of sale, £1177 10s. The whole of Daniels's Estate, Botany, £472 16s 6d. Seventeen lots in the Bellevue Estate, Kogarah, at 25s to 30s per foot; amount of sale, £480. Eighty-eight lots in Kemp's Estate, Penshurst, £912 2s 6d. Thirty-five lots in the Hurstville Hill Estate, at 5s to 25s per foot, £281 5s.

Messrs. H. Fenton and Co. report having sold by auction house and land in Denison-road, Lewisham, for cash; also, have sold by private contract, two houses in Crown-street, Surry Hills, one shop and three houses adjacent at Kingston, two houses at Leichhardt, and one house and land at Canterbury.

NEWCASTLE COMMERCIAL.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The produce market during the past week has been exceedingly active, a large amount of country orders having come to hand. Still the same uneasiness is prevalent amongst the up-country producers as to the approaching mining crisis. At present the outlying districts present a very dry appearance, and rain is much wanted. Unless a few steady showers appear shortly there will be a consequent advance in prices. Meanwhile there is no alteration in current rates worthy of reporting.

The intercolonial trade during the past week has been rather slack, but several steamers are due next week, and a great rush is expected. The cessation of work at Newcastle, Burwood, and Lambton collieries has caused a deficiency of supply of from 3000 to 4000 tons of coal per day to one company alone in the New Zealand trade. A particular class of coal is demanded, and failing this the steamers have left without a full cargo.

The share market has been fairly active during the past week, and quotations for all investments remain firm. Bank of New South Wales were taken at advanced rates and closed with buyers at £30. Commercials showed little change. A. J. Stocks were taken to 48s. In negotiable deposits Commercials continue in demand at 20s and A.J.S. at 15s. In breweries Castlemaine and Wood Brothers were supported to 16s. Tooth's remained steady at 18s 3d. Newcastle Gas are without alteration, closing sellers at £1 18s 6d, buyers at £1 15s. Newcastle H.R. Steam Company had inquiries, closing at 11s 6d. In coal, owing to the unsettled state of the district, the inquiry for shares in this line has been limited, but shareholders appear disinclined to reduce their limits. Hettons are now closed at 54s, Wickham and Bullock Island at 10s 3d, Stockton at 3s 6d, Wallsend at £19. In silver the market was more animated, and buying orders were more plentiful.

There has been this week a material difference in the average weekly export of coal, the total having fallen to less than 30,000 tons. This may be attributable to various causes. One of these has been the inadequateness of certain collieries to supply a particular class of coal demanded, and for which certain companies held themselves responsible. Several intercolonial steamers, especially for New Zealand, have therefore left with part cargoes rather than wait for the result of the crisis as to whether the collieries referred to, and from which the coal was especially demanded, would go to work or not.

The export of coal for the week ending Friday, 5th April, was as follows:—Victoria, 75 8 tons; United States, 4580 tons; Tasmania, 1030 tons; Chili, 4414 tons; New Zealand, 4525 tons; South Australia, 2350 tons; Peru, 1285 tons; and Manila, 2161 tons—total, 27,896 tons. Other exports have been—For Noumea: 100 sheep and 24 head cattle; for London, 1000 bales wool, 1300 cases meat; for South Australia, 220 tons coke.

The barque City of Carlisle left here this forenoon for Callao, but turned back. The tug Stormcock went out to her, when two stowaways were sent on board the tug to be brought back to port. Departures: Fermmount, for Richmond; Jones Bros. and Isabelle, for Sydney.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

Business in the Mining market yesterday was confined to Central Broken Hill shares, which were dealt in at 9s 6d, 10s, 9s 11d, 9s 8d, 9s 10d, 10s, 10s 8d, and 10s 6d. For Proprietary shares there were buyers at 40s, and sellers at 41s 6d. Block 10 shares closed at 18s 9d buyers.

THE GOLD RUSH AT BARRABA.

The Minister for Mines was interviewed yesterday by Messrs. S. W. Moore, M.L.A., and B. Finkernagel, J.P., who urged that the portion of land known as King's Selection, upon which the recent discoveries of gold had been made, should be resumed. The Minister stated his inability to do so now under the present Act, but a was now under the consideration of the House to amend the existing Mining on Private Lands Act, and should it be passed it would give him power to deal with the case. He promised to do all he could to help the miners in this matter. A great many new miners are on the field, and fresh ones are arriving daily.

CHARTERS TOWERS, Friday.

The following sales are reported:—Brilliant Central, 7s 1d; Brilliant Worcester Victory, 2s 8d (400 sold); Sunburst, 2s 9½d; New Brilliant, 8s; Victoria Blocks, 4s 1d; Victoria, 15s 3d; Victoria West, 3s 4d; Kelly's Queen Blocks, 9s 6d—paid 10s 5d; Queen Cross Reef, 4s 9d, and for seven weeks 5s.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A large business was done in Broken Hill silver companies' shares, prices being very irregular during the day, but showing a recovery at the close. Block 10, after receding to 18s 6d, recovered to 19s 6d. Central, after several fluctuations, closed at 11s buyer, showing a rise of 1s 3d on the opening price. South were quitted down to 3s for contributing, but closed at 4s, and paid sold at 5s 1d to 5s 3d; Mount Lyell (Tasmania) changed hands at 45s 6d to 46s.

Among gold companies Ironclad had most attention, and a large number of shares changed hands at advanced prices, news from the mine being very satisfactory to holders. Sales from 15s 6d to 16s 6d, South Ironclad sold from 2s 9d to 3s. Other W.A. companies without reported business. Among Victorian gold-mining companies the principal sales were—South Star, at 7s 1d to 7s 3d; Star of the East, 10s to 10s 3d; North Prentice, 22s 3d to 23s; North Johnsons, 2s 6d; South Devon, at 2s 1d; Four Brothers, 1s; Great South Long Tunnel, 17s to 17s 7d to 17s 3d; Long Tunnel, £64 10s to £66; New Loch Fyne, at 21s; Chalks, at 6s 10d to 7s; and No. 1 at 29s 6d; Grand Duke, at 2s 11d to 3s; North Duke, at 15s 9d to 17s; Llanelly, at 9d; and Duke United, at 1s 6d.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

Though the A.J.C. Committee did not make any alteration in the amount of stakes for the racing season 1895-6, a slight change was made in the programme by discontinuing the Biennial Stakes, the last of which—the eighth—will be run at the spring meeting, 1895, and substituting therefor the Easter Stakes (for two-year-olds), a sweepstakes of 10 sovs. each, with 300 sovs. added, colts 8st 7lb, fillies 8st 5lb., geldings at the time of starting to be allowed 3lb with winning penalties for any race, not a handicap, 6 furlongs, to be run at the autumn meetings, commencing with 1896; and the Duff Memorial Stakes (for three-year-olds), a sweepstakes of 10 sovs. each, with 300 sovs. added, colts 8st 10lb, fillies 8st 5lb, geldings at the time of star'ing allowed 3lb, winner of any race not a handicap to carry 5lb, and of any race of the value of 200 sovs. 10lb. extra, the winner of the A.J.C. Derby to carry 14 penalty one mile, to be run at the spring meetings, commencing 1896. The nominations for these races will be taken at the time of general entry for the autumn and spring meetings respectively, and not in June, when the nominations for the classic races fall due.

Yarraman, West Dubbo, and Garangula race meetings were yesterday granted registration by the A.J.C.

The following scratchings were notified yesterday in connection with the H.R.C. Autumn Meeting:—Autumn Handicap, Florrie and Tiwoona; Shorts, Solanum and Tarrion; Sportsman's Handicap, Yellow Plush; The Welter, Nellie Bly and Moorefield.

The hurdle racer Burzan, after a lengthy campaign in Victoria, has returned to the Orville Lodge stables.

At Kiss's Bazaar on Monday next the right to charge entrance-fee at the gates of the St. Leger reserve during the currency of the A.J.C. Autumn Meeting will be offered for sale.

The Lillie Bridge Grounds will be illuminated this evening, when a mixed programme of foot and pony racing will furnish the attraction. The opening race is timed for 8.15, and the handicaps will be found in another part of this paper.

The adjustments for the Time Handicap Trot, 2 miles, included in the programme of the Royal Agricultural Society for Easter Monday are published in another part of this issue. A number of good performers are engaged, and the handicap appears to be a good one, so that an excellent contest may be anticipated.

The half-dozen events on the card for the Warwick Farm pony and galloway meeting to be held next Wednesday attracted 95 nominations yesterday, of which the Fairfield Handicap was responsible for 20; Flying Handicap, 16; Pony Handicap, 6; Welter Handicap, 19; Liverpool Handicap, 15; and Warwick Handicap, 19. The lists are set forth in another part of this issue.

The Kensington management have decided to hold their Autumn Meeting on Thursday and Saturday, 25th and 27th instants, the latter date being the vacant Saturday after the A.J.C. Meeting, and a liberal programme has been framed for the occasion.

The entries and weights for the Rosebery Park pony and galloway meeting to be held next Tuesday are set forth elsewhere in this issue.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs that Associate, who has been well backed for the Onkaparinga Hurdle Race, will not make the trip, as one of his legs has filled after doing a good gallop on Thursday last.

The entries received yesterday for the six events on the programme for the Kensington pony and galloway meeting to be held on Thursday next totalled 94, distributed as under:—Hurdle Race, 8; Fourteen-three Handicap, 23; Fourteen Hands Handicap, 11; Fourteen-two Handicap, 14; Fourteen-one Welter Handicap, 17; and Kensington Handicap, 21. The lists can be seen in another part of the paper.

Messrs. Roulston and J. Daly have been appointed stipendiary stewards at Rosebery Park, and the latter also acts as handicapper to the club.

The only change in the local betting market yesterday was the advance of Vanitas to 100 to 12 for the Doncaster Handicap, while backers were prepared to operate at 100 to 11. The other quotations were unaltered, and the volume of the business transacted was very light. The Hawkesbury Autumn Handicap attracted some attention, and Troilus was backed down to 4 to 1, while Common was in good demand at 6 to 1, and 10 to 1 could be got about any other.

The Towers (N.Z.) Jockey Club have fixed upon 13th and 14th June as the dates for their annual meeting, at which the sum of £1220 will be distributed in prizes, the principal events being the Club Handicap of 250 sovs. and Millchester Handicap of 150 sovs.

During last American racing season 32 of Darebin's progeny started in 325 races, of which they won 66, were second in 49, third in 40, and unplaced in 170. The total earnings were 67,340 dols., of which his great son Waltzer won 39,145 dols.

The Australian sires Darebin and Sir Modred are represented in the Realisation Stakes of 10,000 dols., to be run at the Coney Island (U.S.A.) Jockey Club's Spring Meeting. Darebin is represented by the well-performed Waltzer, a three-year-old colt from Sly Dance, and a colt from Sabrina, while Sir Modred has Sir Galahad from Faux Pas and Connoisseur from Dizianoe to act on his behalf.

HAWKESBURY RACE CLUB. AUTUMN MEETING.

The Hawkesbury autumn reunion which opened auspiciously last Saturday, will be brought to a conclusion at Rosehill to-day, and with every indication of a repetition of the fine weather that favoured the opening day a large gathering may be anticipated: for, independently of the inducements of a pleasant outing among the floral surroundings of that popular trysting-place, the programme is brimful of interest and promises to furnish excellent sport. A similar transit service to that of the opening day will be in vogue, special trains starting from Redfern station at 12.25 (mixed), 12.50, and 12.53 (first-class), 1 p.m. (second-class), 1.18 (first-class), and 1.40 p.m. (second-class); while holiday excursion tickets to Clyde will be issued from Emu Plains, Richmond, Blacktown, and intermediate stations—a special train conveying visitors from Clyde to the racecourse. Due provision has been made in every department for the comfort of visitors, especially in the catering section. The business of the afternoon will commence at 2 p.m. with the Shorts Handicap. The most likely to fill the places are Juvenile, Mitre, and Messmate. There are a rather mixed lot engaged in the Sportsman's Handicap, and perhaps Kallatina, Patrona, and Roscoe are the best of them. A pretty good field may be expected to go to the post for the Hawkesbury Autumn Handicap. Mr. Mayo has been particularly fortunate in securing prizes set up by our Hawkesbury friends, but on this occasion it is improbable that his colours will be successful. Blarneystone has been well taken care of on the score of weight, and as Common has not incurred a penalty by his victory in the Rowley Mile, he should hold all the top weights safely. Tridentate is in great form, and promises to be particularly hard to beat; while Troilus, despite his 7lb. penalty, and Queensborough can be trusted to work their way into the first flight; and Cannon and Annadour read like being the best of the light-weights. A capital race is sure to take place, and Theophilus, Tridentate, Troilus, and Common may get home in that order. Iroquois should be able to appropriate the Steeplechase; and he may be escorted home by Ontario and Reckless; while Sadur, Waratah, Glendennon, and Gold bid fair to have a deal to say in the settlement of The Welter. The full programme is subjoined:—

The picnic races under the management of the local Amateur Turf Club were held to-day in the presence of a large attendance. The following are the results:—

FIRST HACK RACE.—J. Cheney's Plunger, 1. Nine started.

HURDLE RACE.—J. Cox's Lucy, 1.

OPEN HANDICAP.—C. Chevely's Dudley, 1.

PUBLICANS' PURSE.—J. Nash's Inverlay, 1.

SECOND HACK RACE.—E. Cameron's Ouida, 1. Great interest was centered in this race, in which Mr. James Gormly, the member for the district rode, and it was generally recognised that owing to his good riding, his mount, Ouida, won.

FAREWELL HANDICAP.—J. J. M'Grath's Kinderspeil, 1.

FINAL FLUTTER.—C. Cheveley's Dudley, 1.

CLARENCE RIVER JOCKEY CLUB.

EASTER HANDICAP.—Stockdale, 9st 7lb; Ormus, 8st 9lb; Review, 9st 5lb; Traveller, 7st 10lb; Nagara, 7st 8lb; Kingcraft, 7st 6lb; Warneton, 7st 5lb; Caress, 6st 8lb.

KENNEL CLUB OF N.S.W.

A committee meeting of the abovenamed club was held on Thursday evening at their rooms, Imperial Arcade. A large amount of correspondence was dealt with. A letter was received from the Lieutenant-Governor consenting to open the show, which is to be held in the Exhibition Building, Prince Alfred Park, during Easter week. The official opening will take place at 3.30 p.m. on Thursday, 11th instant. The club's Melbourne representative wrote stating that about 60 dogs, which are entered for the show, will leave Melbourne on the 9th instant, and are the highest types of the different breeds Melbourne can produce. Dogs from Brisbane and the other colonies will arrive earlier.

LEAGUE OF WHEELMEN'S CYCLING CARNIVAL.

The League of New South Wales Wheelmen will continue their cycling carnival at the Sydney Cricket Ground to-day. A start will be made at 2.35 p.m. with the first heat of the second-class handicap, the final of which is timed for 4.50. The scratch men in this event are D. Weaver, A. F. Chapman, W. C. Freeman, H. Harris, and E. A. Cathie. The preliminary heats of the League Cup run the previous Saturday have left in the following men for the final:—J. Megson, scratch; A. A. Middleton (Vic.), 10 yards; R. Everitt, 15; F. Rathgen, 35; D. Weaver, E. Payne, G. Meadham, 40; C. Neilson, P. Search, 55; G. F. Mason, E. A. Cathie, 60; A. J. Smith, 85. Megson, Rathgen, and Payne should give a good account of themselves in this event. For the Metropolitan Handicap, distance one mile, the first prize money is £100, the second £15, and the third £5. In the first heat Megson and Middleton are on scratch, whilst Soanes, the New Zealander, is 40 yards away, and Everitt 50. This quartet should furnish a great race, while Everitt and Search should also be heard of. In the second heat R. Davis, of South Australia, is on scratch, and is giving M'Innes 20 yards, while C. Neilson 80 yards and S. Bertles 140 yards, are thought to have a good chance. In the third heat Lewis, Payne, and J. Williams, the three back-mark men, make a very good bunch; while further down the list, C. Jorgenson 90 yards, and H. T. Shaw 140 yards, are well spoken of. L. A. Simpson is scratch man in the fourth heat, and he is giving Boyd, the New Zealander, 30 yards. N. Matterson 100 yards, J. Davis 125 yards, and R. Morton (Victoria) 140, are fairly treated by the handicappers. In the First-class Handicap, distance a mile and a half, Megson, Simpson, Davis, and A. A. Middleton are on scratch, and M'Innes and Lewis on 20 yards, Rathgen 95 yards, Fowles 115 yards, and Jorgenson 145 yards are expected to show up prominently at the finish. There will be a very big field in the Open Handicap, distance three miles, Megson, Middleton, and Davis being on scratch, Simpson, M'Innes, and Lewis on 50 yards. An effort will be made to induce some of the fliers to withdraw from this race so that they may start for the big race at the finish of the day. This will be the championship of Australia, distance five miles, the men nominated being Boyd, Bradbury, Bagnall, Chapman, Davis, Everitt, Hallam, Lewis, Megson, Middows, Middleton, M'Intosh, M'Innes, O'Brien, Phelan, Rathgen, Soanes, Simpson, and N. Matterson. Megson is favourite for the event, but Middleton and Lewis should push him hard, while if the pace is good Bagnall and Simpson should have a look-in. Matterson has come on well during the week, but it remains to be seen what his pace is like. M'Innes is another man who is riding well.

The five-mile championship race will be paced by tandems which, during the week, have often been seen on the track. Messrs. W. J. C. Elliott and W. S. M'Coombe will ride one, and Messrs. T. D. Scott and R. Morton the other. The whole arrangements for the pacing will be in charge of Mr. E. W. Rudd, who has had considerable experience in pacing at Herne Hill, London. The two machines, which will then be seen fully extended for the first time in the colony, have been brought over from Melbourne specially for this race, and with their aid it is expected that the time will not be more than a few seconds over 12 minutes. The first race starts at 2.35 p.m.

To-night the prizes will be presented at a dinner at Quong Tart's, King-street.

RUGBY FOOTBALL UNION.

The 21st annual meeting of the Rugby Union was held last night, at Aaron's Exchange Hotel. Mr. J. J. Calvert (president), occupied the chair, there being about 150 members present. The chairman alluded to the death of their patron, Sir R. W. Duff, and said he felt sure that the sad occurrence was the cause of deep regret to all of them.

The annual report stated that during the past season the union made great progress. New branch unions were established at Kiama and Taree, while Mudgee branch had withdrawn, although the clubs composing it had thrown in their lot with the Western branch. The Great Public Schools had been allowed to enrol under their own association, and admitted as a branch union. In the metropolitan area the following 22 clubs were added:—Adelphi, Ashfield, Balmain Juniors, Cleveland, Darlinghurst, Norwood, Dundas, Richmond, Excelsior, Federal, Gladesville, Gunnedah, Marrickville Wairoa, Mosman, Marylebone, Newtown Oxford, North Sydney Pioneers, Paddington Electorate, Redfern Norwood, Union, Waverley Borough, and Waverley Juniors. The union was originally formed of the following six clubs: Camden College, Newington College, King's School, University, Wallaroo, and Waratah. At present there are upwards of 160 clubs in the union. Profound regret was expressed at the death of their patron, Sir R. W. Duff. The Referees' Association rendered valuable service in providing competent referees. In the intercolonial contests New South Wales beat Queensland by 4 points to 3 and 20 to 12, and also defeated New Zealand at Christchurch by 8 points to 6, but New South Wales won only four matches out of 12 during the New Zealand tour. A New South Wales team visited Melbourne, losing the first match by 3 to 0, and winning the second by 9 to 5. The premiership was by vote of a special general meeting awarded to Randwick, with Wallaroo runners-up. The Association Ground Cup and Agricultural Ground trophies were also won by Randwick, with Wallaroo runners-up. Surrey won the first junior competition, Willoughby the second, Enfield the third, and King's School the School Challenge Shield. The committee recommended that the grade known as first juniors be in future called second seniors. The balance-sheet showed a credit of £1596 19s 5d.

Mr. J. F. M'MANAMEY moved the adoption of the report and balance-sheet, and in doing so said that the satisfactory position of the union was due greatly to the efficiency of their hon. secretary. The exchange of visits with the country unions had helped the game on a great deal. He noted with pleasure the fact that the hospitals had benefited to the extent of £114 by the exertions of the union. He was glad to be able to recall to their notice the fact that they defeated New Zealand. Mr. Hibble seconded the motion, and Messrs. R. A. Arnold, Abrams, and Macpherson spoke to it. The Hon. Mr. Carruthers said he felt inspired to speak with confidence of the future of the colony when he saw such a meeting before him. He thought there was something refining in the game. Dr. Badham had said it was equal in vulgarity to marbles, and in brutality to gladiatorial shows, but he certainly could not agree with such an opinion. It was characteristic of footballers that they always hesitated to break the rules of the game of life, and he thought that Rugby football generated healthy minds. He would like to see the movement pressed on for the establishment of a ground for their game. The motion was carried unanimously.

It was decided that the patrons be the Governor for the time being, the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Admiral. The other office-bearers were elected as follows:—President, Mr. J. J. Calvert; hon. secretary, Mr. W. A. Rand; hon. treasurer, Mr. R. A. Arnold; auditors, Messrs. Macpherson and Hibble; vice-presidents, Hon. J. H. Carruthers, Messrs. J. F. M'Manamey, G. W. Graham, H. Y. Braddon, Dr. Neill, and W. M. M. Arnold. Committee—seniors, Messrs. S. E. Brown, (Wentworth), J. R. Henderson (Pirate), A. E. Sefton (Randwick), H. D. Wood (University), F. M. Lane (Wallaroo). Junior: R. P. Brown (Summerhill Oakland), H. P. Parish (Rockdale), G. A. Vaughan (Leichhardt), A. Duffin (Newtown), T. T. Forsyth (Willoughby), B. Holland (Hawkesbury), J. A. Quinlan (Carlton). A motion, moved by Mr. Vaughan, and having for its object the establishment of a gymnasium and training-room, was referred to the committee.

NEWINGTON COLLEGE SPORTS.

The following starts have been declared for two of the events to be run at the Newington College Sports on the 10th instant:—

100 Yards Open Handicap.—W. Cartwright, scratch; G. H. Ruthven, 1 yard; R. H. Lee, F. M. Connell, 2½; G. C. Griffin, 3; W. Denser, 3½; F. Nelson, W. C. Ewing, G. C. Broughton, 4; R. Cowlishaw, A. Curtis, 4½; A. L. Baird, P. Smith, S. R. Rowley, 5; W. H. Bamford, M. M. G. Sorgam, 5; W. E. Harris, J. Bassett, 5½; F. C. Jack, R. Fowler, 6; W. P. Humphries, 6½; V. Davies, 7; E. S. Marks, 9.

Visitors' Flat Race, 880 yards handicap.—Reid, scratch; Griffin, 5 yards; Thomas, 15; Adams, 17; Nelson, 20; H. Lee, 25; Humphries, 30; Cliffe, 33; Turner, 38; Griffin, 38; Bamford, Doyleson, Johnson, jun., Moore, Corbett, Webber, Meaney, 40; West, 42; Fowler, 45; Cox, 47; Judson, 50.

LACROSSE.

The ensuing lacrosse season promises to be one of the most successful yet entered upon. In all probability there will be at least three new clubs formed, and numerous additions to the membership rolls of existing clubs. Steps are being taken to form a club in connection with the University. The secretary of the association (Mr. Browne) is in communication with the secretaries of the Victorian and South Australian Associations with the view of arranging several intercolonial matches during the season. The ground committee of the association have applied for permission to play three exhibition games during the season on the Sydney cricket ground. The Sydney club have received several additions to their membership roll, and it is expected that it will prove a very strong club. The Kirribilli Club are considering the question as to whether they will disband their club and join other clubs. The Granville and Granville Mohican Clubs are likely to amalgamate.

The Iroquois will prove a very strong club, and will put a B team in the field. They have been fortunate to secure the services of Mr. B. Marsh, who was their captain for many years prior to his removal to Fiji. Mr. Marsh has now returned to Sydney and rejoined his old club.

A new club has been started in connection with the employees of Messrs. Lassetter and Company, and at a meeting recently held the following were elected officers:—Patron, Mr. F. Lassetter, sen.; president, Major Lassetter; vice-presidents, Mr. A. B. Lassetter, Mr. Walter Brown, Mr. G. Padale, Mr. P. M. Scott, Mr. Hennessy, and Mr. Sampson; secretary, Mr. W. Sturrock; treasurer, Mr. G. H. Oliver; captain, Mr. W. King; vice-captain, Mr. H. S. Iredale; committee, Messrs. W. Sturrock, W. King, H. S. Iredale, A. King, and Evans. The membership roll numbers at present 21. The club promises to be a very successful one.

A new club has also been formed at the Glebe, to be called the Wentworth. Fourteen members have been enrolled. Mr. G. Hurst, of the Iroquois, will captain the new team, and Mr. G. Sparkes has been appointed secretary.

LAWN TENNIS.

The following prominent players have been selected by the New South Wales Lawn Tennis Association to practise for the forthcoming intercolonial match against Victoria in May next:—Dudley Webb, H. R. Crossman, P. B. Colquhoun, E. B. Dewhurst, A. H. Windeyer, A. E. Crossman, Dr. Hughes, H. Rice, K. J. Newman, S. A. Noble, L. Gaden. A selection committee has been appointed, consisting of D. Webb (N.S.W. champion), E. B. Dewhurst (captain Sydney Club), and C. E. D. Meares (secretary of N.S.W. Lawn Tennis Association), to watch the play, and from the above names select six to represent this colony in the match.

By permission of the Sydney Club practice may take place on the club courts, where members of the practise team are requested to attend and play.

Homebush Grammar School and Sydney High School played their return match on the latter's court on Wednesday afternoon, and resulted in a victory for the former as follows:—

Jones and Hardie, 5, v. Fletcher and Madson, 6.
Smith and Sly, 6, v. Locke and Fitzharding, 2.
Jones and Hardie, 6, v. Locke and Fitzharding, 2.
Smith and Sly, 6, v. Fletcher and Madson, 1.
Smith and Sly, 6, v. Locke and Fitzharding, 1.
Jones and Hardie, 2, v. Fletcher and Madson, 6.
Results: Homebush Grammar School, 31 games; Sydney High School, 18.

St. Matthias played Homebush on latter's ground, and the match resulted in a win for the former.

Miss Cowlishaw and Mr. Cowlishaw v. Miss Slatser and Mr. M'Clelland, 5-6, 6-5.
Miss Mowle and Mr. Hillyar v. Miss Slatser and Mr. M'Clelland, 1-6, 2-6.
Miss Cowlishaw and Mr. Cowlishaw v. Miss Creagh and Mr. Williams, 6-1, 6-0.
Miss Mowle and Mr. Hillyar v. Miss Creagh and Mr. Gregg, 6-1, 6-1.
Results: St. Matthias, 5 sets 36 games; Homebush, 3 sets 26 games.

PEDESTRIANISM.

Entries close to-night for Moroney's 100-yards all-comers' handicap, to be run next Tuesday night. The limit will be extended in this handicap, to give novices entering in this event a chance with the back-mark men, and in the event of winning they will not be debarred from competing in future novice handicaps.

A novice handicap will be run at the Carrington Grounds on Friday night next, and entries for this event will be received up till next Monday night. On this occasion a judging machine, the invention of Mr. A. L. Baird, will be used in public for the first time.

Moroney's sixth 275 Yards Handicap and third One-mile Handicap were run through last night. In the 275 Yards Handicap the heats were won by T. A. Thorley, C. H. Wintle, A. Marsh, A. E. M'Farlane, and J. Marsh. The final resulted as follows:—A. E. M'Farlane, 22½ yards, 1; L. Marsh, 9 yards, 2; J. Marsh, 11 yards, 3. Time, 28 3-10 seconds. The mile handicap resulted as follows:—H. Godfrey, 75 yards, 1; W. Hampell, 65 yards, 2; P. Woods, 45 yards, 3. Won by 10 yards. Time, 4 minutes 50 seconds.

CRICKET.

The premiership matches will be continued to-day as follows:—East Sydney v. Glebe, at Wentworth Park; Waverley v. Central Cumberland, at Waverley; University v. Canterbury, at University Oval; Redfern v. Paddington, at Redfern; Leichhardt v. North Sydney, at Leichhardt; Manly v. South Sydney, at Manly.

Teams representing Messrs. Brown and Co. and Messrs. Flood and Co. played at the Sydney Cricket Ground on Wednesday last, and resulted in an easy win for the former by an innings and 92 runs. Scores: Brown and Co. 188 (Hughes 133 not out); Flood and Co. 76 and 20. Kendrick and Beard bowled splendidly for the winners.

A match was played on the Manly Oval on Thursday, between teams representing Wincombe, Carson, and Co. and John Bridge and Co., the former team winning by two wickets and 4 runs. The following are the scores:—

JOHN BRIDGE AND CO.

St. Nicolas' College C.C., Randwick, played Scots College First Eleven at Bishopscourt, Randwick, and defeated them by six runs. Scores: St. Nicolas' College 42 (Freeman 12); Scots College 36 (Vaughan 22). For St. Nicolas' College Cakebread was the most successful bowler, taking five wickets for 11 runs. Petrie bowled well for Scots College.

PADDINGTON CRICKET CLUB BALL.

The Paddington Electorate Cricket Club held their first annual ball at the Paddington Town Hall last night. Among a large attendance were Messrs. David Storey, W. C. Shipway, and Dowell O'Reilly, M.s.L.A., John Portus, A. C. Bannerman (captain of the club), D. Hogan (treasurer), J. C. Davis (hon. secretary), S. Mackenzie, R. Brewster, E. G. Noble, M. A. Noble, E. F. Kelly, A. Sweetnam, J. Rush, E. Hogan, S. R. Walford (captain Central Cumberland), W. Trickett (captain Waverley), P. K. Bowden (secretary N.S.W. Cricket Association), J. R. Wallace, and Mrs. Bannerman, Misses Campbell (2), Kelly, Rush, Meeney, Emanuel, Munro, Punch, Duke, Lina Emanuel, Van Brakkell (2), Young, Barnes, Walker, Mour, Doyle, Harding, Roxburgh, Conley, and Mesdames Swinbourne, Lawrence, Richardson, and Sawyer.

BOWLS.

As will be seen by advertisement in another column, all members of the associated clubs who can find it convenient to attend are requested to be present at the reception of New Zealand intercolonial team, which will arrive by the s.s. Monowai tomorrow. Messrs. John Young (president), J. W. Mortley (vice-president), and H. B. Cohen (hon. secretary) of the association will officially welcome the visitors.

Yesterday afternoon the semi-final rounds of the Ashfield club's contests were played off. Hankin (31) beat Miller (15) for the club championship, and Howard (31) beat Hoskins (21) for the president's trophy. Hankin and Hoskings will now play off the championship, and Howard will play either Thomas or Brentnall for the trophy.

In accordance with advertisement in the Herald, a grand fancy fête, in aid of the hospitals' fund, will be held at the Waverley Bowling and Recreation Club's premises this afternoon and evening. During the afternoon intercolonial representatives will play bowling and tennis matches, and in the evening a moonlight concert, including tableaux vivants, will be held. Other attractions include refreshment stalls and a string band.

The City Club's general handicap has been won by Mr. C. V. Solomon, who beat Mr. A. Coker by 31 to 22. Solomon receives first prize, and Coker second. The club's championship has been won by Mr. S. Gelding, who made 31 points to 13 made by Nightingale.

On the St. Leonards green T. Hall defeated A. M'Leod, for Lord Jersey's trophy, by 31 to 25.

To-day a match between Newcastle and Ashfield will be played on the Newcastle green, four rinks representing each.

AQUATICS.

ROYAL SYDNEY YACHT SQUADRON.

A race for all yachts, 5 rating and under, handicapped, is set down for decision this afternoon. The yachts entered are as follows:—Bronzewing, lug (Mr. H. M. Cockshott), rating 2½, scratch, and Bulbul, lug (Mr. F. Woolcott-Waley), rating 2½, 5 minutes. The course will be from a flying start at 2.15 p.m. from a line between the starter's boat and H.M.S. Orlando's buoy, down to and round both buoys at Manly, round Shark Island and Fort Denison, thence round Shark Island, and back to the finish between a flagboat and the southern end of Fort Denison.

PRINCE ALFRED YACHT CLUB.

A committee meeting of the Prince Alfred Yacht Club was held last evening at the club rooms, Hotel Australia, at which Mr. F. S. Adams presided. Various accounts and prizes were passed for payment, and arrangements made for the race which takes place to-day. The date of the monthly meeting, which falls on the 11th April, was altered to the 10th (Wednesday). This will give the yacht owners a chance to discuss their movements during the Easter holidays. The details in connection with to-day's event are as follows:—All yachts under 5 rating, handicapped. The entries are—Bronzewing, lug (Mr. H. M. Cockshott), rating 2½, scratch; Lahloo, cutter (Mr. W. H. Murrell), rating about 4, 16 minutes; and Viva Brandon, lug (Mr. G. S. Brock), rating about 2, 26 minutes. The above is for a leading breeze; should it be a working wind the allowances will be—Bronzewing, scratch; Lahloo, 21 minutes; and Viva Brandon, 33 minutes. The course will be the same as that arranged by the R.S.Y.S., viz., starting at 2.15 p.m.

ISEA V. IOLANTHE.

A race in which some interest is centred is that between the two cutters, whose names appear above. For some time a difference of opinion has existed as to which of the two was the faster. To settle the question if possible, it has been arranged that the skippers, Dr. Milford (Isea), and Mr. W. M. Maclardy (Iolanthe), with their respective crews, should change yachts for to-day, and sail a similar course to the small yachts, for a trophy. The conditions are best and best, and the yachts will be despatched at 2.10 p.m., that is 5 minutes prior to the class race.

EAST SYDNEY ROWING CLUB.

The annual regatta of the East Sydney Rowing Club will be held on the lower harbour this afternoon. There are four club events, together with an open race, double sculls for maidens. The course will be between Clarke Island and the club shed. For flagship the steamer Pheasant has been engaged, and she will leave Cowper Wharf, Woolloomooloo, at 2.15 p.m.

JOHNSTONE'S BAY SAILING CLUB.

The nineteenth race of the season for boats of this club takes place this afternoon. The race is a handicap for boats 14ft. to 18ft. for prizes of £6, £2, and £1. The course is from Goat Island, round Shark Island, boat off Goat Island, Fort Denison and back. The entries and handicaps are—Nereid, scratch, working or leading; Ruby, Stella, and Ariel, ½ minute or scratch; Nada, 1½ minute or 1 minute; Aztec and Cygnet, 2 minutes or 1½ minute; Olinda, 4 minutes or 2 minutes; Our Boys, Violet, and Our Own, 5¼ minutes or 5 minutes; Thistle, 6 minutes or 5 minutes. The steamer Lady Mary is advertised to follow, and will call at the usual wharfs.

THE INTERCOLONIAL CREW.

The following representatives of Sydney rowing clubs have been chosen to represent this colony in the Intercolonial Eight-oar Race to be rowed at Brisbane in May next:—Messrs. T. Cooper (N.S.R.C.), J. F. Evans, A. S. Greenwood (E.S.R.C.), C. H. Kloster, E. Pearson, H. G. Williams (S.R.C.), N. J. M'Donald (M.R.C.), H. G. Bennett (U.R.C.), C. Pearson (emergency).

SYDNEY CANOE CLUB.

This club has set down for decision this afternoon a sailing race open to all canoes and canoe yawls of Port Jackson. The course is from a line between the starter's boat and the southern end of Garden Island, round Shark Island, round Fort Denison, round Clarke Island, and back to Fort Denison. The race will start at 3 o'clock, and the time allowance will be given at the start.

SWIMMING.

The Balmain Swimming Club will hold their Flying Squadron Carnival in the local baths this afternoon, at 3 o'clock. The chief attraction will be the Flying Squadron Team Race, for the title of "premier," the leading clubs being represented by the fastest swimmers of the colony. The programme also caters for other grades of swimmers, and a good afternoon's sport may be looked forward to.

The Enterprise Swimming Club held an inter-club 100 yards handicap at the Natatorium, Pitt-street, last evening. There was a large attendance of spectators, and some excellent racing was witnessed. The following is the result of the contests:—

First heat: H. Smith (Nautilus S. C.), 23 seconds, 1; A. E. Potts (Balmain S. C.), 19 seconds, 2; T. Benns (Balmain S. C.), 14 seconds, 3. Time, 1 minute 16 seconds. The winner was very closely pushed.

Second heat: W. Brees (Bondi S. C.), 17 seconds, 1; L. Lee (Eastern Suburbs S. C.), 8 seconds, 2; W. H. Brown (Eastern Suburbs S. C.), 20 seconds, 3. Time, 1 minute 18 seconds. Won by only a touch, amid much excitement.

Third heat: R. Foley (Bondi S. C.), 16 seconds, 1; W. Jacobs (Aust. Juniors S. C.), 22 seconds, 2; G. Farmer (Eastern Suburbs S. C.), 19 seconds, 3. Time, 1 minute 15 seconds.

Fourth heat: A. Hogg (Aust. Juniors S. C.), swim over. Fifth heat: A. Wilkins (Aust. Juniors S. C.), swim over. Final: H. Smith, 1; R. Foley, 2; A. Hogg, 3. Time, 1 minute 19 5-5 seconds.

The trophy for this race, presented by Messrs. Moloney Brothers, was handed to the winner at the conclusion of the evening's sport.

PIGEON SHOOTING.

The fourth competition for the Summer Cup took place at the New South Wales Gun Club's grounds yesterday, and resulted in a "leg in" for Mr. P. Duflot, who killed 14 birds without a miss. The runner up was Mr. G. R. M'Intosh, who missed his fourteenth bird.

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE.

A parade of "C" and "D" Companies, 1st Infantry Regiment, will be held at Victoria Barracks at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon.

"L" (Cadet) Company will parade at Victoria Barracks this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, for company manual drill, and firing exercises.

A WONDERFUL MEDICINE.
BEECHAM'S PILLS
BEECHAM'S PILLS
BEECHAM'S PILLS
are universally admitted to be worth a Guinea a Box for Bilious and Nervous Disorders, such as Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Sick Headache, Giddiness, Fullness and Swelling after Meals, Dizziness and Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Scurvy and Blotches on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations, &c. The first dose will give relief in 20 minutes. This is no fiction, for they have done it in countless cases. Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try one box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be WORTH A GUINEA A BOX
WORTH A GUINEA A BOX
WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.
For females of all ages they are invaluable. No female should be without them. There is not a medicine to be found equal to them for removing any obstruction or irregularity of the system. If taken according to the directions given with each box they will soon restore females of all ages to sound and robust health. This has been proved by thousands who have tried them and found the benefits which are ensured by their use.
BEECHAM'S PILLS
BEECHAM'S PILLS
BEECHAM'S PILLS.
For a weak stomach, impaired digestion, and all disorders of the liver they act like magic, and a few doses will be found to work wonders on the most important organs in the human machine. They strengthen the whole muscular system, restore the longlost complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite, and arouse into action with the rosebud of health the whole physical energy of the human frame. These are facts testified continually by members of all classes of society, and one of the best guarantees to the nervous and debilitated is, BEECHAM'S PILLS HAVE the LARGEST SALE of any patent medicine in the world.
BEECHAM'S MAGIC COUGH PILLS
BEECHAM'S MAGIC COUGH PILLS
BEECHAM'S MAGIC COUGH PILLS.
As a remedy for Coughs in general, Asthma, Bronchial Affections, Hoarseness, Shortness of Breath, Tightness and Oppression of the Chest, &c., these Pills stand unrivalled. They are the best ever offered to the public, and will speedily remove that sense of oppression and difficulty of breathing which nightly deprive the patient of rest. Let any person give BEECHAM'S COUGH PILLS a trial, and the most violent cough will in a short time be removed.
Prepared only, and sold wholesale and retail, by the proprietor, THOMAS BEECHAM, St. Helens, Lancashire, England, in Boxes, 1s 1½d (containing 56 pills) and 2s 9d (treble quantity).
Sold by all Druggists and Patent Medicine Dealers everywhere.
N.B.—Full directions are given with each box.

INFRINGEMENT of the HANSA CIGAR TRADE MARK.

The Public and the Retail Trade are cautioned against purchasing imitations of that well-known and favourite Cigar, THE HANSA.

Already a large number of CONVICTIONS have been obtained, and more prosecutions are to follow.

As ignorance of the law is no plea, it is to the interest of RETAIL TRADERS to be very circumspect from whom they purchase what may purport to be the "Hansa Cigar."

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
The only scientifically prepared Extract of the Fresh and Healthy Livers of the true Codfish, "Gadus Morrhua." Free from Hydroxyls, and consequently from "Aftertaste" and "Repeating," or any other possible objection.

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
(BY PATENTED PROCESS.)
Peter Möller's Cod Liver Oil is obtaining more favour with the public and increased reputation amongst the Medical Profession day by day.

(BY PATENTED PROCESS.)
In the years 1851-1853 considerable attention was called to Cod Liver Oil, but its use was restricted in consequence of the crude method of its production, which gave a turbid, brownish, uncanny preparation, nauseous to the palate and sometimes impossible of digestion.

(BY PATENTED PROCESS.)
Since then the introduction by Peter Möller of a new application of steam, conducted under his own personal supervision, has secured the utmost cleanliness in every detail of the manufacture, and the public have been able to obtain a pure, sweet, reliable and digestible Oil when they insisted upon having Möller's—well, if they did not insist that was not Möller's fault.

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
(BY PATENTED PROCESS.)
In forty years Möller made many improvements. All the so-called substitutes were carefully examined and analysed—emulsions and mixtures, tinctures and essences—the base of which were everything nearly except Cod Liver Oil, and in the majority of cases no more expensive article than water (Aqua Pura).

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
(BY PATENTED PROCESS.)
With these investigations it became more and more evident to Dr. Möller, who continued the researches of his father, that the "Active principle of Cod Liver Oil is the Oil itself," and not as some chemists have supposed in the "remaining five per cent." after the separation of the ninety-five per cent. of fat and fat-acids (so-called).

MÖLLER'S COD LIVER OIL.
(BY PATENTED PROCESS.)
Impressed also with the fact that, excellent as his Oil was, there yet remained something to be accomplished before perfection could be claimed; in fact, no Oil had ever been made which presented the extremely delicate and pleasant flavour of the Oil as it is found in the freshly-boiled livers, therefore—

(BY PATENTED PROCESS.)
Important laboratory extensions were added, with every modern appliance for chemical investigation, and the exhaustive experiments of some 10 years being prosecuted with renewed vigour, finally obtained reward in full measure. The practical outcome is an entirely new process, producing a totally different Cod Liver Oil, lighter in colour, more limpid, wholly free from the taste, the "after taste," and the odour of even the better kinds of Oil, and SUITED TO THE MOST DELICATE STOMACH.

(BY PATENTED PROCESS.)
This Oil is now in every good Chemist's Shop, and although considerable outlay has been incurred in chemical research, and in obtaining patents, the prices have not been advanced. All bottles are capsuled, and bear the trade mark and perforated date as formerly. In case of difficulty or dissatisfaction, write to PETER MÖLLER, 43 Snow-hill, London, E.C.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—Times, July 13, 1864.

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—Medical Times, January 12, 1866.

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is a certain cure for cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colic, &c.

ARTISTIC.—A flutter is occurring in photo circles. The ladies of Sydney, although disliking to patronise anything cheap (as cheap goods are generally dear at any price), have rushed in crowds to the EDEN PHOTO STUDIOS, as their keen observance has shown them that EDEN is the first tip-top Photographer that has offered 6 Enamelled Cabinets and a large Opal without any extras for 6s 6d, while there can be no question as to the quality of the work, as it is well known that EDEN pays the best of salaries and keeps the Pick of Artists. EDEN does not attempt to charge more than he advertises by putting on a number of extra charges for Enamelling, &c. Although many who advertise cheap prices imagine they are patronising the customer by giving them some great bargain, EDEN never forgets that the customer is the patron. Every possible attention is paid to the tastes of each sitter, and the arrangements of the whole establishment are in accord with modern cultured requirements, while the Cabinets are put on mounts displaying exquisite artistic taste, and not on gaudy scalloped gilt-edged ones, such as usually brand the portrait of a cheap studio. There is no hurry, as EDEN does not intend to raise his prices in a month, and is still charging only 6s 6d for Six Beautifully Enamelled Cabinets and a lovely large Opal.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—At PEEL'S, the recognised Photographer of Sydney, you can get 6 Enamelled Cabinets and a 12 x 10 Opal for 5s 6d. No extras of any kind. Have you seen the lovely Frames in our window?—and how cheap! PEEL'S STUDIOS (over Beale's), 482 George-street.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—The Ladies of Sydney should take note of the fact that all Opals from the Eden Studios, opposite railway, are carefully finished by an artist. This is important, as some photographers turn them out without this work. An opal without the artist's work is always misty about the eyes. Eden could very well do such opals for 1s 6d less, but he values his good name too much to turn out such unfinished work.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—For one month only we will supply 6 of our superior High-art Cabinets and an enlargement on Opal, size 12 x 10, for 6s 6d. Children or Adults, any style or pose, the same price, only 6s 6d.
NOTE.—The Cabinets and Enlargement will be finished in our usual first-class style, and no pains will be spared to maintain our good reputation, and to give entire satisfaction to our customers.
CHOICE OF MOUNTS.—There is a Tinted Mount, printed in a white composition. This is the commonest Mount used in photography, and cost 18s per 1000. But we have a beautiful gilt bevelled-edge Mount, which cost 48s per 1000. Then there is our superior gilt bevelled and scalloped edge Mounts, which cost 75s per 1000. This is the best card it is possible to buy. We give our customers a choice of these and many others without extra charge. The CROWN STUDIOS. Note.—The address is, next to Kidman's, one door from Market-street, in George-street.

HOSPITAL SATURDAY.

To-day, as a people, we take part in the ceremony of national almsgiving. To-day purse-strings will be loosened which have been drawn tight all the year round through stress of sheer necessity. From dawn to midnight the public highways and byways will be taken possession of by a

BAND OF NOBLE WOMEN,

in the sacred cause of charity, and under the influence of their sunny smiles even the skinflintiest old miser will thaw and yield his quota. The great city, which throughout the rest of the year is given up to men swarming over each other in the mad chase after wealth, will to-day be dominated by womanhood from the

to the staid matron of, let us say, 40. To-day woman realises her noblest mission—the mission to pour wine and oil into the wounds of stricken humanity. There is no passing on the other side to-day, like the Levite of old, for you will find her on both sides of the way, with her coaxing smile and her unappeasable little wooden box. And who would seek to avoid her? When we think of many a fine fellow in hospital beds, lying racked with pain, who should be abroad in the glorious sunshine "with his young barbarians all at play," or of the poor creatures of women and curly-headed little mites tossing on sick beds, shall we endeavour to shun our sisters of the red cross? Shall we not rather court their attention so as to make their mission a success? We feel confident that even the splendid result of last year's campaign will be surpassed, and that a considerable contribution will come from the corner at Notices of BIRTHS and DEATHS cannot be inserted in this journal unless endorsed with the name and address of the persons by whom they are sent.

Notices of MARRIAGES cannot be inserted unless certified as correct by the officiating Minister or Registrar.

This rule is rendered necessary in consequence of false and malicious notices having been sent for publication for the purpose of annoying respectable persons.

IN MEMORIAM advertisements and RETURN THANKS, 3s each insertion.

The Pillar Box at Redfern Railway Station for receipt of advertisements and communications is cleared every evening at 10.30.
